Miss Macphail, M.P., Writes from Ottawa

Parliament has been opened, the formalities observed, the brief sittings of an hour and a half one day and an hour the next concluded, but had I missed all the opening ceremonies, I would know that we are under way by the skirl of Tom Reid's pipes. Every evening after supper (dinner) the mood of the Scottish member from New Westminster pervades the corridors and courts, in lament, fighting songs or ballads of sentiment. It's a home-coming sound.

The crowds for the opening seemed greater than usual. Even the space in the inner Senate lobby, formerly used by members who, tired of straining to hear the King's speech, fell back to visit with each other, was filled with women in evening dress, leaving only a narrow corridor through which the members could pass, to occupy the restricted space behind the bar of the Senate (brass bar). Just a little more crowding would eliminate the members.

This year I had the same feeling of revulsion that I experienced at the opening in my first years here—richly gowned women, strapples, blackless gowns, uniformed and bed-medalled men, with the hierarchy in purple, chief justices in scarlet and ermine and, in short, the whole elaborate ceremony. It would be a lovely pageant if it were an expression of Canadian life. But it is too sharp a contrast to the struggling agriculturist, the industrial worker, the unemployed, the single transient. It makes one realize the truth of the statement that "One half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives."

Couldn't something be done to have really representative Canadians attend the opening? By representative I mean farmers, industrial workers, teachers, unemployed, miners, senior students, clerical workers. The difficulty is that the same people come year after year, Ottawa people, civil servants, the official set. I would like to see one gallery set aside for Canadians who come from long distances and co-operation on the part of railways, to enable people of small or non-existent means to attend. One could feel then that Canada, in miniature, witnessed the ceremony. A young Alberta teacher, who was my guest this year, was thrilled by the spectacle.

For the members, crowded as they are, the ceremony is an ordeal, if they wait to hear the King's speech read in both languages, in English first and then in French, by the Governor-General. While they stood wearily, this year, members made constructive suggestions to each other. One was that the Governor-General read halfway through in one language and then switch to the other. Since many of his audience couldn't hear him anyway, they wouldn't know that it had been read through in each language. And another suggestion was that we had better play safe and have the speech read one year in English and the next year in French.

Further wisdom was cut off by Dr. Beauchesne (the Clerk of the House) indignantly whispering, as he glided past: "We must have silence; I will have silence." But even he cannot keep 245 members quiet while the Governor reads the speech.

Usually the speech is a forecast of legislation. This year it was that, augmented by long explanations of how well we have solved our agricultural and unemployment problems (??), rejoicings over the much anticipated visit of Their Majesties and the official visit paid by the President of the United States.

The speech expressed satisfaction that Canada is still friendly with all nations, but showed anxiety over aggressive policies which are disturbing every part of the world. And on this observation it hangs increased appropriations for defence and the formation of a purchasing board for the defence services. "To ensure that, where private manufacture is necessary, the profits in connection with such are fair and reasonable."

The trade agreement between Canada and the United States will be submitted for approval and an effort made to renew the pact with the West Indies. The fishing industry is to be aided, prairie farm rehabilitation to be continued (though nobody knows just what to do with the wheat when it is grown), the public works programme extended, the vote for youth training increased, air passenger service inaugurated, report of the Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations submitted and a number of bills amended. That about covers it, with the explanations omitted.

The first sittings of the House of Commons were particularly interesting. It is not often that a leader

Shelburne Wins From Markdale By Score of 6 to 4

On Friday evening last the local team journeyed to Shelburne, there to participate in a Central Ontario League hockey fixture and were awarded the short end of a 6 to 4 score. The locals did well to hold the speedy Shelburne squad as well as they did. The few supporters who accompanied the boys were well pleased with the showing they made.

Shelburne got two early in the opening frame with Burnsides doing time in the penalty box. He and Freeman were both doing time together and the forward line were doing double duty for a short period. Noble scored twice for Markdale, one on a pass from Winterburn and the period ended two all.

In the second spasm Shelburne got a counter and Noble evened when he slammed Hartley's offering into the twine. Shelburne got another and Singleton took a perfect pass from Piper to make it four all. Piper was knocked out by the butt-end of a stick and this period ended with the score 4-4.

In the final frame, with Rowe retired from the Markdale defence owing to an injured leg, Shelburne scored twice to make the final score 6 to 4.

Bob Saunders of Durham was the referee and handed out penalties quite freely.

Angus Fitzsimmons, the kid on the second forward line, made a good showing and put up as good a game as any of the more experienced players.

Markdale: Goal, E. Wright; defence, Freeman and Burnsides; centre, N. Hartley; wings, A. Noble and H. Winterburn; alternates, C. Rowe, D. Hunt, R. Singleton, L. Piper, A. Fitzsimmons.

Shelburne: Goal, Rayburn; defence, J. Banks and Rolston; centre, McCauley; wings, Fisher and Irwin; alternates, Paget, Rands, Wattam, Downey, K. Banks.

Before the intermediate game the juvenile teams tried conclusions and the home team won by eight to nothing. The Markdale boys were playing their first game and appeared to have a very bad attack of stage fright. They'll do better in their next game.

Markdale players were: Goal, R. Metcalf; defence, H. Metcalf and M. Raccliffe; centre, W. Brown; wings, L. Carefoot and R. McCauley; alternates, W. Perkins, S. Wood, C. Page, J. McGee, G. Rimmer.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the many friends who were so kind and good to me while in the Markdale Hospital and also for the lovely treats sent. I also wish to thank Dr. Carefoot, Dr. Singer, Nurses and hospital staff. Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Mrs. Howard Connell.

of a national party is introduced as a new member, as was the Honourable R. J. Manion, leader of the Conservative Party, on the first day. Although a member from 1917 until the last election, he is, so far as this Parliament is concerned, a new member. The House gave him a hearty welcome, which was voted in a graceful speech by Mr. King. Other new members presented to the House were Mr. Homuth of Waterloo, Peter Bercovich, a distinguished Jewish lawyer, who succeeded the much-loved Sam Jacobs of Montreal, and Mr. Matthews of Brandon, two Conservatives and three Liberals.

It seemed to me that at the first sitting there was a note, a clear note, of sincerity and goodwill. Certainly the tributes to the late session, Sam Jacobs of Montreal and David Beauchamp of Brandon, were heartfelt and genuine. Both men were fine types and worthy of praise. Sam Jacobs was distinguished by his wisdom, broad sympathies and keen but kindly wit. His was a vivid spirit that will be long with us. I cherish the memory of my friendship with him.

Sincerity was served by the return of Mr. H. H. Stevens to the Conservative fold and by Percy Rowe, M.P., a former Social Creditor, taking his seat with the C.C.F. group; with whose policy he finds himself in sympathy. Canada would be well served if all members who think similarly could sit and work together; a realignment is urgently needed.

According to the gossip around the House, the story of the apparent termination of the Hepburn-King feud runs like this. The Liberal members in Ontario, provincial and federal, have always heaped each other in elections and are determined to continue to do so. But, with quarrelling leaders, their co-operative plan was shattered, so they simply said: "Compose your differences." It was a case of the followers leading. No wonder Mr. Hepburn had to go to Australia!

John A. Davis Is Warden of the County of Grey

At the first meeting of Grey County Council held on Tuesday Mr. John A. Davis, Reeve of Artemesia, was elected Warden for 1939. Four others, Austin Ball of Hanover, Louis Himmeler of Neustadt, Wm. Jack of Proton and Wm. McGregor of Sydenham, were nominated but withdrew giving Mr. Davis the position by acclamation. Jack has been Reeve of Artemesia for several years and his experience in the County Council qualifies him to fill the position well. The Standard extends congratulations to Warden John A. Davis.

Markdale Team Defeated by Flesheron On Monday

In the Central Ontario League game scheduled for Markdale on Monday evening the locals were downed by the Flesheron squad by a score of 7 to 4. The game was a good one and was quite strenuous at times.

The first counter was secured by Hartley on a pass from Winterburn. Harold McCutcheon scored twice on passes from Gorrel and Smith and the period ended Flesheron 2, Markdale 1.

In the second frame Boyd got Flesheron's third counter and Hartley added another for Markdale with a shot from the blue line. Flesheron added two more to make the count 5-2.

In the final go, Singleton scored on a lone rush and Boyd duplicated. Hartley worked his way through the whole Flesheron squad and counted but the visitors got another and the game ended 7 to 4.

Tempers flared at times and the referee was quite liberal in handing out penalties.

Markdale: Goal, E. Wright; defence, E. Freeman and M. Burnsides; centre, N. Hartley; wings, A. Noble and H. Winterburn; alternates, D. Hunt, R. Singleton, L. Piper, A. Fitzsimmons.

Flesheron: Goal, Ferris; defence, Johnston and McCutcheon; centre, Boyd; wings, Gorrel and Smith; alternates, Akitt, McTavish, Dargavel.

Referee: Len Nicoll, Owen Sound.

High School Inspector's Report Satisfactory

Following a recent visit of Mr. H. H. Wallace, Inspector of High Schools, the local Board has received a report from the Department which is quite satisfactory. The accommodation is not all that is desired and it is suggested that some additions be made to the Library. The Inspector also suggests additions to the apparatus and supplies for teaching Science. The program for teaching the various subjects has been well arranged and is working very satisfactorily. Ninety-one pupils, thirty-five boys and fifty-six girls, are making satisfactory progress under properly qualified and efficient teachers. A paragraph in the report speaks favourably of the bus service which the Board has established.

Talked of Pioneer Days in Markdale

At the regular meeting of the Markdale Rotary Club on Thursday evening of last week Rotarian Will Messenger gave an interesting talk on the early days in Markdale. Below we give his address:

In the year 1848 Mr. Chas. Rankin, government land surveyor, who had previously done much work along his line in Grey County, surveyed the Toronto and Sydenham Road or Provincial Highway No. 10 as it is now called, but it was not till 1857-58 that a gravel road was built along this line. In 1849, ninety years ago, when the road was still but little more than a blazed trail through the dense forests, George Walker and Joseph Price set out from Guelph on horseback riding north in search of suitable land on which to locate. They decided from the favourable appearance of the country to settle here, so the little log shanty of Geo. Walker (father of the Walker family to the east of the village) was the first dwelling on the site of Markdale. During the next two years many of the pioneer families such as the Atkinsons, Armstrongs, Rutledges, Irwins, etc., settled in this vicinity. The four corners where our village afterwards sprang up were occupied by Geo. Walker on the north and easterly corners, Robt. Atkinson on the west and Mark Armstrong on the south corner. The country for miles in every direction was then a dense forest, the chief employment of settlers for some years being the chopping and clearing the land of its magnificent timber which had then no market value.

A post office was established here in 1852, named East Glenelg, located in the log farm house near where Hill's store now is, with Mr. Robt. Atkinson in charge. Newspapers were not yet in evidence and the few letters received were easily cared for in a small sized tea caddy. Mail matter was conveyed by horseback from Shelburne to Johtown (Chatsworth) a distance of 44 miles, the round trip being made twice a week.

Within a year the little settlement was saddened by the death of Mr. Atkinson, which was caused by a falling tree, while he was clearing the land. Mrs. Atkinson continued to keep the post office until some years later her brother, Mr. Donald McDuff, who had settled on the adjoining farm northward (that occupied by Mr. Andrew Walker at present) was given the position.

Upon Mr. McDuff's appointment the name was changed to Cornabus. In 1855 Mr. W. J. McFarland, who three years previously had established a general store on the southerly corner, was appointed postmaster and the office was then transferred from the farm house to his store. Mr. McFarland continued as Postmaster for 31 years when his son, W. L., succeeded him and in 1902 Mr. Angus Plewes became Postmaster, which position he held till his death in 1920 when he was succeeded by his son, Walter, our present Postmaster.

The name Cornabus was retained till Jan. 1870 when, with the coming of the railway through the village, the name of the village and post office was changed to Markdale after Mr. Mark Armstrong (an uncle of the Mr. Mark Armstrong who died a few years ago and who was one of the first white children born here). Mr. Armstrong, sr., and his wife settled here in 1851. They arrived from Toronto with an ox cart loaded with furniture and provisions, and driving one cattle, after a tiresome 8 days' trip. The name Markdale thus commemorates the name of one of the earliest pioneers and a family prominently identified with the industrial life of the village ever since.

The first railway in Ontario was The Northern from Toronto to Collingwood, 94 miles, and the first passenger train to make the run did so on Jan. 1, 1855. For almost 20 years (till 1873), when the Toronto, Grey & Bruce narrow gauge came through Owen Sound, the farm produce of this district was hauled to Collingwood for export. It was a common thing to witness on a winter morning long before daylight, twenty or more of the neighbouring farm teams leave our local warehouses loaded with grain for Collingwood. At Flesheron these teams would be joined by others from that village and the Pricerville district and others coming from below Flesheron. The distance is 37 miles and on the evening of the second day the teams would return with merchandise for the stores.

In 1855-6 Mr. Matthew Irving built the Barrhead flour and saw mill, named after Barrhead in Scotland. This four storey building required all the men available for miles around for five days to raise the framework. This mill was a remarkable building for its day and was a great boon to the community for miles around. It

Joseph Leppard Passes In His 97th Year

There passed away at the home of his son, Mr. Joseph Leppard, Jr., on the Ninth line, Euphrasia, on Tuesday, January 16th, Joseph Leppard. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Leppard and was born in October, 1842, in the Township of King. The family moved to the 5th line Artemesia, where he grew to manhood. Sixty-five years ago he was married to Miss Ellen Foster of Proton Township, who passed away eight years ago. They settled in Euphrasia Township about 60 years ago, being among the early pioneers of the township. He was highly respected by a wide circle of friends. The deceased had not been ill or confined to his bed although he had slept most of the day before his death. Owing to the infirmities of old age he had been failing for some time.

Left to mourn are two sons and one daughter: Thomas in Sydenham; Joseph and Mrs. Merton Sewell in Euphrasia. Four children predeceased him, three in childhood and Mrs. Herbert Kinch of Warton. Nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was held Thursday with Rev. S. E. Annis of Annesley United Church, Markdale, conducting the service. Appropriate passages for the aged, of hope and comfort in consolation, were read from Psalms 90 and 103; 1 Cor., 15; Ecc. 12 and St. John 14. Referring to the wonderful span of life, which had surpassed that of the Psalmist by 16 years, Rev. Annis pointed out that God must have a wonderful purpose in such a life, giving ample time for worship, friendships and witnessing the vast changes in the world, from pioneer days until the present. Favourite hymns of the deceased were chosen. "Jesus Lover of my Soul", "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me".

The pallbearers were: Messrs. Clifford Hutchinson, Oliver Leppard, Samuel Cowan, Wm. Wilson, Jos. Fothergill and Carman Caswell.

The beautiful floral offerings expressed the high esteem in which the deceased was held, included being a pillow from the family and a bouquet from Mrs. Richard Clarke.

Friends from a distance at the funeral were Miss Eliza Kinch and Mr. Jack Kinch of Warton; Mrs. Thos. Leppard of Sydenham; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McGill, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Miller and Miss Barbara Curry of Rocklyn.

Mrs. William Davis Died In Toronto On Thursday

After only a short illness Mrs. William Davis passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Badgerow in Toronto on Thursday of last week in her 80th year. The funeral took place at Flesheron Cemetery Mortuary Chapel on Saturday afternoon with Rev. G. Service, pastor of St. John's United Church, Flesheron, conducting the service. The pallbearers were Earl Davis, a nephew, and sons, Wesley, Thomas, Glenn, William and Ernest.

On Friday evening service was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Badgerow, conducted by Rev. Gilbert Little, pastor of Chalmers' Presbyterian Church, Toronto. Miss Kathleen Bryson and Mrs. Thomas Bradley sang a beautiful duet "Lead Kindly Light", accompanied by Miss Jean Carruthers at the piano.

Among the large number of floral tributes presented were the following: Pillow from the family; sprays from Progressive L.O.L. No. 2846, Masonic brethren of Eglinton Div. T.T.C.; Grey Lodge A. F. & A. M.; Canada Life Assurance Co.; Policy Department of Canada Life; "Claco" Club of Canada Life; Actuarial Department of Canada Life; York Township Caretakers' Association; York Township Teachers' Association; and Roselands School.

The late Mrs. Davis was born in Leeds County on December 22, 1859, a daughter of William and Mary Smith, and when she was married to William Davis in 1877 came to Artemesia township, where they resided four miles south of Markdale. To them were born six sons and three daughters, the two oldest, Charles and Ethel, dying in infancy. Her husband predeceased her on July 18th, 1920, and since that time she had made her home with her family in Toronto. She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother five sons and two daughters, all residing in Toronto: Wesley, Winnifred (Mrs. Gordon Badgerow), Thomas, Laura (Mrs. Clinton Kennedy), Dr. Glenn Davis, William and Ernest. She also leaves 16 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mrs. Davis, before her marriage, was closely connected with the work in the Anglican Church at Landsdown, and was organist and choir leader in the Church there. After her marriage she joined Flesheron Methodist Church, later United.

With all sincerity I desire to thank all who were so kind to me during my recent stay in the hospital and since returning to my home.
