She Gained Energy

This young woman's method of reducing overweight is evidently as beneficial as it is effective, and a letter she writes is therefore worthy of publication:—

publication:—
"I am 24 years of age; neight 5 ft.
5½ ims; and a short time ago my weight was 28 lbs, above normal. I was Estless and without energy. Now after taking Kruschen Salts regularly I have lost 28 lbs in weight, and have much more vitality. Also I have yeary good completion and I do not a very good complexion and I do not have face blemishes of any kind. Surely this must be due to my having pure blood, and I attribute the fact to my taking Kruschen Salts."—

ENGLAND
We are visiting the British Isles this summer and the prospect has a glamour and allurement that it is difficult to put into words. We enter a different world, full of the enter a different world, full of the romance and history of the past; unbelievable castles, hedges along the winding roads, green fields that merge into the landscape, the quaint villages with the steepled church dominating the whole, thatched cottages —you can see this all in no other country but England. There is no other country where you can take scenic beauty as a matter of course: scenic beauty as a matter of course; where pageantry fits into the picture and where dreams come true.

Thousands of years have made these Islands what they are; there is a continuity which, in spite of mod-ern improvements, definitely links the past with the present. You are in a foreign country and yet you are Home — quite a paradox.

Cathedral Cities

We shall visit some 21 Cathedral cities this summer. I shall refer only to two of these. Winchester, the old Capital of England was a tribal capital in Roman days; a long line of kings were crowned and buried here and, as late as the time of Henry III, the citizens of Winchester disputed with the citizens of London over the right of Durlanns and O Etonians.

So confident are the authorities of the quality of the fuel—proved by last year's gruelling tests—that the seven squadrons at Biggin Hill are to leave on protracted manoeuvres early next month, using nothing else. The RAF. now consumes the whole of the British output.

This year 1,000,000 gallons of petrol will be produced for the force from 300,000 tons of British coal.

By the end of the year seventeen squadrons will be using it.

HUGE EDIFICE

LIVERPOOL, Eng.—Thanks largely to the munificent gift, just announced of nearly $1,250,000 from Lord Vestey and his brother, Sir Edmund Vestey, Liverpool Anglican Cathedral is likely to be finished completely in another 16 years or within 50 years of the laying of the corner-stone by King Edward VIIL

Wales. Recently, however, two stone axes have been found in an old section of the town. It is one of the rare examples of a walled town and, even today, one can make a circuit of the old city on the top of what is the most perfect structure of its kind in Britain. A history of the Wall would be an article in itself and some time I may write about this.

The Rows are a remarkable feature of Chester and are unique in that there are rows of shops one over the other: the sidewalk of the upper shops being immediately on top of the stores on the street level. The main street of Thun in Switzerland more nearly resembles the Chester Rows than any other street. This idea might be adopted, in modified form, to overcome our traffic prob-lems of the future — who knows! The Cathedral associations go back over 1000 years and bring recollec-tions of King Alfred's daughter, Ethelfieda; and the grim Earl Leofric of Mercia, husband of the celebrated Lady Godiva. He and succeeding rulers made notable additions to the building, the latest change being made about 1880.

Of interest to Canadians is a con ner of the trancept where, hanging near the ceiling, is a tattered battle flag and, in the corner under it is a picture of the Plains of Abraham. turies were spent upon the erection of such noble piles as Canterbury, York or Lincoln. On the other hand St. Paul's was rebuilt after the Great Fire of London, in the short space of 35 years. The money for its rebuild ing came largely from a tax on coal brought into London.

Freewill Offerings Liverpool Cathedral is rising en-tirely through freewill offerings ranging from the penny of the Sunday scholar to gifts even more prince ly than that of the brothers Vestey.

Lord Vestey and Sir Edmund Vest ey are making the gift in memory of their parents and the money is to be devoted to the building of the great Central Tower of the Cathedral. This, the crowning feature of the design of Sir Glibert Scott, will rise 327 feet above ground level, making the Cathedral a landmark for many miles "Up to now we have had rather a shapeless building from the outside," says Sir Gilbert Scott. "The tower will give it a certain completeness and dignity. We shall start on the tower in about two years, and it ought to be completed in about four."

Anticipate Criticism

The nave, which is the final stage of the Cathedral building, will cost $2,500,000 and if money comes in to enable the committee to spend $300,000 a year the Cathedral will be completed in 1950, or 50 years from the date it was begun.

In anticipation of criticism about the spending of so much money or a cathedral, it is pointed out that & edrals of England this will be a truly per cent. of the Vestey donation will amazing achievement. Whole cen- be spent in local wages and material.

The Assay Office is housed in relatively new bidling, white and serere, at the corner of Old Slip and South street. One of its important in stallations is called a fume precip itator—in reality, a series of metal sleeves each plumbed by a chain. Alternating currents run through the chains and the sleeves; and, as the amoke passes up the chimney, the soot particles, containing minute particles of gold, are dashed from the air by this electric barrage, and fall to the bottom of the flue.

This precious residue is collected once or twice a year by men who go into the basin of the chimney and shovel it out. The Assay Office realizes $10,000 to $15,000 on the sale of gold reclaimed from chimney soot Even the dust on the walls is col lected for gold.

Here's the Perfect Beauty Routine

A perfect nightly beauty routine one which every skin needs, re gardless of its age or type, makes use of the four essential cosmetic preparations—complexion soap cleansing and tissue creams and skin tonic. Today we'll concentrate on a regular home treatment

First, wash your face and neck with soap and water, rubbing with the palms of your hands as well as with a rough wash cloth. Then rinse several times with tepid water and finish with a very cold rinse.

Cleansing cream comes next. Using upward and outward strokes cover the skin with a thin layer of the quick-melting cream. Let it stay on for two minutes and then with soft cleansing tissues remove every trace of it.

Skin tonic is the third step. Pour bit of it? on a cotton pad and pat throat face and forehead with the pad. Use brisk upward movements that stimulate and strengthen sagginf muscles and lazy tissues. Let the tonic dry into the skin before you put on a very thin coat of tissue
