TEA TIME TALK

(BY WILMA J. MARCH)

Again we Canadians pay homage to this fair land of ours, which was discovered four centuries ago, by Jacques Cartier, a Breton sailor in the pay of the King of France. On August 10th, 1534, his ships sailed into the St. Lawrence, so called because it was discovered on the feast day of the saint bearing that name. His native guides told him that the country was divided into three districts—Hochelega, Canada and Saguenay. Thus we first meet the name which graces our Dominion. Canada is a word of Iroquois origin, meaning in the native tongue, a collection of Indian dwellings.

Historians have told us that rivers have a great influence upon the destiny of nations. This "roadway into the heart of a continent" has played a paramount part in the history of North America. First the ships of Cartier sailed upon it, then those of Champlain and La Salle.

Each year from Cartier's arrival till the Treaty of Paris in 1763 when Canada remained a British Colony, Canadian history was being made.

It is hard to believe how vast this fair Dominion is, in size. Canada is larger than United States and Alaska. Britain's domain in North America covers an area of more than three and three-quarter millions of square miles. On the east coast the sea has wrought some very fine advantages to our land, in providing the irregular shore line, which gives harbours that mean much to industry. We are blessed with many sources of electric power in districts well distributed throughout the boundaries of the land. The natural land divisions have produced products of many varieties, the result being a splendid business trade between provinces.

The English gave the French inhabitants considerable freedom and Canada did not rebel when the Southern colonies did. When Quebec was divided into Upper and Lower Canada some disturbances followed. But in 1840 the provinces were united and to a large extent governed themselves. The first general election was held in March 1841 and the first parliament met in June at Kingston, the new capital for Canada. In 1843 Dr. Egerton Ryerson was made the first Superintendent of Education. Lord Sydenham was sent from England as the first governor of the united provinces, but he died before the session of parliament closed. Sir Charles Bagot succeeded him and appointed all the ministers from the party in power. French Canadians were admitted to the cabinet. This was the first distinctly party ministry in the British Colonies and Sir Charles was severely criticised for this step and as a result resigned. Sir Charles Metcalfe and Earl Cathcart succeeded in turn. Then Lord Elgin was sent out as the new governor in 1847. He secured the Reciprocity Treaty with U.S. in 1854. This continued till 1866 when U.S. wished the treaty to end.

In 1861 Lord Monck was appointed Governor-General and he used his influence to advance the plan of confederation. Lieutenant governors were also chosen at this time. The "Fathers of Confederation" met and laid the foundations of a new British Empire, in the passing of the "Seventy-two Resolutions" which practically constituted the B. N.A. Act of 1867.

The first Dominion Ministry, with Sir John A. MacDonald as premier, was composed of men in each province who had fought for confederation. Ottawa became the capital and the first Dominion parliament met in November 1867. The first thought of the government was to extend the Dominion westward to the Pacific Ocean. Manitoba and British Columbia soon joined with the eastern provinces and later Saskatchewan and Alberta did likewise. Great developments took place in each and every province during the years which intervened between confederation and the outbreak of the world war.

Sir John A. MacDonald remained in power till his death in 1891. He was succeeded by several premiers in turn. Sir Wilfred Laurier came into power as leader of the Liberal party and held office till 1911 when he was defeated on the question of reciprocity with U.S. Sir Robert Borden became leader of the government and capably steered Canada's course through those very trying years of war, when many difficult problems such as conscription arose. From the start Canada flung herself, whole heartedly into the fray. Before the close of 1914 she had one division over the sea and more following. On the battlefields Canadian soldiers proved themselves second to none, while at home the loyal people rose to great heights of sacrifice and loyalty. Strenuous years followed those fighting days—years which brought their toll of poverty and need along the pathway of re-adjustment. It takes longer to recover from a war, than it does for the war to lay low all obstacles in its way. As a sick body recovers slowly, also a war-sick world recovers the same. Better days came and the world seemed to become giddy with prosperity, which is perhaps a psychological after-math of strenuous and worried times. Then proving that nothing earthly is unchangeable except change—the world depression crept slowly but surely, upon every nation of the world. But through it all Canada kept her head, as well and better than any other country. The more one travels, the more firmly the belief is instilled into the mind, that Canada leads the world. Was it not proven by world statistics at Geneva? Canada had weathered the storm of depression and steered her course through the troubled sea more capably than any other nation.

Twenty years since Canada entered the world war—and sixty-seven years since confederation days! Do we half appreciate the standing we hold in the world? Let us rally our loyalty and pride together and hang out our flags on Dominion Day as a symbol of thankfulness that we are Canadian born.

MRS. MARSHAL BEARD

Mrs. Marshal Beard, a highly respected resident of the village, passed away on Wednesday afternoon, June 20th, following an illness of several weeks. She had been in poor health for the past few years, and the nervous shock from suffering a broken wrist, some two months ago, aggravated her physical condition. She was in her 66th year.

The late Mrs. Beard was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Boyd of Temple Hill, where she was brought up. Forty-one years ago she married Mr. Marshall Beard, and they settled on a farm at Vandeleur, but were citizens of the village for quite a number of years previous to her death. She was a woman of fine Christian character, active in the work of Cook's Presbyterian Church, and will be greatly missed in the Women's Association of that church.

Surviving are her husband, one son, Harold of Markdale, and one daughter, Mrs. Wm. McEachnie (Thelma), of Hastings, who was present for the funeral. Another child died in infancy. Two brothers, John and Sheldon Boyd of Blantyre and a sister, Mrs. Wesley Bowler of Markdale, also survive.

The funeral took place on Friday and was largely attended. Service was conducted at the house by her pastor, Rev. T. O. Miller, who spoke feelingly of the deceased, drawing his address from the text, "To me to live in Christ, but to die is gain." The profusion of beautiful floral offerings breathed a silent message of the love and sympathy of many friends. Interment was made in the Markdale Cemetery, the pallbearers being Messrs. Wm. Foster, J. H. Johnston, Wm. Noble, W. R. Burnett, J. W. Elliott and John Hannah. Those carrying flowers were Messrs. Harold and Frank Thibaudau, Will Alton, Harvey White, Milton Perkins, H. McInnis, Preston York.

Floral offerings included a pillow from the family and contributions from Brothers and Sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Preston York and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dundas and George, Mr. and Mrs. F. Gott, Mr. and Mrs. George Alton and family, Women's Association of Cooke's Church, Mr. Bert and Miss L. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold York, Miss Leta and Mary Mercer, the Thibaudau family, Misses Alma Purvis, Irene McAllister, Revena Green and Helen McCormack, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lemon, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Noble, Mrs. Robt. McEachnie, Mrs. Fred McEachnie, Mrs. A. Moody, Messrs. W. Coulter, Norman Mercer and Elberly Farr, Markdale Garage Co.

Friends from a distance at the funeral were Mr. Sam Lackey of Orangeville; Mrs. John Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Iredale and Mr. and Mrs. L. Elliott of Owen Sound; Mrs. James Boyd and family of Bognor; Mrs. Wm. Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Boyd of Meaford; Mrs. (Dr.) Milne of Palmerston; Misses Leta and Mary Mercer of Toronto; Messrs. Norman Mercer and Elberly Farr of Weston.

GERTRUDE V. LEPARD

There passed away at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lepard, in Euphrasia on Tuesday, June 12th, Gertrude Viola Lepard, aged 3 years, 3 months and 17 days. She was born at Girvin, Sask., on Feb. 26th, 1931 and had always been a sufferer owing to injuries received at birth. Besides her parents she is survived by one little sister, Dorothy.

The funeral took place on Wednesday from the home of her parents to Markdale Cemetery and was largely attended by sympathizing friends and neighbors. The services were in charge of Rev. T. O. Miller of Markdale. The hymns used in the service were "When He Cometh", "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "There is a Happy Land". The pallbearers were Messrs. Richard Clark, Kenneth Johnston, George Irwin and Joseph Lepard.

The floral offerings included a pillow from the family; sprays from Mrs. Chas. Merrifield, Mrs. Jas. Holley, Mrs. Violet Fothergill and Mrs. Wm. Johnston.

Friends here from a distance for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fitzsimmons and son Abraham of Meaford; Mr. and Mrs. James McLean and Mr. Sam. McLean of Preston; Mr. Carl McCann of Shelburne.

Now she is sleeping.

Resting at last
And all earthly trials
Are over at last.

In silence she suffered
With patience she bore
Till God called her home
To suffer no more.

GARDEN PARTY

Splendid weather conditions favoured St. Joseph's Roman Catholic garden party which was held on Wednesday evening of last week and was quite successful. An excellent supper was served in the Armories.

A short musical program followed in which Mrs. Wm. Arrowsmith, accompanied by Miss Doyle of Owen Sound, sang two solos very acceptably. Mr. Raymond Grace, brother of Rev. Father Grace, also sang a solo and encore number, his accompanist being Miss Dorothy Foster of Rock Mills. Mr. F. R. Oliver, M.P. P., on invitation, spoke briefly. Father Grace availed himself of the opportunity of thanking all who had assisted in making the event such a success, and also those who had attended the supper.

The $5 cash prize was won by Mary Darcy, the $2 prize by Mr. Pat Matthews, the three $1 prizes by Miss Camilla Priel of Holland Centre, Mr. Cecil Alton, Jr. and Donald Noble of Markdale. The camera was won by Mr. G. O'Hanley. Following the program dancing was enjoyed.

CREAM - Food for Thought

Cream and Eggs are the main sources of regular income for the farmer, and careful consideration should be given in marketing of same. Since our establishment in the Creamery business we have made a strong effort to pay highest possible prices for your cream and eggs.

WE ASK YOU:

to compare our Cream prices—to compare our Egg prices—
plus our YEAR-ROUND service—and you will see that the logical place to market the above products is with us.
