Boyd - Idle

Flowers from the August garden made more beautiful the interior of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Thornbury, on Tuesday, August 30, when Jean Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Idle, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. William Ewart Boyd, son of Mrs. H. Knott of Markdale, and the late Edwin Boyd, Rev. F. Orsborn, minister of the Church, officiating. Mrs. Lyness Myles presided at the organ, playing softly throughout the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of white crepe satin. Her veil was embroidered tulle and was in Juliet cap shape, caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies-of-the-valley, and was attended by Miss Marion Boyd, sister of the groom, as maid of honor. The latter was dressed in a frock of brown chiffon velvet, with a hat of velvet to match, and also carried a bouquet, one of opheelia roses. The best man was Mr. Herbert Boyd, with ushers being Messrs Kenneth White and Gordon Hamilton. During the signing of the register, Miss Elaine Palmer, a former valued member of St. Paul's choir, sang "Because".

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, when the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of black lace and velvet with a hat of black velvet. She wore a corsage bouquet of tea roses. The groom's mother also received, wearing a gown of grey chiffon, with a hat of grey silk, and also carrying roses. Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and other points. For travelling, the bride wore a blue silk suit with a hat of blue velvet. On their return, they will reside near Thornbury.

Both bride and groom are well and favorably known. The bride was for 14 years the capable organist of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and active in church organizations. The groom, who is a past-master of Beaver Lodge A.F. & A.M., is a progressive farmer in the Heathcote district. The crowded church auditorium testified to the esteem of and interest taken in the young couple at their nuptials.—Thornbury Review-Herald.

Cooper - Abercrombie

A unique wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Abercrombie, 11th line, Euphrasia, on Labour Day, when their eldest daughter, Eisle Lillian, became the bride of Ernest Edward, eldest son of Mrs. W. E. and the late Mr. Cooper of Cooper's Falls, Ont. Rev. J. S. Veals of Port Carling officiated and Mrs. Veals played the wedding march. The grooms gift to the bride was a lovely brooch and to the organist a beautiful silver tray. The contracting parties were unattended and only the immediate relatives were present.

A dainty luncheon was served, much to the credit of the bride's sister, Nettie.

The happy young couple left the same evening for a motor and camping trip extending to Moosonee. We extend our heartiest congratulations and good wishes to this popular young couple in their married career.

McCaughey - Fothergill

A very pretty wedding took place in Holland Centre on Thursday, September 1st, at the home of Rev. W. G. Wakefield, the officiating minister, when Mrs. Gladys Fothergill and Mr. Merle McCaughey were united in marriage.

The bride's dress was of peach georgette and shadow lace, her only ornament a gold chain with pendant, the gift of the groom. Her going away dress was of deep blue celanese crepe with handsome design of grey applique, with coat and hat to match.

Mrs. I. Barzagli, sister of the groom, Mrs. Cochran McCaughey and Mrs. W. McCaughey were present, the two former signing the register.

The bridal couple motored to Toronto where the honeymoon will be spent.

Kendal Lucas Drowned

After Saving the Life of His Three-Year-Old Daughter

Ken Lucas, elder son, of Hon. I. B. Lucas and the late Mrs. Lucas, lost his life at Point au Baril on Monday, when he jumped into the water to save his little daughter, who had fallen from the launch in which the family were travelling. Particulars of the accident are given in the following Mail and Empire despatch:

Point au Baril, Sept. 5th—Saving his three-year-old child at the cost of his own life, George Kendall Lucas, of Toronto, son of I. B. Lucas, former attorney-general of Ontario, drowned in Georgian Bay this afternoon just as rescuers lifted the child from his arms. He went under only once.

A member of the Toronto law firm of Bain, Bicknell, White and Bristol, Mr. Lucas, a 35-year-old war veteran, was spending a vacation at Point au Baril with his wife and three children. He was to have returned with his family to Toronto on Monday.

Early in the afternoon Mr. Lucas and his wife and children went out on the lake in a launch. When out some distance Betty Jane, his three-year-old daughter, overbalanced and slipped into the water. Jumping to his feet, the father, who was a strong swimmer, plunged over the side and grasped the girl just as she was going under.

The screams of Mrs. Lucas reached a boat some distance away, and it at once made toward the scene. The water was choppy and father and child at times were hidden by the waves. The rescue boat covered the intervening distance in a few minutes, and Betty Jane was pulled from her father's grasp.

Just what happened after that is not definitely known, but when the rescuers turned to pull Mr. Lucas from the water he had vanished from sight.

Dragging operations have so far failed to recover the body.

Mr. Lucas was born at Markdale, in Grey County, and was in the air force during the war. He was well known in Toronto, particularly in legal circles. Surviving are his widow, four children, his father and one brother.

The body was recovered on Tuesday and was taken to Toronto.

In Tuesday night's Star further particulars are given of the drowning:—"It was from T. U. Fairlie of the Ontario Hydro-Electric, who was in Point au Baril yesterday, that Hon. I. B. Lucas first learned how his son was drowned, and that if it had not been for A. H. Richardson, owner of a boat livery there, the little girl would have suffered the same fate as her father. It happened in what is known as Brignall's Narrows, not more than 100 yards from shore. That's why I can't understand it," Mr. Fairlie told the Star.

Mr. Lucas, with his wife, his boy, Brock, and the little girl, were going over to the station. They were going through the narrows, Mrs. Lucas told me, when the little girl fell overboard. Her father was tending the tiller, but as soon as he saw her go, he dived in after her. The engine was still going, so the boat shot on its course, and was a hundred yards away in no time, with Mrs. Lucas screaming, and trying to stop it. Just then Richardson came along. He heard Mrs. Lucas scream, and thought her boat was on fire. It wasn't until he had grabbed his fire extinguisher, and was about to turn it on the craft, that she was able to make him understand that someone was overboard. She pointed behind her so I made for the spot," he told me. About a hundred yards away, I could see something floating, and then, as I drew near, it disappeared. Just as I passed the spot I could see the child's head, about two feet below the surface. I grabbed her by the hair and pulled her in. According to Mr. Richardson, the child was unconscious. It was not until he had got back to the boat, where Mrs. Lucas was sobbing, that he found out her husband was in too. He rushed back, but could find no trace of him. Mrs. Lucas told Mr. Fairlie, that her husband reached the little girl, and had started swimming with her when suddenly both disappeared.

The funeral will take place to Markdale Cemetery on Thursday afternoon. The funeral service will be conducted in Christ Church at 2 p.m. Markdale people, who knew Ken in his childhood, are sorrowing with the members of his family in their sad bereavement.

Piano Classes in School

We are pleased to announce that class instruction in piano will be given this fall in Markdale Public School under the rules and regulations stipulated by the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music. Under this system children will be taught in classes of six or eight and will receive one hour week instruction after four o'clock.

Each lesson is balanced and contains so many minutes of ear training, theory, hand technique and musical interpretation of pieces. Technique and hand position is studied at seats on paper keyboards, pupils playing in turn at piano. Games are played to teach the principles of theory and to train the ear. The principles of orchestra conducting and a sense of rhythm is taught by giving each one a part in a rhythm band. Rivalry and competition are keen and variety is the keynote of the piano class.

Pupils are allowed to take this course for two years only but in this time they will be prepared for the Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations.

Miss Madge Lucas has completed the course in piano class instruction, and will now take charge of the classes in the Markdale school under the direction of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music. Parents are asked to accompany their children on registration day.
