"Jess" that old faithful horse owned for mingy years by the late John Martin and since his death by his son, Charles, of this village, passed away Friday night. She was in her 38th or 39th year. She had never been sick and had worked up until a couple of years ago. The past few months she had gradually been growing thinner. On Thursday she lay down and did not eat much and, as we might say, "just passed quietly away." On Saturday afternoon she was buried on the premises. Two weeks previous her faithful friend, "Buster," the collide dog passed away somewhat similarily. He ate his supper Thursday night and dled Friday morning. He was 16 years old.
