WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE,

The Late Mr. Joseph Hawkens

This community was quite sorrow ful to hear of the sudden passir away of one of our respected citizens, Mr. Joseph Hawkens, sr., on Thursday. About 20 years ago Mr. Hawkens was seized by a paralytic stroke and ever since has been some in his 73rd year.

He was born on the old Hawken omestead on the Sth Line, being the third child of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hawkens. For a numper of years he resided with his sister, Mrs. Sherwood, and her husband. After Mrs. Sherwood's death about five years ago he still lived on with Mr. Sherwood and there his

June 3rd, he took a walk up Inker-man St. toward his lots. He seldom missed this daily walk. On his return he felt fatigued but did not complain much. On Tuesday the loctor was summoned. Mr. Hawkens was in a very weakened condition, pneumonia set in and he passed acefully away about 5 o'clock on Thursday evening, June Sth. The deceased in his younger days as quite an ambitious farmer and had accumulated much money which was a great help to him in the days when he was handicapped that he could not work. He was of a kind disposition and gentle nature. He was a cheerful giver; this the Lord loves. As he went about on his daily walks he conversed with many, thus passing in the time. He liked little children, always having pleasant words with them. We will surely funeral, under the direction of Mr. . J. Bennett of Flesherton, was held on Saturday afternoon. The remains were taken to the United church where the funeral service Gospel Workers' church, Markdale, owing to the absence of our pastor. ing conference. Rev. Mills read as Scripture reading Revelations 22: 1-12 and took as his texts Hebrews 9:27 and I Thessalonians 5:8, and delivered a very impressive sermon concluding with references to the haracter of the deceased and exriends. The nymus that were sung vere: "What a friend we have in Jesus", "Rock of Ages" and "Asleep in Jesus". As the people filed by the lovely steel-grey coffin in which the deceased rested, the choir sang, 'Saved by Grace." Interment took place in the family plot at Salem cemetery. The pallbears were Messrs. Len Latimer, John Williams, Thos. McKee, Thos. and Levi Betts and Richard Park. The floral tributes were beautiful and included: Spray, Mrs. Doupe and family; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Sam. Hawkens and family; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hawkens and family spray, Mr. Jos. Sherwood; spray Mr. D. McDonald and family; spray Mr. and Mrs. J. Porteous and family; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Quesnel; reath, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Martin and family.

Friends from a distance at the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Middle-ton, Mr. McCarl, Mrs. Patterson and son, Alex., of Orillia; Mrs. McArthur and son, Victor, of Ravenna; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Quesnel of Owen Sound; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Pedlar of Singhampton; Mr. Thos. Hawkens and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Morwood ind daughter of Kimberley.

Those left in sad bereavement are ne sister, Mrs. Susan Doupe, Saueen Junction, and three brothers, Sam near Feversham, Thos., Kim berley, and Will, Eugenia. To them ve extend our sincere sympathy.

"In pastures green He'll lead his flock

Where living streams appear; And God, the Lord, from every eye Shall wipe off every tear. We cannot tell who next may fall Beneath God's chastening rod; One must be first, but let us all Prepare to meet our God."

issue to a yoke of oxen we had for sale forty years ago recalled to memory some amusing incidents we of Toronto spent the week-end with experienced with them. They had Mr. and Mrs. James Crowther. Mrs. said that he was leading a good life ever it was decided by the majority the trick of turning the yoke. One Legard, sr., returned home with day in turning out a fairly big stone with the chain they made one or two feeble pulls, then, quick as a flash, lowered their heads and reversed days after this though, a 'cat' of the yoke. Exasperated beyond patsome kind was killed and it is be- lence we went at their heads with the 'blacksnake.' lynx. It measured four feet from fast and heavy and in less than five minutes they whisked the yoke back to its right shape and themselves to proper places. They never attempted to 'turn the voke' afterwards. A lot of water has flowed down the Rocky Saugeen during those forty years and many have been transfer red to the Better Home.

This vicinity regrets very much the "passing on" of Mr. Fred Kleist, our former mail courier. Always obliging, faithful to his duties cheery under adverse weather, h won our esteem and respect. Th sympathy of all is extended to the members of the family.
