Mrs. Owen Passes
We extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Hanley and relatives in the death of Mrs. Hanley's niece, Mrs. Daniel Owens of Cypress River, Manitoba. Mrs. Owens was formerly Miss Margaret Carson and namesake of Mrs. Hanley. The deceased was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Carson and was born at Eugenia 40 years ago the past month. The family moved West about 18 years ago. She was married to Mr. Daniel Owens 12 years ago. To them were born 2 children—Dennis, aged 11 years and Enid, aged 7.

The late Mrs. Owens had been ailing in health for the past two years. Her passing took place in a Winnipeg hospital on Friday morning, June 1st. She was a woman of a loving and gentle disposition and was a member of the United Church. Besides her loving husband and little daughters she leaves in sad bereavement two brothers, John and George, both of Cypress River, Man. and three sisters, Mrs. Ethel Sargeant and Mrs. John Townsend of Cypress River and Mrs. Wm. Sargeant of Owen Sound. To these we also extend our sympathy. Mr. Arthur Perry and two gentlemen friends of Galt spent a few days fishing here and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Fenwick.

STAGNATION AND MORTIFICATION

Ontario's Liberal leader would cut the cost of government fifty per cent.

A tall order, but quite possible if Mr. Hepburn and his party are prepared to sacrifice progress and give the people of Ontario stagnation and mortification.

To cut his expenditures Ontario's Liberal leader, among other "economics" would wipe out the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

He has placed himself on record to effect this. The Toronto Globe, in reporting his speech at a banquet in Toronto on December 15, 1932, says:

"The departments of Game and Fisheries, AGRICULTURE, Labour, and Mines, the Motion Picture Bureau, Research Work and Colonization were a few which Mr. Hepburn cited as instances where curtailment or ABANDONMENT of one service could be effected without hurting administration."

WHAT OF THE FARMER?

Possibly administration would not suffer. But what would happen to the farmer?

Where would he be with his overseas selling agent gone merely to set up a record for low spending?

Would it be true economy to wipe out, at one enthusiastic gesture, the agricultural research which makes available to every farmer, without money and without price, all the resources of science, skill, knowledge and experience for the enlarging of output and the improvement of quality at lower operating costs?

WOULD THESE HELP?

Would it help the farmer to wipe out the department which held, for farmers and farm women, in 1932, a total of 93 courses in agriculture and home economics at as many centres throughout the province?

Would the monetary saving justify the elimination in every county of the trained agricultural representative, the man to whom the farmers look for advice in cases of plant or stock disease?

Through abandonment of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Ontario's Liberal leader would abandon the Ontario Marketing Board.

Can the Ontario farmer afford to be without this board, or would its abandonment be another of the Costly Economics which Mr. Hepburn proposes.

The Ontario Marketing Board knew that fruit produced in Ontario was good fruit, but it knew also that it was not reaching outside markets in a way which made potential buyers aware of its goodness. Through co-operation with fruit growers, cooling places and a grading system were established.

In 1929, the year this policy was decided on, Ontario sold 65 carloads of apples beyond its own boundaries.

In 1933, after ten cooling places had been established, sales in Great Britain alone totalled 450,000 barrels, valued at $1,080,000.

In addition to this, there were correspondingly large sales on the continent of Europe and in the Canadian West.

In the same five years the export of pears and plums grew from practically nothing to more than 100,000 packages.

This is one service rendered by the Henry Government which the Ontario Liberal Party would wipe out in its effort to make good on the rash "economy" promise of its leader.

YOU HAVE READ OF RUSSIA.
You know what farming in the land of the Soviet has become.

State collectivization with industrialization the supreme goal, has made the farmer little better than the beasts of the field, the bawler of wood and the drawer of water to the more favored classes, those to whom communism looks for the ultimate success of its state industrialization experiment.

FARMERS MUST BE FREE

Ontario wants no "swing to the left". Its farmers must be left free. The men who, in 1932, produced $226,446,000 of this province's wealth, cannot be made the stepping stone for some radical experiment in state industrialization.

Farmer though he is, Ontario's Liberal leader is prepared to sacrifice his own friends, to betray his fellow workers in the fields in a frantic bid for control of Ontario's vast natural wealth.

By his own confession he "swings well to the left", towards the land where the communists, the socialists and the radicals dwell.

HIS OWN WORDS

Accept his own words to the electors of West York on May 14, 1932.

"I swing well to the left where some Grits do not tread." Or take his speech to St. Thomas voters on February 11, 1933. Then the C.C.F., its ideals not yet analyzed, its impossible-to-be-achieved dreams still unexploded, had seized briefly on a part of the public imagination. Mr. Hepburn saw in it another opportunity for a bid for power at the expense of the solid, producing classes of the province. So seizing his opportunity, recking nothing of what such a programme would mean, he said, in all the enthusiasm of his inexperience:

"The C.C.F. is an example of this realignment of political thought. It is the latest move in Radicalism. I sympathize with the people who make up the ranks of the C.C.F. They are trying, at least, to find a way out."
