

Wodehouse

The anniversary services in New England Church on Sunday last were quite a success both fancially and otherwise. The day was fine and the large crowd present at the morning service enjoyed the splendid sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. Scott of Meaford. In the evening Rev. Peters of Meaford occupied the pulpit and preached a fine sermon to a good sized audience. The musical part of the services was supplied by the choir of the church and was pleasing to the large congregations judging from comments heard from a number who were present.

Mr. Stoddart and son Bill and daughter Eva spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fawcett and attended church here. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Cornfield and daughters Violet and Blanch were at church and spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. E. Wilcox.
