30 YEARS AGO—March 10th, 1910

Local and General

Mrs. T. E. Lee is visiting friends in Toronto for a few days.

Miss Mabel Berry of Priceville is visiting Miss Emma Baines.

Mr. S. Murray left on Wednesday with a car of settler's effects for Swift Current.

Mr. J. W. Gibson and family have moved back from Rock Mills to the old home farm two miles out of Markdale on the gravel road south.

Mr. Wm. Mathews of the suburbs purchased this week, Mrs. Noble's house with two acres of land on George street. Mr. Mathews, father and sisters will move from Chatsworth to Markdale.

Seed Fair Planned

The Grey County Crop and Soil Improvement Association, at a meeting held last Tuesday, decided to hold a Grey County Seed Fair at Owen Sound during the first week of April.

Farmers having good seed are asked to exhibit the same. All seed however MUST be graded. This will cut out nothing for three samples. Send at least 3 pounds of coarse grain and about 2 ounces of small seed to Mr. W. J. W. Lennox, 84 Collier Street, Toronto, Ont.

Please remember this is an extremely busy time in the Seed Grader's office, therefore, please send the samples without delay.

Watch advertisements in all County daily and weekly newspapers during the week of March 25th. Prizes will be worthwhile.

Any lots of 5 or 10 bushels will be sold by auction provided samples of these have been graded. The one aim of the Crop Improvement Association is the offer of good seed so better crops can be harvested. Why not enter an exhibit from your farm?

worth in the spring and reside on George street.

Mr. James Bradley will move next week into the farm five miles west of Berkeley, which he purchased from Mr. Alex. McKennitt. The latter is moving this week to Gorrie, where he has purchased a farm.

Our Bacon Trade and U.S. Pork Imports

(The Canadian Countryman)

Recently a Toronto business man who is interested in agriculture left with us a clipping from "Business Week", an American magazine, which contained an article headed "Canada Buys U.S. Pork". In recent months hog prices have been much lower than prices in this country and American hog producers have been hoping that the war would stimulate demand. So far they have been disappointed, but the United States has been selling increasing quantities of pork to Canada in recent months and this is what the article in question is about. We quote from it as follows:

"They (American hog producers) have been getting a nice little slug of business from the war by-a roundabout route, in an unforeseen form. A recent rush of wires asking how to ship fresh pork to Canada was a meat trade authority's first notice that a big market had opened overnight for United States packers and farmers. Ever since the British Ministry of Foods and the Canadian Bacon Board signed their contract, carloads of American pork have been flowing northward in an increasing volume, which must remain indefinite until Department of Agriculture figures are issued. A few weeks ago, for instance, a Chicago packer sent 2,000 dressed hogs in a single shipment. But little has been said about it for fear of arousing the Canadian farmer."

Some people consider we should prohibit imports of pork from the United States. They are people who believe in restricting international trade, or in other words, they are the people whose ideas regarding trade have been largely responsible for the unsatisfactory conditions under which agriculture in this country and the United States has labored during the past ten years, and which are to a considerable degree to blame for the present world war. One might dismiss the opinions of these people, therefore, by saying they are not worth bothering with. There is more to be said about the matter, however, than that. The article which we have quoted gives an erroneous and distorted view of the situation. As a matter of fact we imported about twice as much pork from the United States during June, July and August last year before the war started than we did during the first three months of the agreement with the United States which benefits both countries and it is the interest of all concerned that nothing be done to upset this arrangement. We also have an agreement with Great Britain by which she has undertaken to accept an average of 5,600,000 pounds of bacon from us weekly. About 90,000 hogs weekly are required to fill this contract and supply our own needs. Last year an average of 71,000 hogs were marketed weekly. Unless we step up hog production in this country to fill the demand from Great Britain, it is obvious that we must import the pork we require to do so from the United States. In Denmark people eat margarine and ship their butter to Great Britain, and in the same way it is good business for us to eat the inferior American bacon and ship our own good bacon overseas.

Figures presented by Mr. Watson of the Ontario Department of Agriculture at the annual meeting of the Experimental Union recently showed that Great Britain drew heavily on Canada and the United States for her supplies of bacon during the last war. Denmark was an important source of supply in the early part of the war, but supplies of Danish bacon were sharply curtailed as the war continued. It is quite likely that the same thing will happen this time, due to the blockade and the proximity of Denmark to Germany.

Before the outbreak of the present war Great Britain bought more than half her bacon supplies from Denmark, Canada was second on the list as a source of supply, with the Irish Free State third, which was closely followed by the Netherlands.

The Baltic countries shipped considerable quantities of bacon to Great Britain, but it is probable that this trade will be very much curtailed as a result of the war. Twenty-five years ago the United States exported more bacon to Great Britain than all other country except Denmark. In 1913, for example, Great Britain imported 2,334,945 cwts. from Denmark, 1,803,371 cwts. from the United States, 343,522 cwts. from Canada and 476,052 cwts. from other countries. In recent years imports from the United States have dropped materially. Thus in 1938 British imports of American bacon only amounted to 42,821 cwts., while Canada supplied 1,275,573 cwts., the Irish Free State 536,764 cwts., the Netherlands 514,438 cwts., Sweden 251,048 cwts., Lithuania 190,050 cwts., Estonia 42,120 cwts. and Latvia 37,209 cwts.

Some people may think it is wrong of us to increase our imports of American pork. We do not think so. In the first place we have a trade

Keep Canada's War Effort United!

Experienced Leaders are

VITAL for VICTORY

In six months of war the Mackenzie King Administration has set an unprecedented record of getting things done without fuss and fury. Under its steady leadership, Canada has gone ahead on all fronts—war, economic and domestic. With clear heads and with a group of purposeful men is making every ounce of Canada's weight felt in our fight for freedom. What it has done has been done thoroughly: there has been no loose thinking; no half-measures; no waste of men, money or materials.

Some of the Mackenzie King Administration Wartime Accomplishments

It united Canada as never before— Every province is heart and soul behind the Empire's war effort this time, thanks to the Administration's truly national policies.

The First Division, completely equipped, has been sent overseas to a Mother country prepared to receive it.

The Second Division is recruited, equipped and ready to go over.

The great Empire Air Training Scheme—sponsored and mainly financed by Canada, has been launched on a planned and ordered basis.

Naval Defence for both East and West Coasts including Air Force, Mine Sweepers and Convoying, has functioned efficiently since the outbreak of War. Of it, a Senior British Naval Authority has said: "No finer work is being done anywhere by the Royal Navy itself."

Price Control of all commodities, including such vital necessities as wool and sugar, has been established, with prices pegged low for the poor man. The profiteer is out, and will be kept out—in marked contrast to the free-for-all of the last war.

Shipping Control and Foreign Exchange Control are firmly established on sound lines and are functioning smoothly and effectively.

A $200,000,000 War Loan was over-subscribed within two days of its launching, a record that proves public confidence. Its reasonable rate of 2½% contrasts with 5½% tax-free rate of the last war.

Political and Private Patronage has been stamped out: merit is the sole basis for selection or promotion in our armed forces.

Great Britain's war financing problems have been lessened through the co-operation of the Canadian Government.

War Contracts totalling well over $100,000,000 have been placed, stimulating every branch of Canadian industry.

Canadian employment has hit an all-time high owing to these orders and to good internal business conditions.

Armament deliveries are approaching full-speed: aeroplanes, Bren guns, tanks, artillery accessories, ships—all coming forward in impressive quantities.

Large purchases of Canadian wheat,—preventing a serious wheat glut—have been arranged through a special mission sent to London by the Mackenzie King Administration.

5,600,000 pounds of bacon will be shipped to Great Britain each week, as well as large quantities of flour and fish.

Huge shipments of steel and other materials essential to the conduct of the war have been arranged for.

Make Your Vote Support Canadian Unity

Such a record simply didn't just happen. It resulted from the efforts of a strong administration working on behalf of a country united with all its parts as never before. And this singleness of purpose—conspicuously absent in 1914—is due to the vision, understanding and drive of individual Canadian and Empire-minded Statesmen who back the Empire's participation in the war with their eyes wide open and with full determination to play their parts to the full.

We appeal to the people of Canada for the support which is essential to carry on and complete a task, the groundwork for which has been laid carefully, soundly, wisely and with foresight, determination and resolute courage.

On March 26th show your faith; vote for the Candidate supporting Mackenzie King and help make sure there can be no break in Canada's steadfast stand in these critical times.

FORWARD WITH

MACKENZIE KING

The National Liberal Federation of Canada, Ottawa, Ontario.

I BELIEVE

A Nation at War needs a National Government.

Absolute and rigid Economy to be essential.

In a clear-cut business administration of the country's affairs.

No War Profiteering should be allowed.

In stabilization and control of commodity prices.

No political patronage or favouritism should exist.

We must avoid extravagance and waste so as to prevent unnecessarily high taxation.

The Farmer and Workingman should have a better chance.

The welfare of Canadians should be above petty politics and Party following.

We do not need Conscription. Canada will do its part voluntarily.

A War Veteran's experience should be of value to A War Time Government.

An Independent Opinion

(The following question and answer appeared in the November 25, 1939, issue of the Toronto Saturday Night):

Insurance Editor,
Toronto Saturday Night.

Dear Sir:

A relation of mine is very anxious to take out an annuity in an insurance company. On inquiring I have discovered that the Mutual Life Assurance Co. of Canada, appears to give the most generous terms on a unit of $100.00. I should be very much pleased to know how this company compares with larger companies. Would the smaller company be more likely to be adversely affected by war conditions than the larger ones?

M. A. R.,
Vanleek Hill, Ont.

ANSWER:

Both as to security and policy dividends, the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada is not excelled by any other company doing business in this country, and if your relative took out an annuity contract with that company he or she would have no reason to regret it at any time, either now or in the future.

When a company has reached the position of the Mutual Life of Canada as regards security and security afforded holders of policy and annuity contracts, it is in as strong a position to meet adverse war conditions as any other company, however large the other company may be.

GLADIOLUS

(Contributed by A. G. Robertson)

Of all the flowers which are in keen competition to-day for the favour of the amateur gardener probably none has made more progress or is in more favour than the Gladiolus. The much disputed pronunciation of the name of this flower as gladi-o-lus both singular and plural has been noted by the several thousand members of the Gladiolus Society for which the amateur owes them much thanks.

The old reliable "glad" can be counted upon to come through with flying colours ninety nine times out of a hundred. There are a number of diseases or scabs which occasionally give the grower some trouble; but these usually show in the bulb which can be sorted out before being planted.

That the gladiolus is preeminently the amateur's flower is often shown at the Gladiolus shows where some beginner will carry off the prize for the best spikes of a variety in competition with professional growers. The Gladiolus has long been grown primarily as a flower for cutting and this has led to the belief that it is not suitable for any other purpose and so the helpless gladiolus is outlawed by general practice from association with other flowers and condemned to a bed by itself. The Gladiolus can be used for planting in the mixed border where groups of a dozen or twenty-five bulbs of one variety are very effective. Because of its tall imposing form, long lines or small groups planted against walls or tall hedges or in the border where there will be protection from high winds make a very pleasing picture. The foliage itself which gives the plant the popular name of "Sword Lily" is beautiful while the flowers open and remains attractive for a long time after the faded flower stalks are cut off. Another great appeal which the Gladiolus possesses is that it may easily be had in bloom continuously for weeks on end. The bulbs are very hardy and may be planted as soon as the ground has warmed sufficiently in the spring. The earliest varieties will bloom from seventy to eighty days and should be planted first. From then on by successive plantings which can be made up to early July it is possible to have a constant procession of bloom until frost. This is a fact which catalogue makers have never stressed nearly enough. The best practice is to plant the choice new varieties early so as to get a good crop of bulblets or cormels, the little "seed" bulbs which form in a cluster around the base of the old bulb and to reserve a supply of the cheaper or more plentiful kinds for later plantings. The mid-season and late varieties take from eighty to one hundred days so that it is possible to secure a month of bloom from one planting and thus by making four plantings including in each some early mid season and late varieties it is possible to have several months of flowers.

As for growing for flowers or for increase of stalk plant the bulbs in rows about four or five inches deep in light soil but only three to four inches in heavy soil. In stiff clay two inches is quite enough. The rows are usually made twenty-four inches apart but eighteen is sufficient if space is limited. The bulbs should be spaced three to six inches apart according to soil, size of bulbs and vigor of the growth of the variety. The Gladiolus, even more than most plants, appreciates thorough cultivation during the growing season and plenty of moisture. A good system is to cultivate after every rain. For show blooms a top dressing of liquid manure or nitrate of soda may be given just as the flower spikes are developing. Flowers for cutting should be taken just as the first two or three buds are well opened. Remove only one or two leaves with the flower spike if you want to have strong new bulbs for the following season. If spikes are growing crooked they may be drawn through the hand while young and straightened. If strong bulbs are planted they will produce flowers almost anywhere, but to get the finest spikes and to have a new bulb as good as the old for carrying on for next season's planting a fairly deep rich soil should be provided. Well rotted barn yard manure will give as good results as any.

When the foliage begins to turn colour and die down put before it pulls away readily from the bulb cut the stems off within three inches or so of the soil and take up the bulbs carefully by loosening the soil with a spading fork and lifting gradually, removing the bulb with the cluster of small bulblets clinging to it and placing them in a tight flat. After drying thoroughly away from danger of frost separate and store for winter in a cool place.

The varieties of Gladiolus are multiplying so rapidly that to attempt to cover the latest would require too much space and must be left to individual taste of the grower.
