DO FARMERS NEED PROTECTION?

Do the turners of the Dominion of Canada, and more especfally Eastern Canada, need protection from the inroads on their business by the majortation of foodstuffs from those countries where the coat of production is lower and where the standard of avent as not to be compared with that enjoyed bythe Canadian agraculturist? Can they successfully compete under chese conditions, with the assurance they are receiving a fan identu for the labor dependefi?

This is the main issue of the present federal election campaign as it enfects the farmers of South-East Grey. It will be the sarmers who will decide this question at the polls on the 28th of this month. To them, it will appeal as a matter of busi less; idle sentiment saduld not and will not count. Farmers. the other business men, are in business in order that they may make a Lying for themselves and their families during the productive years of their lives, and also to lay by a sufficient amount of this world's goods to assure them a decent existence in their declining years. This is about the best the aver ge farmer and business man can hope for.

As the standard-bearer of the Liberal-Conservative party in the present campaign, I promise, if elected, to do everything in my power to improve the business conditions of this country as it effects the farming community; and by so doing increase the prosperity of the country as a whole. Behind me in this piedge, stands the political party I represent, whose platform appeared in this column last week;

Yours sincerely,
