"We would not let you go from our midst without meeting to 'shower' you with our best wishes in your new venture and your new home. You will be missed very much and we assure you that the keen sense of that loss will not soon be dulled. However we know that our loss is someone else's gain. It is with the intention of expressing, both tangibly and intangibly our high esteem that we are gathered here to-night. Your bright and cheery ways have won a place in our hearts as well as in that one heart. There is an old adage which says 'Sugar and spice make all things nice', the latter part of which expresses what we would like to do for you, so as small tokens of our esteem and heart-felt desires for your well-being and success we ask you to accept these gifts, even the 'sugar and spice'. Signed on behalf of your neighbors and other friends: Marie Troughton, Alma McMullen.
