TEA TIME TALK

The service to-night in the Christian Church was held in bonor of the resident verterians of the Civil, Spanish and World Wars. Dr. Roland Nichols gave a very touching message. The fight for right was the sum of the topic. The action regarding American war pensions that greatly affected the lives of thomands and the oldest verterans are suffering considerably in many rease. In the State of Bassachusters aione, thirty him Uparata verterans committed suicide. Gorvernors were mentioned and I was glad—and proud—to hear Empland given as an example where fine worthy men were guiding the country's welfare.

A few weeks ago in Lakeland at a N. Y. State Plenk, the Dean of Southern College quoted Canada and England as leaders of the world in lineir banking systems.

Last year coming from the sign in Tower, the car in which I was riding broke down and I was forced to half a passing car and ask for a ride to town. My speech betrayed that I was a foreigner in the South, so I proudly acknowledged my birth place. To my astonishment the gentleman who had so graciously given me the ride stated that some of the finest things in the world come from Canada. He sald: "I know they do, for I got my wife in your lovely city of Toronto. Our American banking system could well pattern itself after yours." He was on his way to speak at a county tax payers' meeting in our little city.

Saturday I was a guest of the Tampa Tourist Club and a little old lady sitting beside me offered her friendship in conversation. We exchanged home-town addresses and an entire the future will be brighter.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE

On Monday, February 26th, Mrs.
Joseph Dowsett, a highly respected, resident of the west back line, Artemesia, passed away at her home following a paraptic stroke about a week previous. She had been in failing health for some time owing to heart toublet. Leaid "An illness reveals the great in the penitentiary. . one to know again that underseath member for Kingston, who holds finne, said he had just finished servwhich we all have, there is a great well of good will which in the dark days will not fail un." it seems years since I wrote that. Just now I am grimly holding on to my belief in the goodness of people.

As you know I-have had a great interest in penal reform for man years a belief that our penitential system was not doing all that could be done toward reforming the inmates to the point where, on release they could with safety to society again take their place as citizens You know, too, that there have been riots in several of the Canadian penitentiaries and for the first time an awakened public opinion on the subject. I felt that a debate in the whom we shall call X, to whose tub House of Commons would serve a ercular condition I have previously many of the worst abuses would not have developed had there been a late known this man favorably group of Parliamentarians constantly for four years. He is an ex-service the police and that should I hear from interested. I therefore had the fol-Paper: "That, in the opinion of this House, a special committee should be rime and to determine whether the penitentiaries of Canada are doing all that could be done toward protecting ociety by the reforming of the criminal." I believe the sunshine of the south would have induced me to have delayed my return to this frigid city had itn not been that I was most resolution, since, while it stood in my name no one else could put a resolution dealing with the subject on the Order Paper. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, the Minister of Justice, crossed the floor and asked me if I intended to proceed with my resolution on the 12th of February. I told him I did not feel physically capable of undertaking it that day, nor had I my material ready. He told me he would arrange to have it stand over. I thought it very kind of him and expressed my appreciation to one of my colleagues who said he did not understand how it could stand over since it is contrary to the rules of the House. However, the records will show that on the 12th of February the motion was called and would have been dropped from the Order Paper had not Mr. Guthrie risen and said "Mr. Speaker, a special arrangement has been made at the request of the mover of this resolution who, anxious to allow discussion on my

on account of ill health, is not preparcel to proceed with it. Your Honor noted the arrangement at the time, I think." Mr. Speaker replied: 'My understanding was, that in order to keep the resolution alive, the debate would be commenced and adjourned; then the motion would hold a very bad record. I think I have a place on the Order Paper (A place on the Order Paper at the foot of the list.) "If with the unanimous consent of the House the resolution is al-

Thinking Mr. Guthrie had been unmencement of my speech on the 14th used except to say that in dealing with the health of the imprisoned men I pointed out that the clothes of convicts suffering from loathsome diseases were washed with the clothes of healthy men. The same was true of the dishes. And also that in the barber's shop no great effort was made to protect the healthy from the unhealthy. I went on further to say: "It is true also that tubercu lar patients are allowed to mingle with their fellow convicts. I am expecting this statement to be denied, but may I say that it need not be because I happen to know very well a man who is sentenced to a five year term in Kingston Penitentiary. man who is 100 per cent, pensioner, s very ill with tuberculosis, having had hemorrhages as long as three or four years ago and for severa months after that time was in a military hospital. He is a man with a fine social outlook and very much bet-who are not in penitentiary. I know him well." At this point Mr. Jacobs, the witty member from Montreal, who always acres. About 4 miles south of interrupts me during my speeches for the amusement, not so much of the House. I think, as of himself and me House, I think, as of himself and me interjected "Will the Hon. Member give us the names of those she knows who are not in?" And I, in the same spirit, replied "It would take too long, I want to finish in forty minutes." I then went on to say that it was impossible to get direct sunlight and fresh air in the peniten tiary as it was constructed. I con-tinued then to discuss shackling mer to the bars with their hands above their heads, leaving them there

His second was for a bestial crime which I will not mention in this Chamber, for which he was sentenced to five years in the British Columbia penitentiary. He was released on ticket of leave, to enlist in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, in which he served, but before he went he was again convicted of indecent assault (sodomy) and sentenced to 12 months. In 1919 after the War he was convicted at Toronto of forgery. In 1920, again at Toronto, he was convicted of indecent assault (sodomy).
