Some Interned Germans Released

A despatch from Ottawa says that from time to time, on orders of the British Home Office, civilian aliens interned in Canada at Great Britain's request are being released, and from an authoritative source it was understood last night that release of a new batch of civilian internees has been ordered.

to England where they will be rounded up in a general round-up of enemy aliens, it was said.

It was emphasized that consideration of internees' cases does not include prisoners of war held in Canada for the United Kingdom. Nor do Canadian authorities have anything to do with granting the release.

For safety's sake the internees are merely held by Canadian authorities at Britain's request and were brought to the Dominion during the summer.

No figure is available on the number that have been released and returned to England or the number whose cases have been reviewed and now are awaiting embarkation orders.

It was emphasized that internees who were brought here from Britain and have been ordered released must not stay in Canada because none complied with immigration regulations. Should some of them comply with U.S. regulations they might be released to go to the United States, it was said.

Ordinarily, however, these civilian internees, judged not too dangerous if allowed their freedom, must follow orders and embark for England when given their release.
