

BRITAIN WARMS UP HER INVASION BARGES

As Russia called on her ally to strike at Germany in the west, Britain staged a demonstration of her invasion forces for Prime Minister Churchill. Here Bren gun carriers roll from one of the muck-touted invasion barges that did such a good job in the "practice invasion" of the German-held Lofoten Islands off the coast of Norway.

HAVE YOU HEARD?

Two very weary soldiers were hiking the long, long road back to camp. It was a lovely evening, and presently one paused to admire the sunset and the view. "Isn't it lovely?" he exclaimed. "It makes me feel like the poet. 'Oh, for the wings of a dove,' you know."

The other wiped his streaming brow and retorted: "I'd rather have the 'breast of a chicken, thanks.'"

Pat got a job in a railroad station. When the first train came in, however, he forgot the name of the station, so he called out:

"Here ye are for where ye are going. All in there for here, come out."

"Now, children, said the teacher after a nature lesson, 'I have told you how the little new birds learn to fly. I'll play the piano and I want you to imitate the birds' movements in time to the music.'"

As the music went on, all the children waved their arms energetically, with one exception.

"Come along, Johnny," said the teacher coaxingly: "why did you not imitate the little newly hatched birds as I told you?"

"Please, teacher," replied the irrepresible small boy, "I'm a bad egg!"

"Is the doctor in?"
"No, sir."
"Do you know when he'll be back?"
"I don't know, sir — he went out on an eternity case."

A male nurse in a mental hospital noticed a patient with his ear close to the wall, listening intently. The patient held up a finger as a warning for him to be very quiet: then beckoned him over and said: "You listen here."

The nurse put his ear to the wall and listened for some time, then turned to the patient and said: "I can't hear anything."
"No," said the patient, "and it's been like that all day."

There appeared in the Muggleton Times the following advertisement: "If John Jones, who deserted his wife and babe some twenty years ago will return, the said babe will knock the stuffing out of him."

Grisly Loot

In Philadelphia, a thief stole two unlabelled bottles. They contained rat poison and roach powder. In Salt Lake City a thief made off with 15 drawings of a cemetery.

Axis Blacks Out U. S. Consuls

For the first time in many years, the United States is without direct consular service in 14 European countries. Nations blanked out on map are those from which consuls were ousted. Embassies remain open in Berlin and Italy.

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I bore a hole in glass?
A. Use a regular steel drill, and keep the point of contact saturated with camphorated oil or turpentine. You will be surprised at the ease with which this is done.

Q. How can I remove grass stains from white canvas shoes?
A. Add a few drops of household ammonia to one teaspoonful of peroxide. Rub the stains with this solution, then wash off.

Q. How can I remove old wall paper from my walls?
A. Use a strong solution of sal-soda and water. Boil the mixture and apply while hot. After a few applications, the soda will eat through the glue side and the paper will come off readily.

Q. How can I restore flannels, that have become hard and shrunken, to their former softness?
A. Soak the flannels in gasoline for a few hours. Then wash in soft soapsuds as usual, and rinse in clear water of the same temperature.

Q. How can I clean old soiled photographs?
A. Rub over their surface with some soft, white bread. They will clean very nicely.

Q. How can I clean windows very well without water?
A. First wipe the windows with a dry dusting cloth; then go over them with a soft rag dipped in kerosene; and finally polish with tissue paper or chamois. Windows cleaned in this manner will not only look unusually bright, but will keep clean longer than washed ones.

Song Composers Compete at C.N.E.

Song Writers of Every Age In All Parts of the Dominion Show Great Interest in Exhibition Contest

C.N.E. authorities report that the response to date in the Canadian song-writing contest which is being sponsored by the Canadian National Exhibition on behalf of the Music and Lyric Composers of Canada association, has been amazing, particularly in view of the fact that this is the first time such a competition has been staged under C.N.E. auspices.

Every day, it is stated, letters pour into the Exhibition headquarters from composers of every age and sex, located in every part of the Dominion, from Vancouver to Halifax, from Northern Ontario, the Prairie provinces, Quebec, and Prince Edward Island. The response has incidentally, been most heavy from Vancouver. Two separate groups of compositions are scheduled, popular and patriotic songs. A large number of entries have been received in both classes, though the preponderance to date has been in the patriotic group, an understandable result of war-time fervour.

Opportunity to Display Talents
Canadian composers in general through their letters hail the competition as being a long step in the direction of providing them with an opportunity to display their talents which, might otherwise be unrecognized. It is also, they state, a much needed boost to the establishment of an inherently Canadian type of music.

The compositions entered will be judged by competent adjudicators selected by the C.N.E., and will be played and sung during the run of the 1941 Canadian National Exhibition. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be presented by the C.N.E. to the first three prize-winners respectively in each group.

Just Frinistance

In Southport, N.C., a minister preached on "Ashes." Shortly the church caught on fire. Two hundred and fifty miles away in Greenville, S.C., a minister was preaching on the tumbling walls of Jericho when a car crashed into the church vestibule, showered the congregation with falling plaster.

C.N.E. Features Model Homes

Six Canadian Homes of Various Sizes and Styles Will Be Shown This Year in the International Building

The six modern Canadian homes which will be an important feature of the International Building at this year's Canadian National Exhibition are, state, C.N.E. headquarters, nearing completion. They include an eight-roomed house, a six-roomed brick house, a $3,040 cosy cottage for a this year's June bride and groom, distinctive for its color and design, and yet so planned that everything in it is keyed to the small income of the occupants; an all wood colonial bungalow, a modern small family apartment, and a "live-alone-and-like-it" business women's apartment, so compact and stream-lined that one can sit in the tiny kitchenette, make toast and coffee with one hand, read the morning paper in the other, and check up on make-up in a strategically-placed mirror above, all at the same time.

Furnished Completely
These houses will, it is announced, be furnished throughout with furniture, electric fittings, china-ware, etc., of purely Canadian manufacture. Wallpapers just arrived from bomb-torn Britain will be used on the walls of each of the homes. Individuals specially chosen by the C.N.E. to make up families or groups will actually demonstrate the livable qualities of these houses and apartments at the Exhibition by living in them.

Four At A Time For Beaverbrook

The New British Minister of Supply Uses Four Telephones at Once, Talking About Anything From Politics to Hair Cuts

The British House of Commons was given a word picture of Lord Beaverbrook the other day when his successor as minister of aircraft production, Lieut.-Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, said "he robbed every hen roost up and down the country to produce planes which never, under any circumstances, could have been produced otherwise."

HE DOES IT COHERENTLY
"When I visited Lord Beaverbrook," Col. Moore-Brabazon continued, "he reminded me of those films where everyone is talking over the telephone at the same time. I found him interviewing four people at the same time coherently. He was talking to America over the phone and at the same time ordering a hair-dresser to come around to cut his hair in the office."

Lord Beaverbrook, as minister of supply, is now busy repeating the airplane miracle in the matter of tanks.

Searching For War Minerals

Department of Mines and Resources Plans Survey in North West in Search of Essential Metals For War Purposes

Dr. Charles Cammell of Ottawa, deputy minister of mines and commissioner of the North West Territories, said in a recent interview that the Dominion geological survey during this summer will make a special effort to increase discoveries and production of essential war minerals. Dr. Cammell was en route to Yellowknife, N.W.T., and other northern mining points.

SEEK TUNGSTEN, MANGANESE
Increased output is being sought and obtained in gold and oil, Mr. Cammell said. "But this is to improve Canada's exchange position rather than because they are strategic minerals."

There is a certain shortage of some war minerals such as tungsten, manganese, chromium, vanadium, and aluminum, which is processed only in Canada. The aluminum position is fairly good."

Change of Pasture For Sheep Flock

Old pastures which have been used year after year are the main cause for the prevalence of internal parasites, says the Ottawa Farm Journal. Frequent changes of pasture are important for the health and development of the lamb crop. This is the season of the year when hayling is being completed to arrange for a change of pasture for ewes. Pasture should be changed every 10 days or two weeks if possible. The more frequent the change of pasture the more rapid will be the growth and development of the lamb crop.

Check With Care Food and Water

If Holidaying In Out of the Way Places Why Take a Chance on Contaminated Water or Spoiled Food

Whilst drinking water supplies have been improved generally, it is not safe to use water from any and all sources in out of way places. Pollution may be present only at infrequent intervals but why take a chance. Usually a fire is available and where this is so, water for drinking or washing raw vegetables or cooking utensils should be brought to boil before using. If when "vacationing on wheels" a fire is dangerous or out of the question the simplest method of purifying your water is to chlorinate it. This can be performed quite easily by using the chlorine outfit to be had for 60 cents at the Ontario Department of Health, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. Vacationists or residents unable to conveniently secure their chlorine outfit from the above source may employ the following method:

TO PURIFY WATER
Prepare a solution by adding half a teaspoonful of fresh chlorinated lime to one pint of water. Use one teaspoonful of this solution to ten gallons of water to be purified, 36 drops to one gallon, or 9 drops to one quart. Let the water stand at least 15 minutes before drinking. The solution should be freshly prepared for each chlorination. Tablets of calcium hypochlorite and ampules of the dry powder can be procured for this purpose and are the most satisfactory since they do not lose their strength if properly sealed. Food supplies need watching, see that they are properly stored at low temperature. Do not allow food supplies to get hot by day and cool off nightly on successive days. Maintain them at an even low temperature. Where ice is used see that the source is reliable.

Cheese Output Up 54 Per Cent

Substantial Increase Is Seen in Canadian Production For Month of June Over May Figure

A 54 per cent increase in Canadian cheese production during June was regarded by spokesmen at the agricultural branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics as indication that farmers are heeding the government plea for increased production.

Bureau figures showed June production totalling 25,550,190 pounds, 54 per cent in advance of the previous month's output, and 6 per cent ahead of the June make last year, which totalled 24,050,316.

MORE CREAMERY BUTTER
Creamery butter production in June totalled 40,498,503 pounds, compared with 32,975,510 the previous month, and 40,192,223 in June, 1940.

Horse'n Buggy Days

The Toronto papers, says the Tomskaming Speaker, reported two cases where car drivers were fined for traveling along the Queen Elizabeth Way with but one hand apiece on the steering wheel. The other encircled the waists of their respective fair companions. That, an old timer claimed, demonstrates clearly where the good old days had it over the present streamlined age in one respect. In that bygone era, he held, the lines could lie over the dashboard and the driver and his girl-friend devote themselves to other matters, knowing Dobbin could be depended upon to see the buggy did not upset. One horse between the shafts acted much differently from eighty under the hood, the veteran said.

Should Not Worry On Your Holiday

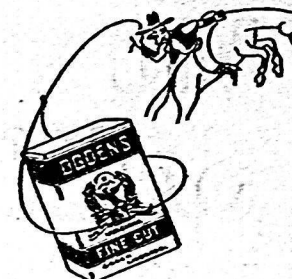

A few words on how not to worry might not be inappropriate at this time. Some people persist in taking their pet office worry with them on their vacation. Don't. Worry is the most futile of all bad habits. It can do no good. It can cause definite harm. It reacts on the nervous system, causing indigestion and insomnia, which in turn causes more worry and so a vicious circle goes on. Train yourself to accept life for what it is rather than fretting about what it is not. Learn to relax — it is the only means of treating the vicious circle. With rest and relaxation should come less nervous irritability, better sleep, better digestion and fewer worries. This is the only way to break the circle. This is what your holidays are really for. While you can, Rest and Relax. You owe it to yourself, your business, and to your country.

Ersatz Fuel

Gasoline is so scarce in Holland that civilian motor cars have had to be equipped with awkward contraptions (some of them larger than the cars themselves) which produce a coal or wood gas as ersatz motor fuel, according to an article in the current issue of The Knickerbocker Weekly, The Free Netherlands magazine in the United States. These grotesque attachments—some are like outboard motors trailing along behind the cars, while others ride on the tops like a balloon barrage—burn wood or coal and produce enough gas for a motor trip of, at the most, twenty miles. Such are the blessings of the Nazi "new order" to the people of occupied Holland.

"Many a ring battle has been lost in advance by worry."
—Gene Tunney.
