Canadian Weekly Newspapers Render Great Patriotic Service

The weekly newspapers of Canada are rendering a fine service in helping to maintain morale on the fighting front and at home, says the Globe and Mail. Perusal of town and village papers reveals an inspiring interest in the welfare of the armed forces. They are giving leadership in every direction—cigarettes, socks and sweaters for the men who fight on land, on sea, and in the air; bundles for Britain, jam for British children, comforts for "bombed-outers." Steadily they support such worthy causes as the Kinsmen's Milk for Britain Fund, the Evening Telegram British War Victims Fund, and the Queen's Canadian Fund.

It would take columns to tell of the valuable work which the rural press of Canada has done to stimulate recruiting, to raise money for comforts, to sell Victory bonds, and the like. They have kept up a sustained effort since the commencement of the war. Many a lad fighting in Italy or France or sailing in the corvettes which guard the precious argosies crossing the Atlantic could testify to the pleasure he has been given by letters and parcels which might never have been sent but for the promptings of the weekly editors. Some of these editors fought in the Great War. They know what a letter from home means to a lad in a far country.

Canada is indeed fortunate in possessing a weekly press which is capable of rendering great patriotic service at such a time.

Sign Says 'Dive' If Doodle Dallies

One anti-aircraft battery in Southern England has a sign with this alliterative advice:

"If doodle dallies don't dawdle. Dive!"

"Doodle" is the British nickname for the Germans robot-bombs.

Lunch With Queen On 'Initiative' Task

Recently two British Army airborne sergeants were ordered to go to a country house and obtain the signature of the owner. The owner was out, but a woman's voice invited them in to lunch. They had lunch and left afterwards with a note which read: "This is to certify, that Sergeants — and — came here to obtain the signature of —. Unfortunately he was out." The note was signed by Queen Mary.

The order given to the two sergeants was an "initiative task" given to British Army personnel to test their resourcefulness and initiative in carrying out unusual orders. The men receive no suggestions on how to arrive at their destinations — they are merely told the time limits for their jobs.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

1. If one has unintentionally done something discourteous towards another person, would it be correct to say "excuse me"?
2. If an usher is at the entrance of the aisle when a woman and her escort are entering a theatre, which one should be first to follow the usher?
3. What would be a good method for indicating to the waiter that you have finished a course?
4. What would be a good way to cultivate taste in the choice of words and the phrasing of expressions, in order to become a good conversationalist?
5. Is it permissible to refuse some certain dish at a luncheon?
6. If a man is writing a friendly letter to some woman acquaintance or friend, what would be an appropriate closing?

ANSWERS

1. No; not if one desires to ask another's pardon. "Excuse me" should be used only when one is asking permission to leave the room, or go somewhere.
2. The usher goes first, then the woman, and last her escort. If there is no usher, the man should go first.
3. Place the knife on the plate, blade in, alongside the fork. The best method of acquiring a pleasing vocabulary is the reading of good books of established literary standing.
4. No; as a luncheon usually consist of just a few dishes, it would not be considerate to refuse any. It can be done occasionally at a large dinner where there is a great variety of dishes.
5. "Faithfully yours," or, "Sincerely yours."

Formerly Useless Cattails Go To War

Cattails, which grow by the thousands in marshlands, once were looked upon as decorative but useless plants. Now, however, they are doing their part in the war.

The floss has been found to be more buoyant than kapok and 90 per cent as warm as wool. It is used as filling for cushions of Army ordnance amphibious jeeps, and can serve as life preservers.

After meals — it didn't bother me for a few hours, then, if I ate something, it stopped, coming again after some time. The pain bothered me worst at night. After taking three bottles of Dr. McLeod's Stomachic, I was free from pain. I kept on improving, and have now been well for several years enjoying my meals without trouble.
