News and Information for the Busy Farmer

Ontario Department of Agriculture

Typical of vast work of investigation now in progress at the Ontario Agricultural College is the study of parasites in hogs and of vitality in winter-born hogs, under the direction of Prof. Knox of the Department of Animal Husbandry. The ultimate solution of these problems will prove of direct value to every farmer.

Count The Cost
Farm profits are small. They are limited by the selling price of products and, perhaps to a greater extent, by the cost of production. The selling price may be influenced by organizations but each farmer controls his production costs. It is much better to feed and milk five cows which each give a profit than ten which pay costs only. To raise crops cheaply there must be a high yield.

The cost for the farm, per acre, or per cow does not tell much. Comparison should be on a ton, bushel or pound basis.

Curbing Cannibalism

Prof. W. R. Graham, head of the Poultry Department of O. A. C., has a good suggestion for curbing the frequent outbreaks of feather-pecking and cannibalism when pullets are first put in confinement. Such an outbreak occurred at the college plant this fall. A quantity of raw blood was obtained from the slaughterhouse and given the pullets as a drink. In fifteen minutes the appetite had so abated that it was safe to put back in the pen the pullets that had been previously attacked. One gallon of blood was given to each 100 pullets. There has not been a renewal of the trouble.

Wintering Bees

Experience has shown that it is better to winter bees outdoors than in the cellar unless you have an exceptionally suitable cellar," says F. Eric Miller, Provincial Apiculturist. "Eighty per cent of the honey bees in Ontario are wintered in various wintering cases outdoors. In Old Ontario almost every beekeeper winters outside, but in Northern Ontario cellars are used extensively. For successful cellar wintering, the cellar must be absolutely dark, dry and kept at an even temperature of about 15 degrees. Poorly insulated and unadvised cellars make poor winter storage for bees. Wintering bees outdoors means more expense, but unless one has an ideal cellar, this method is recommended. Bees can be packed any time in October or early November, and no attention until spring if properly prepared for winter. Outdoor wintered bees must be kept in waterproof winter cases."

An Important Ruling

Hereafter persons coming to Canada to buy cattle for export will be permitted to use their motor cars or U. S. manufacture for that purpose without the payment of duty, bond or deposit. This regulation will facilitate the movement of cattle buyers from outside Canada, immensely as formerly they were obliged to leave their cars at the port of entry and engage means of transportation in travelling from point to point in Canada. The importance of this international trade in cattle is shown by the fact that since the first of the year approximately 350 purebred Holstein cattle have been exported to the United States.

Prizes At Increased

The exhibit of draught horses, which has always been a feature of the Guelph Winter Fair, should be increasingly interesting at the coming show, December 9 to 12. Over $1500 is being offered in prize money and an additional section has been added to the prize list by which $100 is being offered for yearling geldings. Previously no classification was provided for animals of this age. With the exception of the yearling gelding class, ten prizes are offered in each of seven sections, with $210 being the total prize money in each section. In the yearling gelding class the first prize is $10, with each subsequent prize $5 less.

Shrinkage of Potatoes

Experiments conducted by the Division of Botany, Dominion Department of Agriculture, show that shrinkage of potatoes while in storage can be greatly lessened if correct storage practices are followed. All tubers placed in storage should be mature, healthy and as free from moisture on their surfaces, dirt and mechanical injury as possible. The storage of even a small percentage of diseased or field frosty potatoes endangers all the healthy stock. It is, however, practically impossible to keep large quantities in good condition for prolonged periods unless the proper type of storage house is used.

For this purpose Pamphlet No. 10, issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, explains the requirements of the perfect type of storage house. It clearly explains the proper methods to follow in order to secure the best prices for your potato crop and may be obtained from the department.

Weekly Crop Report

A splendid season is reported by the farmers of Ontario, according to the recent weekly crop report. Farmers in Durham County report increased egg production and splendid markets for eggs, which are selling locally at 55¢ for extras and 48¢ for firsts. Essex County tobacco has practically all been bought, and although prices are no higher than last year, the average is considerably higher. Wheat is looking well in Huron, although drought has decreased the fall output considerably. There has been considerable demand in the County of Haliburton for cattle.

American buyers have been quite active, paying as high as $500 for some type of Holsteins. Middlesex County has been less fortunate, owing to drought, and large numbers of live stock are still in pasture. Sheep are reported to be in good condition.

Temiskaming sheepmen being of the opinion that flocks were never in better condition than they are this fall.

Yield of Seed Crop

A larger than usual acreage of red clover has been cut foul in Ontario, the yield per acre varying from 120 to 300 pounds. It is believed that there may be from three to four million pounds of seed, which will constitute the largest red clover seed crop in Old Ontario for many years.

Alaske acreage in Old Ontario was estimated 20 per cent. larger than in 1928 and yields per acre have varied from 60 to 500 pounds, low yields being general in the southern and lake counties and high yields in the clay country between Toronto and Georgian Bay. In Northern Ontario, Temiskaming District, the total production of alaske is not expected to exceed 10,000 bushels, about half as much as last year.

Alfalfa seed production in Ontario was again light in 1928. The acreage set for seed is not believed to have exceeded 10,000, which may yield from 60 to 120 pounds per acre, about the same as in 1928. An abundance of sweet clover for seedling purposes is expected to be available next spring. Timothy seed production in Ontario is reported as normal, a large proportion coming from the Navan district of Russell County. Production of blue grass in Southwestern Ontario is estimated at 50 per cent. of normal. The seed is reported to be particularly heavy per bushel this year.

Experience has shown that it is better to winter bees outdoors than in the cellar unless you have an exceptionally suitable cellar," says F. Eric Miller, Provincial Apiculturist. "Eighty per cent of the honey bees in Ontario are wintered in various wintering cases outdoors. ## Miss McAuley's Organ Recital

The Barrie Examiner of Nov. 14th has this to say regarding a former resident of Markdale, Miss Maydele McAuley:

St. Andrew's Church was well filled on Tuesday, Nov. 5, when Miss Maydele McAuley, A. T. C. pupil of Edmund Hardy, gave her graduation recital. Last summer Miss McAuley completed the requirements for the degree of Associate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music after having studied organ-playing and the theory of music with Mr. Hardy for several years, and she succeeded in demonstrating her ability by performing a programme of very exacting pieces on this present occasion.

The prelude and fugue in D. major of Bach, which served as an opening number, was handled with excellent command of the contrapuntal style. At her second appearance Miss McAuley played what was probably the most enjoyed part of her programme, a group of short pieces of varied styles, including "Evening Prayer" by Smart, "Melodie in F" of Rubinstein (arranged for Double Touch), "Alpine Dance" by Lemare, and the "Meditation" by Sturges. These were given with delightful registration.

and most pleasing effect. Mendelssohn's Sonata, a work of noble proportions, formed the recitalists third number, and she managed it with great competency. The final number, the "Bridal Music" and "Prelude to the 3rd act" of Wagner's great musical drama "Lohengrin", was ably managed, the use of the harp in the opening movement being particularly effective.

Mrs. Edmund Hardy and Emory Hill were the assisting soloists, and they respectively sang "O Lord, Correct Me" and "Waft Her Angels from the Skies," both by Handel. These numbers were very much enjoyed, as also was the vocal duet "Rock of Ages" in which their contralto and tenor voices blended with fine effect.

The organ console was surrounded with prettily arranged flowers and ferns. Miss McAuley's numbers were very warmly received, and she was made the recipient of a large number of bouquets and baskets of flowers. Mr. Hardy must be heartily congratulated upon the well-merited success of his pupil.
