Scot Outscotched

We hope no Scot will get mad at us, as we don't vouch for the yarn, through it comes from the hitherto reliable Emerson Journal: "A blood transfusion was needed by a lady in a hospital and a brawny Scot volunteered. She paid him $25 for the first pint and $12 for the second. The third time, she had so much Scotch blood in her she just thanked him." —Ottawa Citizen

Specialized Staff Ready To Handle Repatriation Job

The first of 2,000 specialized workers - their number may rise o 10,000 - are being concentrated on Germany's borders ready handle the greatest repatriation problem in history, UNRRA officials have disclosed.

The problem is that of returning home some 12,000,000 European nationals taken into Germa-

So great is the task, one UN-RRA official said, that one train every hour would be needed to move all the displaced persons within 18 months. That is impossible, and it may require two to three years to complete the re-

Assembly areas will be established at certain points in occu-pied Germany, and displaced persons will be brought to them for identification and questioning.

The Jade God MARY IMLAY TAYLOR

CHAPTER XII

Pam had ordered her little tea-table carried into the library. She rarely made tea there unless Burleson asked it, but today he was out and the great fireplace tempted her. It was a gray day and the leap of the fire would be like the heart of a welcome — warm and bright. It was nearly five o'clock. She had barely time to give a few more barely time to give a few more dainty touches to her tea-table. Her eye caught the glimmer of the green jade god on her uncle's library table. The sight of it re-called his face yesterday, the sudden red streak between his brows; she rious little green image, its uncan-ny, elfish face, its pointed beard, green as seaweed, its perfect hands. squatted as an Oriental god gleamed on its bald jade head. Suddenly fancy seized her; she lifted it and put it gently down on her table beside the flowers.

"Uncle can lend it to me for an hour anyway," she thought, and glancing again at the clock, forgot Company ( Company)

She held out a frank hand. "I'm so glad you could come!" she said; "I thought it might be hard for you to find the time."

He straightened up, his haggard eyes met hers. "My God, I — I can't do that!" he cried brokenly: "I'm a coward — I can't do that!"

But she was silent, waiting. The girl's quiet attitude, the curve of her cheek turned toward him, gave no hint of the turmoil in her own mind. MASCOT OF THE IRISH

Canadians in Italy have many types of mascots with their regiments. One of the most common to be seen in rest areas are Italian youngsters ranging in age from 6 to 12 years, decked out in real Canadian uniforms. Some have even acquired the rank of Corporal and Sergeant. They may be seen strutting through the streets with grown-up soldiers and here is little Remo, mascot of the Irish Regiment of Canada, examining the bugle of Bandsman James Bennett of Toronto.

It will be nearly a month be fore our baby chickens arrive - and when they come they will be sexed pullets. Partner and I never agree when the time comes each year to order chickens. Partner a ways wants plenty of cockerels. would rather be without male bird altogether and raise only pullets. However we generally compromise by ordering mixed chickens. But this year we are both having our own way. We are getting pullets in March and cockerels in May. I always say that by having both sexes together the cockerels are raised at the expense of the pullets, even when they are too young to be separated.
