Private Wm. Sprung: We, your friends and associates, have assembled here to enjoy a social evening with you before your departure from among us. You have answered the call to defend our King and country, which is a noble act that only those of physical fitness can attain. We pray that through God's guidance our countries may be drawn together in an everlasting peace. We hope for victory for our nation and that you may be spared to help win that victory without a spot or blemish from our enemy.

Pte. Sprung, we ask you to accept this watch and may it speedily tick away the time when we can have the opportunity of welcoming will in any way help our cause, so have given my garden railings and metal gate to the local scrap heap and now my beautiful garden lies open to the world. I happened to be standing behind a bush one day when two small urchins who had evidently wandered far from their usual haunts, stopped. I took a peek at them and saw they were tough little customers. Said the one: "What about pinchin' some of them flowers?"

Immediately the other one replied: "Not on yer loife, that lidy in there 'as gone an given 'er railings ter the War, so yer lays off 'er flowers, see!!!"
