WHAT SCIENCE IS DOING

Altitude Efficiency For War Planes

In the race for ever higher altitude efficiencies for bombers and fighters more emphasis necessarily has been placed on the study of conditions in the upper atmosphere. If battles are to be fought and bombing raids successfully completed at levels of 25,000, 30,000 and 40,000 feet, we must learn more of the effects of oxygen deficiency, reduced pressures and extremes of low temperature not only on the pilot and his crew but on the pilot-airplane-instrument team which goes to make up the efficient combat weapon.

At the great service technical centres, such as Wright Field, and in the plants of engine and aircraft manufacturers, apparatus is being multiplied for the study of high-altitude phenomena. In the remarkable laboratory at Great Neck, L.I., conditions encountered in the stratosphere up to an altitude of 60,000 feet can be simulated. Temperatures can be lowered to minus 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

Long before these extremes are reached as man climbs above the empire of the eagle, the blood bubbles, all reflexes slow down, even life can only be sustained by breathing pure oxygen. To fight a 400-mile-an-hour airplane at any altitude calls for the highest skills and co-ordination. To fight it at 30,000 feet and upward imposes additional handicaps upon the pilot, engine, instruments and airplane which can only be overcome by the patient research of the scientist and the physiologist in the pressure chamber and the refrigerated cell. Here they are helping not only to win the war but to blaze new trails for the safety of sky commerce in the days to come.

How Can I??

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make windows stay clean for a longer time?

A. Add a little vinegar to the water when cleaning the windows and they will remain clean much longer. And a little bluing added to the water will produce more brilliancy.

Q. How can I make a good cleanser for oilcloth?

A. By dissolving five ounces of melted paraffin in one pint of turpentine. Use a sponge and rub the oilcloth with this solution.

Q. How can I make a salve for chapped hands?

A. A remedy can be made by mixing ten drops of carbolic acid in one ounce of glycerine. Rub a small quantity into the hands and allow to dry.

Q. How can I make black putty.

A. Mix whiting and antimony sulphide (the latter finely powdered) with soluble glass. It is claimed that after hardening, this putty can be polished with a burnishing agate.

Q. How can I remove scratches from furniture?

A. Unless too deep, they can be removed by rubbing sweet oil into the scratches with a finger tip, then polishing with a soft cloth.

Q. How can I remove a cork that has been pushed down into a bottle?

A. Put enough ammonia in the bottle to float the cork and put away for a few days. The ammonia will eat or destroy the cork enough to permit its removal.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

1. Is it good form for a man to refer to his wife as "the missus"?

2. Should wedding invitations be sent to friends of the bridegroom, who are unknown to the bride?

3. What kinds of food may be placed on the table before the guests are seated?

4. Is it correct to say, "I haven't had time to write to you, because I have been so busy" when answering a letter after a long delay?

5. Does the family of the bride or that of the bridegroom, send out the wedding invitations and announcements?

6. Is it all right to break bread or crackers into the bowl when partaking of soup?

Answers

1. No; to acquaintances he should refer to her as "my wife" or as "Mrs. Blank," and to friends he should call her by her Christian name. 2. Yes; invitations should be sent to them even though the bride doesn't know them. 3. Olives, radishes, salted almonds, or any other similar relishes. 4. No, if you are embarrassed about the delay merely say that you are sorry. 5. This is the duty of the bride's family. 6. No; this is not good manners.

Have You Heard?

The bus was full, and the conductor was about to ring the bell, when the usual last man, puffing and blowing, jumped on board and started to climb to the upper deck.

"Here, you!" said the conductor curtly. "You can't go up there!"

"Why not?" retorted the passenger. "Isn't the top going?"

Jones: "I hear you bought a car cheap the other day. How are you getting on with it?"

Smith: "I'm just realizing how hard it is to drive a bargain."

Teacher: "Johnny, who was Anne Boleyn?"

Johnny: "Anne Boleyn was a flat iron."

Teacher: "What on earth do you mean?"

Johnny: "Well, it says in the history book, 'Henry, having disposed of Catherine, pressed his suit with Anne Boleyn.'"

"I've had all sorts of help this year," sighed the first farmer. "Good, bad, and indifferent."

And there was the Indian rope trick performer who was discharged from the navy because every time he climbed the rigging he disappeared.

She: "Here's a story of a man out west who bartered his wife for a horse. You wouldn't swap me for a horse, would you, darling?"

He: "Of course not (pause), but I'd hate to have anyone tempt me with a good motor car."

LANDING BOATS DODGE BOMBS IN NEW BRITAIN INVASION

This was a moment of tense drama on Bougainville, Jap snipers had ambushed this party of Marines in the jungle. The commander of the leading tank had been shot, and so had another Marine whose legs are visible in left foreground. Covered by three other men including Pfc. John V. Mahoney (whose face is visible) of Clinton, Conn., Pfc. Robert E. Lansley of Syracuse, N.Y. (crouching near tank) has crept ahead and picked off one of the snipers. Lansley, Mahoney and a trained dog also are credited with wiping out two strong Jap positions.
