

Among the numerous war industries spread across the West is a plant in Winnipeg where propellers are built for Canada's training planes. Modern machinery, such as the device shown here, helps speed up production. This "profiling lathe" does a job in thirty minutes that used to take an experienced profess it hours.

Have You Heard?

A filling station man answered the distress call of a stalled car some few miles down the road. Arriving at the scene, he found the fluttering female driver, pulling and jerking and peering but to no avail. His brief once-over revealed that the car was out of gas.

"Oh," sighed the lady with relief, "I'm so glad that's the only trouble. But do you suppose it

Fear Hens Won't Like Blackouts

Attorney - General Conant, chairman of Ontario A.R.P. committee, agrees with complaints filed with him by York County farmers, who say that, when the power is turned off during blackouts, egg-laying will slow up. The farmers say that chickens must have light at certain hours or they will stop laying.

Mr. Conant agrees this is so and while he sighs over the many problems involved in ARP preparaion, says the blackout regula-tions must be amended to take care of the situation.

In Ontario, it is pointed out there are thousands of chicker hatcheries, and a serious produc-tion problem might ensure if power is cut off. Mr. Conant has invited the farmers to make suggestions as to how best to regu late blackouts, so as not to terfere with chickens.

War Bringing Back Old Time Economies

Some millions of pamphlets are being scattered about Canada urging people to save household fats and bones and telling them that it is possible to make firstclass soap from animal fats. What a long way Canadians of today have moved from the customs of their forebears if they have to receive such information formally and officially! Their grandmothers did not need to be told that animal fats can make good soap. They had constant demonstrations of the fact. The war is bringing old econ-omies back to us. Perhaps among others it will bring the soap kettle and the soft soap and hard soap of far-off days. If we are to pay for this war — and that is our job — we shall have to turn our resources to account instead of sending them to the incinerator or pouring them down the sewer.

THE CHARGE: "SPYING FOR NAZIS"

German-born Richard Ernst Weber, right, stands at the bar of Brooklyn Federal Court, pleading not guity to charges of being a Nazi spy, as U. S. Attorney Harold M. Kennedy, left, makes the arraignment. Weber, formerly employed in many radio and plant factories through the country, was arrested by FBI agents at a chickenfarm hideout near Three Bridges, N. J. According to Kennedy, Weber was an associate of at least four of the 32 spy-ring members who were recently sentenced to prison terms. Weber was held in $25,000 beil $25,000 bail.

Had Moses Foreseen Our Misuse of Land

Without flippancy and with all reverence, it is suggested in a recent issue of 'Citriculture" (California) that if Moses had forseen man's woeful misuse of land in every country and in every age— the wastage of soil by man's sui-cidal agriculture and the resulting man-made deserts and ruined ci-vilizations — if he had foreseen the desolation caused by man's ignorance or greed, or both, Moses no doubt, would have been inspired to amplify the Ten Commandments to ensure man's understanding and observance of his trinity of responsibilities — his responsibility to his Creator, his responsibility to his fellow-men, responsibility to his tellow-lich, nd his responsibility to Mother Earth. Such an amplification might have been given in these words: "Thou shalt inherit the earth as a faithful steward, conearth as a faithful steward, con-serving its resources and fertility from generation to generation. Thou shalt safeguard thy fields from soil erosion, the living waters from drying up, thy forests from desolation, and protect thy country from overstocking or over-grazing, so that thy descend-ants shall never be deprived of their abundance." — St. Thomas

Germany Puts Ban On Private Travel

All private travel, whether by rail or car, has been forbidden throughout the Reich, it was re-ported in Stockholm.

Back of the ban, it was said, is the fact that the railroads, already in a bad state of re-pair, are overtaxed by the military, and travel by road is im-possible because of the gasoline shortage. Railroads in eastern Germany particularly were reported to be so overloaded by the urgency of getting reserves, munitions, and food to the Russian front that a state of near chaes has resulted.

What Science Is Doing

WHAT SCIENCE IS DOING BOARDS FROM OATS
Stucco, plaster, wall board and asulation — all from oats — are insulation the latest development in building materials revealed in a patent (No. 2,269,509) granted to Michael J. Batelja of Portland, Ore.

The patent papers contained a inventor's own photograph of the inventor's own house sheathed with oat stucco which looks like stone.

To prepare the stucco and plaster, oats are first pulverized. then mixed with water, one pound to twenty pounds of water. Next the mixture is cooked at 212 degrees Fahrenheit until it becomes jellylike.

A small amount of sassafras oil is added to prevent mold growth. The mass is then mixed with a fibrous material, like ground newspapers, straw or rags, to obtain the desired consistency.

The resulting compound may be applied like conventional plaster or stucco, it is said. Or it may be molded into boards, tile or bricks. On setting it becomes hard and tough.

SCIENTIFIC NOTE

In perverse contradiction of the accepted theories on drinking and driving, one Toronto mo torist is accustomed to drive with especial care after he has taken one or two drinks.

Returning from a stag party one recent evening, he was hugging the curb and proceeding at not more than fifteen miles hour when he was startled by the sudden appearance of two policemen, one on each runningboard.

"Step on it, buddy," shouted one of them, "and catch that car ahead. The driver's drunk."

Roosevelt Prefers "United Nations"

It looks as if the term "United Nations" is going to be preferred in this war to the designation "Allies" used in the First World

In his speech before Congress recently President Roosevelt spoke of "we of the United Na-tions" alluding to the 26-nation agreement pledging a war to the finish against the axis and promising no separate peace by any of the participants.

That agreement was headed "Declaration by United Nations." It was reported the president did most of the drafting of the declaration and personally selected "United Nations" in prefer-

Act Like Victors Allies Are Urged

Air Marshal Bishop Declares We Should Stress Our Faith in Victory

Allied nations should change their mental climate and begin to behave more like "vic-tors, not victims," in the opinion of Canadian Air Marshal William A. Bishop, who shot down more German planes than any other British ace in the first World War. The Canadian Air Chief, speak ing in New York, declared it would 'do no harm if we all became a little more articulate about our faith in victory." Marshal Bishop called it a "stupid fallacy" for the Allies to believe for a minute "that we are fighting only the present leaders of the countries with which we are at war."

"We are fighting to the death the peoples of these countries," he said, "and to imagine for one moment that their heart and soul are not fully in this struggle is just to ask for disaster.

"Let us never underestimate our enemies. Do not let us fool ourselves that we are just fighting Hitler and his colleagues. Nor let ns underestimate their great power. They are able, they are efficient, they are entirely ruthless and they have produced a youth in Germany ignorant of the truth, educated to be heartless and ruthless, completely believing in the doctrine of one man whose treachery and lies I need not waste time in reciting.
"The same applies exactly to the Japanese Emperor, holy as he may think he is; and in Italy also, although in a lesser degree there."

Soviet Asks Death For Nazi Chieftans

The newspaper News Review said recently that it "is reliably reported that Stalin is insistent that the peace settlement shall provide for the total destruction of the Nazi regime, death for the Nazi Party leaders, the occupa-tion of Berlin and other key cities of the Reich by strong Allied mil-itary force, full compensation for th damage done Russian industrial plants, the surrender of pare of Germany's heavy industrial ma-chinery and international supervision of education in Germany to prevent undercover propaganda among school children."

Discussing "What we shall do with Germany after the war," Sir Arnold B. Gridley, Conservative member of the House of Com-mons, said recently that Germany must be forced to surrender un-conditionally, and that Berlin must be occupied to convince the people that the German armies "are indeed defeated."

Gridley's discussion does not mention the part Russia may play in the postwar settlement.

Red Cross Sends $100,000 To Russia

Dr. Fred W. Routley, National Commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross, announced the Can-adian Red Cross cabled $100,000 to Britain recently to be handed over to the Russian Red Cross. The cheque will be given to Mrs. Maisky, wife of the Russian Ambassador to Britain and president of the Russian Red Cross, he said. Dr. Routley said the money is the first instalment of the $500,-000 being raised in Canada for medical relief for Russia.

Free French Sub Plys The Atlantic

The Surcoulf, the world's largest submarine is plying the North Atlantic again, fully manned by Free French naval forces and ready to do her part in clearing the enemy from Allied ship-ping lanes. The 4,300-ton undersea craft, once the pride of the French fleet, took to sea after participating in the occupation of the St Pierre and Miquelon Is-lands by the Free French forces Dec. 24 and again is a deadly menace to any enemy craft she may contact. And the crew of 140 officers and men, under Captain Louis Blaison, are anxious to swing into action.

Fifty-nine Billion Ouite Conceivable

So Says the Detroit News About United States 1942 War Budget

Sure, it would take a long time to count it, the $59,000,000,000 to be spent by the U.S.A. in war next year, if anybody were silly enough to change it into dollar It would take longer to count the grains of sand in a square yard of ocean beach. But nobody on that account thinks of calling a square yard of beach 'astronomical' or "incomprehensible." As a square yard of beach it is perfectly comprehensible, and so is $59,000,000,000 if you keep a sense of proportion about you. Consider for a moment how small a sum it is. It is but a fraction of the assessed valuation of realty taxable in this country. True, it would buy out New York City three times over, so far as real estate is concerned. But what is New York? Just one American city among hundreds and thousands. This incomprehensible sum is not so much as we Americans spent in 1941 for our living ex-penses and entertainment. And that is not even counting what we saved, or paid out for taxes. As a matter of fact it is not much more than Americans pay annually over the counters of retail stores alone. It is not greatly more than would be added to the national cost of living simply by returning prices to the fancy lev-els they held in the first World

32,144,201 Fur Pieces For German Soldiers

It is significant that the German people contributed 32,144,-201 pieces of fur to the appeal to keep the Nazi army warm in Russia, says the Windso Stranger of these furs were brought from the attice where they had been the attics, where they had been lying these many years. Everything from fur coats to fur ear muffs went into the collection

If the German people were not still behind Hitler and the lust of Germany to conquer the world, they would not have been so dili-gent in finding furs to send to the troops on the Russian front. If there had been any tendency on the part of the people to rebal against the Nazis, this was an opportunity to do so. The Gesta-po would know about some of the furs, but the Nazi officials would not know about the old furs in the trunks in the attics.

Hitler has not lost his hold on the German people yet. They may not be as keen for the war as they were, but those fur contributions show they are still willing to support the men at the front.
