Colgan - Burnside

A quiet but pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening, Nov. 8th, at seven o'clock at the home of Mrs. T. H. Hale, 268 Cedar St., Sudbury, when her niece, Miss Verna Gertrude Burnside, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Burnside of Markdale, became the bride of Mr. George Edward Colgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Colgan of Markdale. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. T. H. Hale, was charming in a plum crepe afternoon frock, fashioned on princess lines with a high neckline, and with it she wore gold costume jewelry, a black hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Helen Hale, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant and was gowned in moss green wool with a pleated skirt, a Dubonnet belt, matching green hat, and black accessories. She wore a corsage of Rapture roses and lily-of-the-valley. Rev. R. J. Stewart, of Knox Presbyterian Church, officiated, and Mr. D. A. MacCauley acted as best man. Miss Gwendolyn Burnside, of Markdale, sister of the bride, played the wedding music. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served for immediate friends and relatives at which Mrs. Burnside, mother of the bride, received in a black crepe gown with gold costume jewelry, and Mrs. Colgan, mother of the groom, received gowned in black blazer crepe with black accessories. Mrs. T. H. Hale also received, in a lovely frock of flowered pussywillow crepe with black accessories. Mrs. Colgan and Mrs. Burnside, parents of the bride and groom, poured tea, and were assisted by Mrs. A. Fraser and Mrs. A. W. H. Taber, formerly of Markdale. In the dining-room mauve, yellow, pink and blue streamers hung across the ceiling and fell from the chandelier to the table, which was covered with a gorgeous lace cloth. The table was centred with the three-tier wedding cake, on a silver-based mirror plaque and topped by a shower of silver bells. On either side were yellow and mauve tapers in triple silver candlebra. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold wrist watch; to the bridesmaid, a combined gold compact and evening bag, and to the groomsmen, he gave a silver cigarette lighter. Mr. and Mrs. Colgan will make their home at: Sudbury. Out-of-town guests included Miss Gwendolyn Burnside, sister of the bride, and Mrs. C. R. King, aunt of the bride, of Markdale.—Sudbury Star.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Henry 50 Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Henry of the highway, a mile north of the village, celebrated on Sunday, November 5, the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Present for the occasion besides their daughter, Miss Eva at home, were two sons and their families—Dr. W. E. Henry of Weston, Mrs. Henry, Eleanor, Douglas and Jerry, and Dr. G. G. Henry, Mrs. Henry and Suzanne of Hamilton. Their second son, Dr. W. J. Henry, of Jellicoe, New Ontario, was unable to be present, but was represented by his son, Willard. Mrs. Alex. Henry of West Toronto, a sister-in-law, Mr. J. C. Henry and Dr. Anna Henry of the village, brother and sister of Mr. Henry, were also present. During the afternoon many relatives and friends called to express their congratulations and good wishes and spend an hour in pleasant conversation with the happy couple. The dainty refreshments served included cuttings from a beautifully decorated two-storey wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Henry were recipients of a sheaf bouquet of chrysanthemums, which centred the living room table while vases of bronze mums and of mixed flowers added beauty and color to the rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Henry were married on November 5, 1889, by Rev. W. A. Graham, rector of the Anglican Church, Markdale, of which the bride was a member. They took up housekeeping on the groom's farm (the Henry homestead) where they farmed successfully until the fall of 1920, when they sold the place and moved into the village. After eight years of retired life, they decided to take up farming again, but on a limited scale, more suited to their declining years, and moved to their present home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Henry are enjoying very good health and still take an active interest in the affairs of Annesley United Church and of the community, in both of which they are held in high regard.

Annesley United Church Held Anniversary

Large congregations greeted Rev. Dr. Thomas Green of Central United Church, Owen Sound, on Sunday last when he conducted anniversary services in Annesley United Church. Dr. Green chose "The Church" as his theme in the morning, using as his text "Christ loved the church and gave himself for it," Eph. 5: 25. He pointed out that the church was not only a human institution but it was also a divine institution founded by Jesus Christ. And the church is called the body of Jesus Christ, and is the avenue through which God works to save souls for His Kingdom. The church is militant on earth but triumphant in Heaven. He emphasized the duty and privilege of all believers to work for the saving of others in their own community and also in the regions beyond. In the evening using Acts 11: 26 as his text, he spoke on Christianity, "What is it? Is religion worth getting, living for and striving for? It is all important to have faith, but 'faith without works is dead.' Therefore Christians, said he, must work or their faith will be of little avail when they come to the end of this life. The speaker throughout the day made a strong evangelistic appeal. The services were heartily enjoyed, and all will be pleased to welcome Dr. Green again whenever a second visit can be arranged. The choir, under the able leadership of Mr. F. Buzza, provided special numbers, a well rendered anthem at each service, and in the morning Mrs. T. S. Cooper sang very effectively, "How lovely are Thy dwellings." Cut flowers and potted plants were used in decoration. The pastor, Rev. S. E. Annis, was present in the evening and conducted the service. On Tuesday evening the annual fowl supper was held and was enjoyed by a large number. A program was given after the supper at which there was a good audience.

Telephone Brought To Life In Markdale High

By Miss Dorothy Boyd
"He hath smote for us a pathway to the ends of all the earth"
—Kipling
Do you take your telephone for granted? When you impatiently barked out a number to "central," did you ever reflect on what power lay within your control, or what strides men have taken since Alexander Graham Bell invented his simple mouthpiece? Did you even think twice of what the Bell Telephone Company is doing today with its hundreds of workers to maintain and improve the service?

Markdale's citizens of the future will be more alive to the marvels of this great system, after the movies they enjoyed last Friday. The Public and High Schools met in the auditorium. Mr. Sawyer introduced Mr. Henderson of the Bell Telephone Company, Toronto, and presented Mrs. Leaver and her assistant Miss Semple, of the local branch. Then the projector buzzed, and the sound motion pictures took us out into the desert, where the rock is so solid that post holes must be blasted with dynamite. The workers were cautious but efficient with the dangerous explosive. This note of skill and caution is sounded again in village work, where accidents are eliminated by supplying telephone sets and periscopes, so the driver of a truck supporting workmen may see, hear, and take to them from the cab. Thus wires are hung with greater ease and speed.

But telephone workers don't just pick up this knowledge and efficiency as they go along. There are schools where the new and the experienced alike "learn by doing." Model systems teach the students what to do in any possible emergency and all types of workers may obtain training.

Of these the laboratory workers are not least. They go into the research bureau, where equipment is subjected by machinery to gruelling tests of its strength. For example, iron bands might hang your receiver till it wore out, just to spot any faults in its material or construction. New materials are constantly being tried out, also, and it is in this way that telephone greatly aids science. The company has its own aeroplanes, or "flying laboratories," to find which types of antennae and equipment are best suited to the air.

In the methods of laying wires, too, new experiments are being made. For instance, they have a new plough which buries the wires. This is for use out West where farmhouses are far apart. The implement is tractor-drawn and supports two giant spools. The plough-share is so built that it buries the water-proof wire from these spools about two feet in the ground, yet leaves only a narrow trace which Mother Nature soon hides. That is a long step from the slow process of hanging wires on poles; but from Henry Hudson's little "Half-moon" to the giant liner Queen Mary is a much longer step. When Henry Hudson sailed up to the site of New York harbour in 1609 he needed no telephone—he could shout from stem to stern of his little craft. Three centuries later in the same harbour, the Queen Mary operates a switchboard of her own. She could not do without it. Three thousand souls, a "city in the sea," depend on this utility to make ocean travel the convenience that it is. Almost as soon as the ship leaves, the system on board is linked up with the mainland by wireless or Marconi.

This co-operation of Marconi and telephone provides an empire link, binding together the members of that Commonwealth into which Alexander Graham Bell was born in 1847. Another servant of Empire was Grey Owl. Returning from the front in 1918, he switched from the defense of Canada to the defense of Canada's beaver. The intimate story of his forest life was a thrill for nature-lovers. At first the quiet, busy scenes, away from science and invention, seem to have no connection with the telephone. But isn't the beaver a symbol of all men's struggles? The slow building up of knowledge resembles the growth of the beaver dam. Over long periods of time, industrious men have struggled for security. For a few weeks before winter the beavers toll for their own type of security. Both build mighty mountains from little things.

All the little things that go into a telephone were shown us in a novel way. In a comedy that rivalled Walt Disney, we saw multitudes of parts from a simple desk 'phone come to life in a miniature circus on an office table. How so many washers, screws and sundry gadgets, including an electro-magnet, ever get into such a small space is magic only telephone

Remembrance Day To Be Observed In Flesher-ton

Arrangements are complete for the observance of Remembrance Day when a Service will be held in Flesher-ton on November 11th. An invitation is extended to the people of Markdale to attend. Also all pupils of the nearby schools are invited to join in, as the Public and High Schools of Flesher-ton are attending in a body.

Service, weather permitting, will be held at the Memorial Park, but should the weather be unfavourable the service will be held in the Town Hall commencing at 10.45 a.m. A parade from the Town Hall in Flesher-ton will be held to the Park, with assembly at the Town Hall at 10.15 a.m.; parade to start at 10.30 a.m.

The service will be in charge of the Flesher-ton ministers, with Captain (Rev.) Stanley Elliott of Heathcote and the Ministers of Markdale assisting.

Reeve Alfred Down has proclaimed that from 10.00 in the morning until 2.00 in the afternoon be observed as a holiday, and all places of business will be closed. It is expected that Reeve Rusk of Markdale will do the same. The Markdale Citizens' Band will be in attendance and will furnish music for the singing at the service at the Park. Programs of Order of Service are being prepared, and will be available at the service. Details of Parade will be forwarded to those in charge of the various groups.

Individuals wishing to offer floral tributes are invited to do so at the appointed time.

Appreciation

Mr. A. E. Colgan, Editor.

Dear Sir,—
Please grant me space in your paper to express my appreciation of the act of Markdale businessmen in co-operating to hold Saturday, November 11th, as a Sacred day in remembrance of the 60,000 Canadian soldiers who sleep in Foreign Soil. Those of us who served overseas and are still alive appreciate any gesture of respect for our dead comrades, particularly when we realize the loss of business sustained by closing the shops on Saturday. What effect these actions will have on younger men who might be called out in the near future to serve their Country, I am at a loss to know.

W. H. FRENCH,
President Markdale Branch of the Canadian Legion.

Meeting re Home and Rural Beautification

Because of the exceptional interest being taken in Grey County in Home and Rural Beautification, it was thought wise to call a meeting to discuss the advisability of forming a county wide organization, which shall have as its object the interesting of rural people in Rural Improvement. Accordingly, a meeting is being called at the Department of Agriculture in Markdale, on Tuesday, November 14th, at 2 p.m. Mr. John F. Clark, Horticultural Extension Lecturer, will be the special speaker. Others invited are Miss Agnes Macphail, M.P.; Messrs. W. P. Telford, M.P.; Mr. R. Patterson, M.L.A.; Mr. F. Oliver, M.L.A.; Warden J. A. Davis, Reeves of all municipalities, Horticultural and Agricultural Societies, Women's Institutes, U.F.W. O. Clubs, Junior Farmer Clubs, etc. men can explain.

It is just as magical for a man in Vancouver, British Columbia, to be brought face to face with one in Plymouth, England, in the space of a few seconds. Telephone man to the rescue again! Through the co-operation of Marconi and the Bell Telephone Company, Mr. Smith in his office in Vancouver, can speak to Mr. Brooks as though he were just across the table, instead of across the land and sea in Plymouth, England.

We learned that when Mr. Smith puts in his call to the Vancouver operator, it goes to Montreal, is changed from static form to the voice, is amplified and sent via the Marconi beam to Braddock, near London. Thence it is transmitted to Plymouth, and Mr. Brooks's phone rings. In a few minutes Mr. Smith and Mr. Brooks are chatting. All this took only an hour of our Friday morning, but we learned a lot. I think the thanks Mr. Sanders expressed at the end of the meeting were those of the whole school. They should be those of the whole Empire, for the part telephone plays in smiting "a pathway to the ends of all the earth" is no small one.

Carson Price Passed Away At Holland Centre

A native and lifelong resident of Holland Centre and one of the best known merchants in the district passed away at his home on Tuesday in the person of Robert Carson Price. The deceased had been in poor health for some time owing to a heart condition and for the past month had been confined to his bed. The late Mr. Price was born in Holland Centre, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carson Price, who came to the village in the heart of Holland when the district was practically new. He succeeded his father as postmaster and general merchant and actively carried on the business up until the time of his death. He was known far and wide to the farmers of the district and had a host of friends. His entire life was spent in the village with the exception of a short time in western Canada.

About 20 years ago the deceased was united in marriage to Miss Laura McPhee of Owen Sound. She survives with three children, William, Betty and Malcolm, all at home. Four brothers and two sisters also mourn, namely, Mrs. Alex. Shute of Holland Centre; John S. Price of Berkeley; Miss Ella Price, nurse of Calgary, Alberta; Mrs. James A. Gillesby of Saskatoon, Sask.; Mrs. John P. Herbert of Owen Sound; C. H. Price of Buffalo, N.Y., who recently visited his brother in his illness. Another brother, W. T. Price, general merchant of Berkeley, died five years ago in October.

The funeral takes place on Thursday afternoon to Owen Sound with service in St. Mark's Church, Holland, at 2.30 o'clock.

E. W. Limin of Durham Passes Away

(Durham Review)
For over sixty years a resident of Durham, Mr. Edwin William Limin passed away at his home last Friday after a brief illness, in his eightieth year. Though he had not been as active as usual the past year or two he was out and around until two or three weeks ago, when a slight stroke was followed by a painful attack of shingles which proved fatal when pneumonia developed.

The late Mr. Limin was born in Hamilton in 1860, a son of Charles and Selina Limin, and when he was nine years old, first came to Durham, with his parents. They removed for a time, but upon returning, Durham has since been continuously his home. In young manhood he entered business life as a drover and butcher, in which business he was in close contact with the public for over 30 years. He sold out the butcher shop in 1919 to C. B. Lawrence who in a few months disposed of it to E. J. Schenk, the present owner. Shortly after, Mr. Limin was appointed Gov't Inspector of Farm Lands for this district, in which capacity for a number of years he became known even farther afield. In recent years he has lived retired.

In 1882 the deceased married Mary Dorothy Banks, who with a family of six daughters survive to mourn a devoted husband and father. The daughters are: Mrs. Rev. J. Morris (Ethel) of Woodstock; Mrs. Alex. McLaughlin (Flo) of London; Mrs. H. S. Jackson (Ada) of Thessalon; Mrs. Reavely Savage (Edna) of Stratford; Mrs. N. T. Harding (Minnie) of Harriston; Mrs. Arthur McGowan (Ottile) of Durham. There are 11 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren. Two brothers and a sister will also mourn: Herbert and Mrs. Thomas Peters in New York city; A. J. in Hamilton.

Though often urged to do so, the late Mr. Limin never entered municipal life. He had a successful business career, loved his home life, and made friends everywhere he became known. He took a keen interest in, and actively supported any project for the town's welfare, and in political life, was an energetic worker for the Conservative party.

He was a life long member of the Anglican Church, the funeral service being conducted by his rector, Rev. J. H. Farr, in Trinity Church on Monday and interment being made in Durham cemetery. The church was filled with mourners. A profusion of beautiful flowers surrounded the casket. The pallbearers were Robt. Burnett, G. C. Webster, N. P. McIntyre, Robt. Campbell, J. N. Murdoch, C. B. Lawrence. The flower-bearers were A. W. H. Laidler, C. McLachlan, W. R. McGowan, J. S. McGowan, Wm. Vollett, Ezra Schenk, Geo. McMeekin, Cecil Alton of Markdale.

Attending the funeral from a distance were: Miss Ina Limin, Mr. Murray Sumner from Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Limin, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Limin, Mrs. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wildman, from Hamilton;

"The Tatler"

A column published to acquaint the public with the activities of the Markdale High School
Lloyd Annis - Editor

The weather was very stormy for our game to-day, and it would seem that our spirits might be dampened, but we felt that a win was necessary, so we forgot the health of the weatherman and started in to play. It was in the second quarter that Bruce Marshall, a newcomer to our school, kicked the first point of the game. He got a kick over the "dead line", and can that boy ever kick! He sure is an asset to the team. In the third quarter Hanover got their first and only point by the same method. In the last quarter Bruce Marshall again used his foot, to gain another point for the hard fighting home team with about one minute to go. All the boys are raving about our new kicker and we feel sure that in our next game, which is here on Thursday with Flesher-ton, that we can take them for the run of their lives. Come out and see. Without a doubt Marshall is the hero of to-day's game, and we welcome him to our sextette with open arms. Mr. Glass of Markdale handled the game very cleverly along with the assistance of Mr. Nusgrove of Hanover, the teacher, and coach of the boys. Pat Korman of the Hanover team was the name of the boy who got the point for the visiting team. They were really smart players, and we feel that we are very good when we beat them. Markdale players: Centre, J. Down; wings, R. Macaulay, H. Craven, B. Marshall; quarter, L. Annis; halves, J. Magee and B. Arrowsmith.

Mr. Jas. E. Fawcett has returned to his home in Euphrasia after a year spent at Shardon, Ohio.
