Grapes and raspberries show satisfactory promise, but below-average yields are indicated for apples, cherries, peaches, pears and plums. Strawberries are giving a good return.

Former Glenelg Boy Named President Bankers' Assoc.

The following article clipped from The Bonners Ferry Herald has reference to a former Glenelg boy, J. H. McNally, son of Mrs. Frank L. Cizner of Bonners Ferry, Idaho, and grandson of the late James Hall. Mr. McNally has a number of relatives still living in Glenelg and Holland who will be glad to know his success in the business world. He is the first man from the two northern counties of the state to be elected to the head of the state banks organization.

The clipping in part follows: J. H. McNally, cashier of the First National Bank of Bonners Ferry, was named president of the Idaho State Bankers' Association at a meeting of the group's executive committee at Boise in June.

Mr. McNally, who returned home Sunday from the Boise meeting, is the first bank officer of Boundary or Bonner counties to be elected head of the state bankers' organization. He has been with the First National Bank of Bonners Ferry for 21 years and has served as cashier of the institution for 18 years.

Veteran Curler Led The Canadian Champions

J. Edgar Rutledge, son of the late Edgar Rutledge formerly of Markdale and nephew of the late C. W. Rutledge, one-time editor of this paper, recently led his rink of curlers to victory by winning eight straight games to cop the premier event of the Third Annual St. Paul Mid-summer Bouspiel and won much publicity for the town of Fort William. The coveted Hill trophy and four Kennedy wool lined coats with parka hoods were the prizes they brought home.

The Fort William Daily Times-Journal has this to say of the rink, and its 74-year-old skip.

"You put up the best demonstration of curling ever seen in St. Paul," said Dr. A. E. Venables, president of the St. Paul Curling Club, sponsors of the St. Paul mid-summer bouspiel, in offering congratulations to the J. Edgar Rutledge, Fort William rink, winners of the St. Paul Winter Carnival Association and premier event, of which the Hill trophy is emblematic. Special tribute was also paid the Veteran Rutledge by Robert G. Dillon, St. Paul, chairman of the bouspiel committee, who remarked, "You're tops as a skip and sized up the keen ice better than any other skip here." It was glaze surface with no pebble being possible.

Commenting upon the success of his rink himself J. Edgar Rutledge said, "I don't know when I've seen a rink curl any better. We were all on and credit to one is credit to the other, although I do think E. Boissy deserves special mention for the exceptionally good game he curled as lead." Rutledge went on to say that they won eight straight games in copping the major event, featuring 28 outside rinks including the famous Ken Watson's winning quartet, and 18 home rinks for a total of 46.

Ben Peoples, writing in the St. Paul Pioneer Press, commented:

"J. Edgar Rutledge, 74-year-old veteran curler of Fort William, Ont., carried the St. Paul Mid-summer curling championship back across the Canadian line by defeating Carl Mannheim Monday night, 18-1, in the final game of the championship event at the St. Paul Auditorium. "After scoring two points in each of the first three ends in their match on Monday night, Rutledge played a seemingly perfect game of curling and with Mannheim slightly off form, the veteran came through with the title and the Hill cup, won last year by the Bob Dillon rink of St. Paul. Sharing Rutledge's honours were the other three members of his excellent rink, E. R. Boissy, lead; E. H. Dixon, second, and Frank Snow, third. "Rutledge began curling in Canada in 1902 and during the bouspiel here, wore a gold watch he won for first place in the Winnipeg bouspiel in 1907."

Mrs. Hugh Knott

The community was deeply moved to hear of the passing of Mrs. Hugh Knott in the Markdale Hospital on Thursday afternoon, July 5th. After spending the winter in Toronto with her daughter, she had returned to her home here about the first of June apparently in good health and it was only recently that she took seriously ill so that her passing came as a shock to many friends throughout the district.

Born in the neighbouring village of Heathcote, her maiden name was Helen Cruickshank. She received her early education in the village school, later attending Collingwood Collegiate. She taught for a time in the Heathcote school and sang in the choir of the Presbyterian Church there and later in the choir of Cooke's Presbyterian Church, Markdale.

Mrs. Knott was first married to Edwin Boyd who died in 1915, and about fifteen years ago she married the late Hugh Knott who predeceased her in 1942. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Saul, of Meaford, and the two children of her first marriage, a son, Ewart, of Thornbury vicinity, and a daughter, Miss Marion, a teacher in Toronto.

The funeral on Sunday afternoon, July 8, was held from her home on Wellington Street with interment in Thornbury Union Cemetery. In charge of the services was Rev. Dr. Howard of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Thornbury. Pallbearers were: Messrs. Silas Hill, W. J. Plewes, M. C. Richards, Major W. E. Harris, Dr. J. A. McArthur, and Dr. L. G. Campbell. The lovely floral tributes were reflections of the kindness and love which the late Mrs. Knott had shown throughout her life.

Friends from a distance attending the funeral included her sister, Mrs. Caroline Saul of Meaford; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cruickshank, Mr. and Mrs. S. Refausse, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lundy, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lundy, Mr. and Mrs. Ainslie Arlidge, Miss Mabel Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mercer, all of Toronto; Inspector Geo. E. Pentland of Hanover, as well as many from Thornbury, Meaford, and Heathcote.

Nassau Agnew

The death of Nassau B. Agnew occurred in Toronto on Wednesday, July 4, 1945, following a paralytic stroke suffered the evening previous. Born in Alliston, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Agnew. He was married to the former Fannie Wilson of Markdale, and lived the first years of their married life in Dundalk. The funeral on Thursday was held from McDougall and Brown chapel where Rev. F. N. Bowes, formerly of Markdale, was in charge of the service. Interment was made in the family plot on Friday, where burial service was conducted by Rev. W. M. Lee of Annesley Church.

Besides his three children, Russell, Oliver and Nora (Mrs. Rupert Seabrook) of Ottawa, who attended the funeral, he is survived by three grand children. A son, Gordon, predeceased him some years ago.
