

SYNOPSIS Young Dr. James Kildare faces lisgrace and imprisonment for shielding sixteen-year-old Nick Le ound. Nick is wanted by the pol ice for the murder of Gambler Ga on. Instinct tells Kildare that Nick innocent. He falls madly in love with Nick's glamorously beautiful sister Rosalie. Dr. Gillespie, hospital diagnostician chief who is spon oring Kildare's career, and lovely young Nurse Mary Lamont work to ether to save Kildare. Kildare also earns that Nick wanted to kill Garson because of the latter's dis paraging remarks about Rosalie to eir mutual friend Tom Crandell Nick swears he was shot down be-fore he could fire at Garson. Kildare seeks out Crandell. By shrewd questioning he establishes the enire truth: Crandell shot Nick and iend, burly ambulance attendant Joe Wyman, to help him force Tom Drandell to confess.

CHAPTER ELEVEN Gillespie Plays His Trump Head Nurse Molly Byrd rushed into Dr. Gillespie's office. "Did you bear about Kildare?" she cried. "He has caught the real murderer. Wy man made him confess-and th whole mess is cleared up." Gillespie threw down his stethes cope. "How did you hear this be
