Firestone VITAMIC RUBBER

Just as stainless steels stop rust and corrosion, Vitamic rubber stops weather-checking caused by sunlight, ozone or other conditions. In addition to having better aging properties, Vitamic rubber gives greater strength, longer wear, greater toughness and more resistance to heat. All Firestone tires are made of this new and better rubber. Insist on having them on your car when you obtain a tire ration certificate.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

September 24
RELIGION IN THE LIFE OF A NATION
2 Samuel 7
PRINTED TEXT, 3 Samuel 7:17-23.
GOLDEN TEXT.—Jehovah will be with thee an everlasting light, and thy God the Glory, Isaiah 60:19.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 60:1-22.
Register Topic: For God's House.
Lesson Material: 2 Samuel 7.
Memory Verse: I was glad when thou saidst unto me, Let us go into the house of Jehovah, Psalm 122:1.
THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING
Time.—Inasmuch as our lesson does not contain any data for determining exactly in what part of David's reign these events occurred, except that they were before the birth of Solomon, it is difficult to assign a particular year for the episode here described. Generally speaking, we believe the events did not occur far from the year 990 B.C.
Place.—While other towns are mentioned in our lesson, the principal city here is Jerusalem.
Revelation From God.
"According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so did Nathan speak unto David," Nathan told David all that had been revealed to him by God. A vision is to be distinguished as a method of revelation from a dream.
Then David the king went in, and sat before Jehovah; and he said, who am I, O Lord Jehovah, and what is my house, that thou blended for me thus far?" David is asking what merit there is in him that Jehovah should have blessed him so richly up till this moment. He felt he was totally unworthy of such consideration. He owed all to God's grace.

Source of All Blessing
"And this was yet a small thing in thine eyes, O Lord Jehovah; but thou hast spoken also of thy servant's house for a great while to come; and this too after the manner of men, O Lord Jehovah." God had done great things for David in the past, but this was a small thing in God's sight, he thought, and with what He now promised to do for the house of David.
"And what can David say more unto thee? for thou knowest thy servant, O Lord Jehovah. For thy word's sake, and according to thine own heart, hast thou wrought all this greatness, to make thy servant know it." It is God who, out of the goodness of his heart, has planned all these blessings for the house of David. God has wrought great things for David to let him know that he loved him and cared for him.
The Greatness of God
"Wherefore saith the Lord, O Jehovah God: for there is none like thee . . . and thou, Jehovah, becomest their God." God manifested his power in Israel's behalf in wonderful ways, when he brought them out of Egypt and destroyed their foes by a great miracle. In manner, He caused water to gush forth from a smitten rock, and destroyed their enemies and caused them to possess the land of Canaan. He healed their diseases, and out of any deliverance wrought by his deity to be compared with God's amazing deliverance of His chosen people.
David's Prayer
"And now, O Jehovah God, the word that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant, and with which thou hast blessed me, let it be fulfilled for me, O Lord Jehovah. For thou art God, and thou overthirst all the foes of Israel and unto Him belongeth all praise.
The words of men often prove to be false. Some deliberately choose to speak falsely; others speak in good faith and make promises but fail to fulfill them, sometimes through forgetfulness, or other times through circumstances beyond their control. But David knew he was dealing with One whose essential character is truth. Because David knew God was faithful and true he could rest in His promises. If we only believed more deeply that God's words and promises are true, and their fulfillment is sure, what a difference it would make in our lives.

Sapphires and Diamonds

by DOROTHY TROWBRIDGE

SYNOPSIS
Peggy Horton, working off her temper knocking balls about the golf course, shatters the windshield of a parked automobile. Harry Wilson, the owner, insists that she tell him what is wrong. Her school roommate that she is engaged. Now the roommate is coming to visit her. Really Peggy is a successful screen star. Her grandmother that she never meets any boys — and isn't engaged. Her sister, Maxine Trueheart, is a successful screen star. The young man insists that Peggy borrow the ring his fiancée has just returned and pretend it is her engagement ring.

CHAPTER III
Peggy turned to walk up the road to the main entrance of Rosewood, but she had gone only a few feet when she heard the honk honk of an automobile horn behind her. She glanced quickly to the side of the road she turned her head to see if it were Harry returning. A reader, which she did not recognize was glowing down and stopped beside her. She thought at first that the car was occupied solely by flashing teeth and a small moustache, so conscious was she of the engaging smile that met her upward glance. Then she realized that that was only part of a very sunburned face in which bright brown eyes were regarding her admiringly. And that's what it belonged to a man around twenty-five or six, she quickly judged. She had a sudden vision of the fun it would be to ride along an open road with a man like that.
"I beg your pardon," he interrupted her ridiculous thoughts. "But could you tell me where I could find the Horton place?"
"The Horton place?" Peggy repeated in astonishment. Who on earth was he?
"Yes, Horton. Didn't you ever hear of them? Old family, large place, and I am sure it is around here some place. I thought maybe you could tell me just where."
"I can," Peggy was somewhat nettled at this brief summary of her family and home by a stranger. "This is the Horton place in here."
"Is it really?" he asked raising his eyebrows in surprise. "You know that that I should have driven right to it?" He looked toward the house and gave a low whistle of delight. "It surely is a beauty, isn't it? That's what I call real Colonial. I'd like to just pick it up, as it is, and take it away with me. Thank you so much," he added as he settled himself behind the wheel and drove on.
Peggy watched him curiously, thinking of his surprise when she should follow him into Rosewood. But instead of turning in at the gates, he drove on past them. Suddenly the car came to an abrupt halt and began to back. But he passed the gates, and only stopped when he had again reached her side.
"Could I give you a lift?" he asked. "I'm going as far as the town — what's its name?"
"Marbleville is the name of the town," Peggy replied with dignity, "and I don't care for a ride."

Nazi 'Big Guns' Just Stove Pipes

Four "heavy coastal guns" ranged directly on the Allies' forces that took the Island of Levant, in the invasion of southern France, proved to be two pieces of stove piping, a large piece of twisted cardboard and a piece of twisted cardboard painted to resemble a gun muzzled.

This was disclosed by a Canadian naval officer, Sub. Lieut. Scott Young. "This heap of rubbish was taken without a single casualty," he said.

About 40 prisoners were taken. Most were Poles, who first feebly ever the heads of the landing parties. Then they helped the Allies to carry ashore supplies and ammunition and then pointed out the mine fields.
