Horses drowned in Hydro Lake
On Tuesday of last week, while Mr. Leslie Chard of the 4th line was crossing the Hydro Lake to the 12th line he had the misfortune to have his fine team of heavy horses drowned. The ice on the lake in places is from 8 to 14 inches thick while in others it is very shallow. On account of the light winter we are enjoying some places on the lake have been open nearly all winter. The ice seemed to be alright, even when Leslie got beyond the island where the open places had been, it apparently seemed to be solid, when the horses plunged head first into the icy waters of the lake and were soon drowned. Mr. Bert Magee who was moving his building on the island was coming to his rescue when his horses also went down but with aid he managed to save them. With help, Mr. Chard got his dead horses pulled up and so saved the harness and the sleighs were also saved. His team weighed about 2800 pounds. We sympathize with Mr. Chard in his loss.

One Way Out

Toronto evening newspapers carried twenty-three solid pages of advertising from two department stores one day recently. One store used seven pages of each paper; the other used sixteen in each of the two papers. The volume of the advertising nor the crowds in the stores suggested depression although some of the prices did. What net profit was made on the enormous business turnover enjoyed following this mass advertising attack is a business secret. But both stores have a well earned reputation not only for good merchandising methods but for business judgment and it may be assumed that they have not gone in for such extensive advertising simply to put the newsprint industry on its feet, nor even to support the hospital that is the chief beneficiary of one of the newspapers. Capable department store executives find that depression makes more and not less advertising desirable. Advertising is only one arm of merchandising, and does not, in itself constitute salesmanship. But it is an important arm and firms that allow the arm to wither in times like this will find themselves handicapped in the race for business when prosperity comes.—Financial Post.

Overnight Bedroom Sleeping Cars Popular

Please reserve bedroom on Canadian Pacific 11.59 p.m. train for Toronto, is a common call nowadays into the railway offices by the travelling public. The company reports a very heavy demand of late for this type of accommodation and this has necessitated operation of bedroom sleeping cars on the runs between Montreal and Quebec, Montreal and Toronto, Ottawa and Toronto, Toronto and Detroit, and Montreal and Detroit.
Privacy, comfort and the latest word in convenience and luxury are keywords of this latest development in overnight travel by Canadian Pacific as expressed in these single and double bedroom cars on overhead bed may be opened from the wall, if desired, affording additional facilities. They provide all the luxurious appointments of individual private rooms with a real bed that assures deep and refreshing sleep. Each room has toilet, lavatory, electric fan, overhead ventilator with exhaust fan, reading lamp and other conveniences, the whole being decorated in restful colors. In the double bedroom cars an overhead bed may be opened from the wall, if desired, affording additional facilities. Some further features of the sleeping cars may be enumerated, which make the hours of sleep so refreshingly delightful. Temperatures are controlled thermostatically throughout the train; roller bearings assure smoothness of motion; coil spring mattresses invite restful slumber; heavily padded carpeting harmonizes with interior arrangements, creating a general soothing effect. Berths are wide and long and unusually roomy. The service is rendered to travellers as a masterpiece of transportation luxury and comfort. It is the realization of all those refinements of art and efficiency of which travel equipment designers long have dreamed. From the inception of this new service it has won increasing favor among travellers who distinguish between good average service and perfection in travel. The word "moderne" has its fullest and most inclusive expression in these cars.
In the women's dressing rooms attached to the sleeping cars there is real comfort and satisfaction. The most fastidious woman will find facilities such as the would expect to see in a first-class hotel. Mirrored dressing tables and other toilet accessories provide maximum accommodation without overcrowding. Here are vanity chairs conveniently placed, ample artificial and natural lights in softly colored shades, spotlessly white lavatories with hot and cold running water, specially dispensed soap and a never-ending supply of clean linen. This affords the requisite pendant to refreshing sleep—perfect toilette.
The men are treated in like fashion. They too have commodious dressing rooms where they can forget their cares for the purpose of making their toilets but also for an enjoyable smoke before retiring or after they have slept. Their rooms are perfectly lighted, well ventilated, amply supplied with lavatories of newest design and in decorations harmonizes with the general finish and furnishings.
