'SEA MULE' ON THE RHINE

First one to be launched on the Rhine River, the "sea mule" in the photo above was backed into the water off a trailer on which it was transported 'cross-country. The "mule" was used by Allies to tow tugs and haul heavy engineering supplies.

Map above shows Bavarian Alps area of southern Germany where top Nazi leaders expect to hold out, according to their secret "Plan K," uncovered by noted author Curt Riess in a daring trip into unoccupied Germany. He reports that 100,000 picked troops are already in the Reduit. Nazi big shots, according to Riess, have already moved into the hideaways indicated on map. The escape plan is said to be of long standing, but decision to put it into operation, with a zero hour set, was made at a meeting of Hitler, Himmler and Wehrmacht generals at Berchtesgaden on March 29.
