Dear Odessa and Cecil: After hearing of your recent nuptials, we, your friends of Cherry Grove, decided to spend an evening with you.

First of all, we congratulate you most heartily and wish you all possible joy and happiness in your matrimonial career.

You, Odessa, shall be missed as you give willingly of your time and talents in all community functions.

But what will be our loss will be the gain of the locality in which you make your future home.

Cecil, though more a stranger to us, we have enjoyed your acquaintance and hope that we may become greater friends.

As a slight remembrance we ask you to accept this shower of gifts and trust that they may bring showers of blessing to you.

Signed on behalf of your friends: Elva Smart, Mary S. Bell.

The gifts were then unwrapped by Miss Marie Harvey and the verses read by Miss Elva Smart, after which the bride and groom replied in a few well-chosen words, thanking all for the gifts.

All joined in a hearty clasp of the hands and sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Lunch was then served.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

Behind the imposing figures which mark the annual reports of our great life insurance companies lie significant facts which may escape the notice of the casual reader.

There are other features in the report well worthy of note, among them the huge sum of two and three-quarter billions of dollars of assurance now in force and which will be payable to the insured in this generation. The increase in assets

A good illustration of this is revealed in the sixty-third report of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada printed on another page.

There is an organization that has paid out $100,000,000 in benefits of various kinds to its policyholders and their dependents. Thousands received such payments last year from this company, neither as doles nor charity but as a right. Other life insurance companies made similar payments in varying degree.

In these times when the most burning question of the day is how to preserve our economic equilibrium, often accomplished only by giving from those who have to those who have not, the fact just cited is a luminous example of how these insurance companies have evolved a systematic, safe and scientific way whereby a man may provide, at little inconvenience, during his productive period, and without forfeiting his self-respect - for the lean years ahead.

There are other features in the report well worthy of note, among them the huge sum of two and three-quarter billions of dollars of assurance now in force and which will be payable to the insured in this generation. The increase in assets
