JOBS ASSURED BEFORE DEMOBILIZATION

A Square Deal for Veterans Assured by Progressive Conservatives

The very first clause of the Progressive Conservative plans for the re-establishment of Veterans, adopted at the National Convention of December, 1942, is as follows:—

DEMOBILIZATION

In carrying out the demobilization of Canada's Armed Forces the primary consideration should be the interest of those who have served. Demobilization should be based on the principle that members of the Armed Forces should not be discharged until their economic security is assured by placement in gainful employment or by assisted training and education to that end.

Here, in this simple statement of progressive, realistic policy is the only true solution of the fundamental problem by which every ex-service man and woman is faced. It is the only assurance of a square deal for all veterans. It is the very basis of the Rehabilitation Policies of the Progressive Conservative Party. No veteran will be discharged against his will until he is assured of a decent livelihood.

"Platitudes will not fill empty stomachs," declares John Bracken, "nor generalities provide jobs for those who have fought, nor wordy declamations about sacrifice ease the load of the widows and children whose husbands and fathers gave life itself that we might live in peace and security."

Throughout the war, Canadian service men and women have had their fill of platitudes and generalities.

Let our veterans now ask themselves this question. Does the spirit of political partisanship which the King Government has consistently manifested in time of war, offer any assurance of a "square deal" for veterans in time of peace? Does the iniquitous manpower policy which split Canada apart reflect the right spirit? Remember in war, as in peace, political policies infallibly indicate party principles.

It is significant that more than half of the Progressive Conservative candidates are service and ex-service men. No other party can even approach this record. These men know that no other party has such realistic and comprehensive plans for rehabilitation. They know that the Progressive Conservative Party is the service men's party.

They know that John Bracken, father of three sons on active service, understands the problems, the hopes and the fears of veterans.

They say, with John Bracken

"The cost of winning the war and the cost of re-establishing those who fought in it, is one and indivisible. In the plainest words at my command, I say to you that nothing short of full-time gainful employment for every man and woman who has worn the Canadian uniform will be acceptable. Every man and woman must be given an opportunity to earn a good living. If existing enterprise cannot do this, the State must, and will."

These service and ex-service candidates, with John Bracken, pledge themselves that, under no circumstances, will existing benefits to veterans be lessened. On the contrary, they will be increased and extended.

They, with John Bracken, pledge themselves to revise an out-moded pensions act, to humanize its administration, to eliminate red tape and inexcusable delays. Pension rates will be reviewed at once and increased to bring them in line with higher living costs.

Under a Progressive Conservative government, recorded condition of personnel on enlistment will be accepted as sufficient proof in determining disability pension. The veteran will be entitled to the benefit of the doubt.

The "first in, first out" principle will be followed on demobilization—with a job at decent pay assured to the veteran when he returns to "civvy" street.

In the words of our leader, we of the Progressive Conservative Party, "accept the challenge to demonstrate to you who fought that you shall not be handicapped in days of peace because you responded to the nation's call in days of war."

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

(View of Mr. Oliver's Past Record)

1. Will you trust the man who couldn't find 50% of the cost of secondary education in 1938, to fulfil his pledge of 90% now?
2. Is the man who used Provincial Police to "negotiate" labor disputes going to promote the welfare of Post-War labor in a shrinking market?
3. Is the Hepburn government that maintained Hydro rates at a record high and failed to provide Hydro for rural areas in anticipation of war-time needs—is this government capable of planning and carrying out the tremendous essential post-war programme?
4. How many County roads did Mr. Oliver provide for the farmers of Grey? Do you want them guaranteeing your markets and prices in the post-war scramble?
5. Did it occur to Hepburn-Oliver to sell the surplus goods of Ontario in Britain? Who closed London House when our markets were already shrunk in half?
6. Is it any wonder Messrs. Hepburn-Oliver can't understand the wisdom of a policy of immigration which brings to this Province a market for our surplus products?
7. How else can we guarantee jobs for our returning Veterans?
8. What has Drew to offer that promises more? What basis is there to expect better of him than Hepburn?
