An effort is being made to reduce railway companies in the United States in an endeavour to reduce cessful Canadian railways will follow the example.

The work of the Imperial Confer ence is about completed and it looks as though the results will benefit all parts of the Empire. Wheat, copper and lumber are three Canadian products on which Britain will give preference.

Jim Kennedy, a maimed soldier, was notified several months ago of his appointment as postmaster at Shelburne but up to date he has not been permitted to take charge of the office. The veterans' are now trying to find out why their comrade has been thus dealt with.

Allan Bell, Reeve of Durham and Warden of Grey County, believes that the Sabbath should be observed as a day of worship and last week was the only member of the Duham Council to oppose the reques of Chesley band for permission to give a program there on Sunday evening. Mr. Bell took the stand that there were six other evenings in the week on which people could be entertained by the band without interfering win the services of the churches. If we had more men with the convictions of Warden Bell Sunday would be better observed as a holy day. This is one Bell that rings

This implies that no delegation will secure all it wished, and that most of them will concede more than was anticipated, or, at least, than was originally offered. Thus the negotiations have led to a balancing of extremes, which manifestly will be preferable from a business standpoint to one-sided arrangements, and is likely to be more enduring chieved. The Empire countries need and provide a more solid foundation for future expansion.

As has been obvious, John Bull's position made him the central figure. He has had to bargain with each Dominion .without forgetting that several of them were asking the same concessions from him. He has had to weigh their demands separately and collectively. In one re spect this has given him an advantage, for it is not considered unethical in bargaining to pit one seller against another. Nevertheless it a family conference, with a wish to improve the positions of all.

It is clear, however, that tariff agreements could not operate smoothly when the Government of one country reserved the right to make changes overnight.

Mr. Baldwin brought up the point in each of his formal statements made public. sought. The United Kingdom negotiations with India and New Zealand are said to be well and happily advanced. New Zealand's position is simple, as imports do not conflict with secondary industries as in Canada and Australia. New Zealaind was more concerned with measures to restore values for primary products, and in this respect will have to be contented with the indirect gains from trade expansion. The Indian delegation is said to be pleased with what has been accomplished, but whatever is done requires authority from the home Government and for this reason affairs are not terminated. It is reported that the queston of tariffs on lamb and mutton will be one of the matters to be re ferred to the committee which is likely to take up unfinished business at the end of the Conference. Aus tralia, it is said, has asked a larger duty than Britain is inclined to give, the latter offering a smaller figure combined with a quota. Britain's delayed because of differences of opinion on details, but the general agreement with Australia has been result is expected to be satisfactory

There will be satisfaction with the decision to proceed definitely with the matter of grading and standardizing in agricultural and industrial products, and with the prospect of a committee to clean up leftafter a series of compromises on a over matters by making recommenliberal scale, with prospects for dations to the respective Governments, the latter being conditional
