BAILEY BRIDGE OVER THE RHINE

Built by Canadian Army engineers, this Bailey Bridge across the Rhine is shown shortly after it was opened to traffic. The small sign in the left foreground tells the distance that must be maintained between each vehicle so as not to overload any one portion of the bridge.

THREE PULLET CHICKS PER 100 saved, outwelghs any price difference. Here is something to consider in choosing your chicks. If you lose three pullet chicks you don't go back and get three more. You go on with what you have left, short three layers which would likely make you 2,00 per bird over feed cost their first laying year. If by purchaging livable chicks such as Tweddes you can raise just three more pullets per 100 chicks started there's enough income right there to cancel out any difference in the first cost of the chicks. Send for Twedde catalogue and greatly reduced prices for May and June chicks. Also I week old started chicks and older pullets for immediate delivery. How To Control Garden Cutworm

Poisoned Bait and Tin Cans Combat Attacks of Cutworms

Success in the production of garden vegetables crops depend good deal upon protection from the early attacks of cutworms. As soon as the soil warms up and weed growth commences, cutworms be-come active. A week before the first garden crops are planted, the soil surface, if caked, should be broken up and a poisoned bait made of bran, 25 lb.; Paris green, 1 lb.; and 3 gallons of water should be broadast at the rate of 15-20 lb. of the dry material per acre. Select a warm evening and spread the bait before darkness comes on. Do not spread the bait on a cold day. For city gardens, use the bait at the rate of one teaspoonful of Paris green to one teaspoonint of Paris green to one quart of bran, and moisten with water. Transplants may be protected by dipping them in a mixture of 3 onnees of lead For small gardens, tin cans with arsenate to a gallon of water before setting the transplants in the soil. both ends cut out and placed over the plants, and pushed well down in the soil, will give protection. The cans may be removed before the plants get too large to slip through. The cans can then be strung on a wire and hung up for next season.
