Allies Were Deserted By Belgium While Aiding Belgians

Entering Belgium in answer to an appeal for help by King Leopold, British and French troops found themselves in a precarious position following the Belgian king's order to his troops to lay down their arms in unconditional surrender to the Nazis, and had to be withdrawn from Flanders. A British Tommy is shown, LEFT, aiding an aged Belgian couple through the streets of their burning town after German air raiders had bombed it. A mother and her three children are shown, RIGHT, wandering aimlessly amidst the ruins of a town razed by the Nazi invaders.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

Q. If a waiter, a taxi driver, or someone similar, asks for a larger tip than offered, what should one do?

A. Refuse to give it. The size of a tip is entirely optional with the one who gives it, and no one who would demand more than offered would deserve nothing.

Q. Isn't it poor manners for one person to monopolize a conversation?

A. Yes. No matter if this person is a good conversationalist, he usually develops into a bore.

Q. When a person is talking and is suddenly forced to sneeze, should he apologize?

A. Merely say, "Excuse me."

Q. Isn't it permissable for a young man in love to display any jealousy when in the company of others?

A. No. A jealous person is never happy. One person wrote, "It is said that jealousy is love, but I deny it: for though jealousy be produced by love, as ashes are by fire, yet jealousy extinguishes love as ashes smother the flame."

Q. Is it necessary to introduce a ten-year-old child to adults?

A. It is not exactly necessary, but it is excellent training for the child.

6. What is the symbolism of gardenias?

A. Refinement.

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove oil marks from wall paper?

A. Apply a pastem ade of cold water and pipe clay, leave it on over night, then brush it off in the morning.

Q. How can I select a good paring knife?

A. Be sure, when buying a paring knife, to select one with the blade running through the center of the handle and held by rivets. It is the stronger kind.

Q. How can I prevent car sickness?

A. If one is inclined to become nauseated when riding on a street car or train, try this preventive: Beat the white of an egg stiff, then add the juice of one lemon and a little sugar. Take this before starting the journey and it will usually prevent any sickness.

Q. How can I remove mud stains from a garment?

A. If a brisk brushing does not entirely remove mud stains from a garment, rub the spots with a raw potato. This seldom fails.

Q. What is a good disinfectant for the kitchen sink?

A. Two tablespoons of ammonia and a gallon of boiling water, poured down the sink while the solution is still very hot, proves a very good disinfectant.

Q. How can I clean a mirror properly, to make the glass beautifully bright?

A. Rub the mirror with a ball of soft paper slightly dampened with methylated spirits; then with a duster, on which a little whiting has been sprinkled, and finally polish with a clean paper or a wash leather.

With seven universities affiliated with conservatories of music, Mr. Gibbon argued it would be practical for professors of English and music to co-operate in illustrating such lyrics of any period as may have been adapted for singing.

C. N. Passenger Staff Changes

Changes in the staff of the Canadian National Railways passenger department were announced by H. C. Dourlier, general passenger agent of the National System. The changes were brought about through the recent death of C. H. Walker, city passenger and ticket agent, at Windsor, which post is now filled by G. H. Walker, former city passenger and ticket agent, at St. Catharines. The position made vacant by the promotion of Mr. Walker to Windsor is being filled by K. M. Dyson, who occupied a similar position at Belleville. Announcement of the new city passenger and ticket agent, at Belleville, was expected shortly. All appointments became effective on June 5th.

What Science Is Doing

BEATS T N T 100 TIMES

The U.S. Senate naval committee said last week that "a report-able scientist" had reported discovery of an explosive approximately 100 times more powerful than TNT, most destructive of explosives used in the first Great War.

POISON FOR INSANITY

Insane persons are being restored to normal with one of the deadliest poisons known to man.

The American Psychiatric Association last week heard that carbine, used by South American Indians on their spear and arrow heads to kill men and animals within a few minutes, can now be prescribed safely in medical treatment.

It serves as a preliminary drug in the shock treatment of persons suffering from schizophrenia and other mental diseases.

The treatment came from witch doctors in the Amazon jungles.

FOR SEWING UP TISSUES

Development of a new method of blood vessel surgery in which surgar rods are used as "darning eggs" in sewing together the delicate tissues has been announced at the University of Chicago. By this method, the two ends of the ruptured vessel are threaded on to a slender rod of sugar, coated with a thin film of oil to prevent the tissues. Thus held together, the two ends can be sewn with "over and over" stitches.

U. S. Birthrate Is Still Falling

Slight Drop Noted Again Last Year

A slight drop in the United States birth rate last year was noted by the census bureau.

Births last year totaled 2,262,726. This was at the rate of 17.4 for each million persons, against 17.6 in 1938 and 17.0 in 1937.

LOWEST IN N. J.

New Mexico had the highest 1939 birth rate, preliminary figures showed, with 33.7. Other high states were Arizona, Mississippi and Utah. The lowest rate was in New Jersey, 13.0. Other low states were Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York.

HEALTH TOPICS

PREVENT TOOTH DECAY

Perhaps the greatest advance that has been made in dentistry in the hundred years of its existence has been in public education of the necessity for cleaning teeth in order to prevent decay; it is difficult for us to realize that the toothbrush and cheap dentifrices are themselves of fairly modern origin. The first toothbrushes were made of horse hair or pieces of cloth or linen, sometimes of sponge.

SAD STATISTICS

The use of the toothbrush is still in its infancy, according to statistics, for it is estimated that 70 per cent. of the population of North America have never had their teeth examined and about 60 per cent. have never brushed their teeth.

The idea of filling teeth and preserving them instead of pulling them out is also an introduction of the last century. The old dentists used to use coins, gold and silver and lead, whenever they could get it, for tooth filling; the introduction of plaster and enamel is credited to Laurie, of Edinburgh, about 1834.

The pack of canned apples in 1939 was 28,462,000 pounds as against 15,612,000 pounds in 1938.

Canada Leading Asbestos Country

War World's Top Producer In 1939 — Comes Chiefly From Eastern Townships of Quebec

Canada maintained her position as the world's leading producer of asbestos in 1939, when the output totalled 364,472 tons valued at $15,859,212 compared with 269,793 tons valued at $12,890,195 in 1938. With the exception of a small quantity from northern Ontario, the Canadian output of asbestos comes entirely from areas of serpentinized rock in the Eastern Townships of Quebec where the producing centres are Thetford Mines, Black Lake, East Broughton, Vimy Ridge, and Asbestos. According to the Department of Mines and Resources, these deposits are the largest known in the world and although production has been continuous from the Thetford District since 1878 the reserves of asbestos-bearing rock are still enormous.

In Quebec the asbestos-bearing rock is mined both in open pits and underground, and most of the asbestos production is exported in the unmanufactured state. The United States is the world's largest consumer, and Canada's proximity to this market is a distinct advantage to the industry. Other countries to which large exports are made include Japan, United Kingdom, Belgium, France, Australia, and Italy.

Asbestos is used chiefly for the manufacture of automobile brake linings and clutch facings; as asbestos cloth and heat insulation materials; as packing and building materials such as roofing shingles, corrugated sheeting, tile and piping, and also for asbestos paper.

Most Unflattering Posture — Defects

Feminine posture, according to Elizabeth MacDonald, lecturer of New York City, can effectively—if unflatteringly—be divided into five classifications.

Any number of college girls she declared, can be pegged as follows: (1) Collapsed stomach; (2) "Tummy-ache" posture; (3) Barrel shapes; (4) Stomach wrinkles; (5) swallowed watermelon postures.

Miss MacDonald's college lectures have proved effective. Carefree, co-eds listened in silence while she listed what's wrong with them.

HAVE YOU HEARD?

The recruit was disappointed in his uniform. It seemed to fit nowhere.

He was still trying to make the buttons of his tunic meet when he passed the colonel on the parade ground, and in his preoccupation, he forgot to salute.

"Pull yourself together," said the colonel. "Don't you know you're wearing the King's uniform?"

"Oh, that's it," said the recruit. "I knew it wasn't meant for me."

"What causes the flight of time?"

"It's probably urged on by the spur of the moment."

"I'm glad to find you as you are," said the old friend. "Your great wealth hasn't changed you."

"Well," replied the candid millionaire, "it has changed me in one thing. I'm now eccentric where I used to be vulgar, and delightfully witty where I used to be rude."

Teacher: "Your essay on 'Our Cat' is word for word the same as your brother's."

Jimmy: "Yes, sir, it's the very same cat."

The old lady had made the unfortunate young clerk fetch roll after roll of linoleum, until he had displayed everything in the store.

"What did you say it was for, madam?" he asked at last in despair.

"Oh, didn't I tell you?" replied the customer, pleasantly. "It's for the bottom of the canary cage."

"I wonder why rich folks so often marry rich folks?"

"Because they have so much interest in common."

"How did you manage to lire to be 107, Mr. Whosis?"

"Well, you see, I refrained from smoking, drinking, took plenty of exercise and stayed out in the fresh air."

"Well, I had an uncle who did all of those things, but he died at 57."

"Well, you see, he didn't do them long enough."

Quincentenary Of Invention Of Printing

Nation-wide Celebration Will Be Held This Year — Special Display at C.N.E. — Five Centuries Since Gutenberg

Newspaper and magazine publishers, printers, paper manufacturers, artists, engravers and allied trades will hold a nation-wide celebration of the quincentenary of the invention of printing this year. Displays will depict the process of the art through the five centuries since Johannes Gutenberg gave the world its first printed volume.

PROGRESS OF PRINTING

The power of the printed word in the development of civilization and its tremendous influence upon the lives of everybody will be graphically represented at the Canadian National Exhibition. Rare examples of early printed work will be shown together with specimens marking the milestones of progress from the days of the laborious hand-press right up to the present mechanical efficiency and perfection. Ultra-modern machines will be shown at work demonstrating step by step the processes involved in converting original manuscripts, photographs and drawings into a finished publication. The display at the Exhibition will be under the sponsorship of the Toronto Graphic Arts Association.

Overseas Parcels

When you send your soldier-boy parcels, wet the string before you tie the package up; wet string dries and as it dries it shrinks so the parcels will not work open through loose tying. And how about waiting until the address on the label is dry and then rubbing a warm candle over it? This makes the label quite waterproof. Many parcels have gone astray through blurred, washed-out addresses.

Are We Likely To Be Invaded?

We Are Not Inaccessible — Far From It Says Jean-Chas. Harvey, Editor of Le Jour

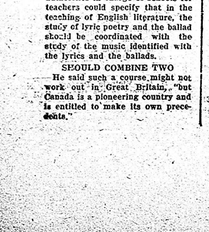
At a time when the real war session of the King Government is sitting and when Germany is hurling all her forces of destruction against our allies, France and England, after having violated the neutrality of all the small nations along the Baltic and the North Sea, we believe we express the wish of an immense majority of Canadians when we ask the leaders of the country to take all the necessary measures in order to ensure the security of our people and our institutions, writes Jean-Charles Harvey, editor of Le Jour (Montreal).

Last year, in these very columns we wrote that Canada was not exempt from the danger of invasion. Some sceptics laughed in our faces and held us up to ridicule. Days and months have succeeded, and we came with the declaration of war. Even then, our pacifist knowitalls declared that Canada would not be directly concerned with the bloody adventure. Even the most ardent supporters of participation did not dream for a second of the possibility of the invasion of Canada by the Nazi forces. The government, the very one that declared war, did not seem to be aware of the immediate peril that the country might run. It believed in the danger, yes, but like millions of Canadians, it did not imagine that the day would come when our shores, our cities, our industrial centres, might be attacked and blood spilled.

A WARNING TO US

That which is now happening in Europe should nevertheless be a tragic warning to us. What will the morrow bring? Nobody knows. And that, we do know is that we have to do with an implacable enemy, who has already laid to waste a portion of Europe, an enemy who respects nothing and who was, at least in the beginning, infinitely better prepared to destroy and to conquer than any other country in the world, an enemy who has shown clearly enough his determination to dominate the universe. President Roosevelt himself said so, in a moving speech recently before the Members of the Pan-American Scientific Congress. And for the first time in the history of this Continent, a President of the great

MICKIE SAYS:



Canada's Apathy Towards Poetry

J. Murray Gibbon, of Montreal, pleaded "the case of the Canadian ballad" before the Royal Society of Canada, declared Canadian apathy towards poetry and suggested fuller appreciation could be gained if its teachers joined with music, particularly in high schools and universities.

"Dr. Gibbon, prominent author and research worker in folklore and music, suggested educational authorities in charge of schools for teachers could specify that in the teaching of English literature, the study of lyric poetry and the ballad should be coordinated with the study of the music identified with the lyrics and the ballads.

SHOULD COMBINE TWO

He said such a course might not work out in Great Britain, "but Canada is a pioneering country and is entitled to make its own precedents."

Gardening ....

GRASS PATHS

Grass paths are not good in wet weather and are hard to care for, but they are employed more generally than any other type because they add so much to the garden. Green is Nature's own background. Grass paths are made in several ways; the sod may be cut into the lawn, leaving the grass between; the paths may be narrow and straight with straight and hordering guitters; they may be edged in various ways; or they may be for due well worn paths, where one may loiter and admire the flowers in the beds.

BRICK PATHS

Where stones are not available, bricks make fine paths. There are several ways of using them. Set on their long side, bricks are more precise than stones can ever be. Brick paths usually have straight edges, but the path itself may be curving or winding in direction. The brick may be laid on side, flat face, narrow edge or in block design like a checkerboard. Bricks, too, often form the bindings for sand, crushed stone cushions or hard-packed dirt paths. They are then laid on end, on their sides, giving a herring-bone design to the border. Bricks placed crosswise side by side make narrow paths which secretly show between plants, but are very useful whether it is desirable to get to some far-back part of the flower beds.

A six-inch layer of ashes makes a good path if one can have patience while it is getting packed down enough not to track into the house.

SCOUTING . . .

Stratford, Ont., Scouts are undertaking the responsibility of maintaining a reforestation plot east of the town. It is planned to make the area, which has been waste land, a picnic ground and recreation centre. The work is being done under the leadership of the Rover Scouts. The Scouts of Peterboro are also doing reforestation work, having recently planted 1,000 young spruce and pine trees on the grounds of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Two acres of land have recently been placed by the Town Council at the disposal of the Boy Scouts of Thornbury as a reforestation project.

The Scouts of Ottawa were requisitioned by Dr. Donald Cameron of the Federal District Commission to assist in his mosquito control campaign. The Scouts were asked to search water pools of the surrounding country and to test the water for the presence of mosquito larvae.

Boy Scouts were used by Jack Miner to help hand and liberate a number of wild ducks and geese on a recent Saturday visitors' day. A record crowd of school children from Detroit attended.

Nearly 50 truck loads of used clothing were gathered by Boy Scouts in the annual spring collection of the Greater Winnipeg Land of Canada Assistance Association. These clothing will be renovated and distributed during the year to some 1,600 families. Service clubs supplied additional cars that were manned by Girl Guides.

New Western Front Battle Is Deciding France's Fate

"On June 4 Dunkirk fell after bitter fighting. The first chapter of this campaign is ended." Official communique of the German High Command).

On June 5 the second chapter in the war to the death between Germany and the Allies began. Evidently having decided to settle the score with France first before attempting invasion of Britain, the German army on that date launched a terrific offensive against the new Weygand line, thrown together 60 days into the fight, supported by dive-bombers, artillery; tanks and motorized vehicles were in the background. The issues at stake were tremendous — the fate of France, of Britain, of the whole of Europe was to be decided. But Hitler was evidently gambling every thing that he and Germany had in a bid for a quick-crushing victory. (Hitler had told his troops that he would rather lose 1,000,000 men in a short war than fewer in a war dragged out over many months. He had told them they would be "home by August").

The Gambling All

The outcome of this super-battle nevertheless was seen last week to depend upon the entry or not into the war, Mr. Mussolini to attack from the south. France would be ground between an upper and lower Canadian Active Service Corps Go To Summer Camp

After a winter of preliminary training at Exhibition Park in Toronto troops are pictured here taking their departure for summer encampments. Included in the seven thousand men who occupied several of the big buildings are many former residents of countries over-run by Hitler's hordes. The Canadian corps impatiently await the call that will bring them to grips with the Hun. The Federal government has stated that it will not use for Exhibition Park during the summer months. The sixty-second consecutive Canadian National Exhibition will be held before the Department of National Defence takes over again in the fall.

The outcome of this super-battle nevertheless was seen last week to depend upon the entry or not into the war, Mr. Mussolini to attack from the south. France would be ground between an upper and lower east American power expressed the fear of an invasion of the two Americas.

Canada prophets declared, at the beginning of last summer, when the conflict appeared imminent, that there was no danger whatever for Canada, as Hitler understood that, should a defeat of the allies take place, the United States would defend us, but this type of public would have to look after its own defence and we know that if we wanted to save ourselves, we would also have to look out for ourselves. After what has happened in the Netherlands and in Belgium, we know that the United States, with its present armaments alone, cannot, by itself, fight to advantage against the combined forces of an all powerful Germany and an aggressive and warlike Japan.

FORESIGHT IS NECESSARY

That is our position. No one can deny this disconcerting reality. We are not inaccessible, far from it!

To govern is to foresee. If ever there was a time when foresight was tragically necessary, now is that time. We shall need every ounce of our intelligence, our courage and our energies to protect acts essential to the safety of our institutions, our peace, our culture and our liberties.

Busy Timber Season Seen

Thousands of Buchnon Are Seeking Work in Summer Camps

Tall Timbers of northwestern Ontario are beckoning to thousands of bushmen as wood camp operators and contractors prepare for what they predicted would be one of the best cutting and peeling seasons in years.

GANGS AT LAKEHEAD

Gangs of men have arrived at Port Arthur the past month, seeking work in the 35 camps which will be operated this summer in the Thunder Bay district.

Officials of the chief timber companies have forecast a 25 per cent increase in production over last summer in the Thunder Bay forest lands. Their predictions are borne out as scores of bush workers leave each day for jobs at Peninsula, Longlac, Beardmore, Hogarth, McKindy and other camps in the heavily wooded areas east and west of Port Arthur.

25 PER CENT INCREASE

Some officials expressed the belief that much of the increased activity is due to Germany's invasion of Norway and Denmark, which has cut off timber supplies to the outside world from the Scandinavian Peninsula.

Swastika Will Retain Name

Ontario Town Is Proud of Name, Which Is Much Older Than Hitler's

Residents of Swastika, Ont., six miles west of Kirkland Lake, are proud of their town's name and no movement is afoot there to change it. Reeve R. J. Carter, of Teck Township, declared last month.

At a township meeting he said the matter was considered last fall and it was
