At the appointed hour, the winsome bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the prettily decorated parlour to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Clara Jack, and joined the waiting bridegroom. The bride carried a beautiful bouquet of sweetheart-roses, carnations and baby's breath. Rev. W. C. Almack deftly tied the nuptial knot in the presence of nearly fifty invited guests who feelingly expressed their good wishes and congratulations. The bride looked lovely in her bridal gown of delicate pink georgette.

A sumptuous feast followed in the large dining room which was tastily decorated with bridal bell and white streamers. The table was laden with choicest edibles and was graced by a beauty of a four-storey wedding cake.

The bride is one of Glenelg's fairest daughters, is a real home-maker, has been Zion's organist for several years and a leader in church and in Sunday School work. The proud, young hubby is a splendid fellow, a tidy, aspiring young farmer and the young couple begin the new life under very bright prospects. They were the recipients of a host of handsome and costly presents. The groom's gifts to bride and organist, were beautiful pendants. The newlyweds left by motor for a week's honeymoon to Wassaga and eastern points, amid showers of rice and confetti.

Among the guests from outside points were Misses Isabel and Marjorie of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson of Wassaga, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee of Egremont.

Bringing the family Home

Tonight is the family re-union. It has been a weekly event ever since the young folk scattered to various towns, each to make his or her own way in the world.

It started when Dick left to work in a neighboring city. Dick was full of enthusiasm, but apt to be just a little bit wild. So Dad started the habit of calling him once a week just to keep him under the parental influence.

Then Helen was married and moved away, and mother must needs make weekly voice visits with her.

And now Betty has taken a position in another town. Her voice comes home each week too.

Dad and mother gather all the news and pass it on to the others. It keeps the family together—and at the cost of the three evening calls is less than a dollar.

Evening rates on "Anyone" (station-to-station) calls begin at 7 p.m. (local time). Just give "Long Distance" the number you want—it speeds up the service. If you don't know the distant number, "Information" will look it up for you.
