Puzzled — No Wonder

Lieut. John F. Johnson thought it was mildly amusing when the first of a group of nine replacement seamen reported to his auxiliary ship recently, saluted, and said:

"Johnson reporting for duty, sir."

When the second man said the same thing, he was slightly puzzled, and when it happened a third time he asked:

"Is this a joke?"

Johnson No. 3 grinned and answered:

"If we're a joke there are six more of us behind me, sir!"

Ten Johnson on the one ship, The Anacapa, made her personnel more than 10 per cent Johnson.

Too Often

A millowner had strong objections to granting concessions to his workpeople.

One day one of the oldest hands approached him. "I want next Friday off, sir," he said.

"What for?"

"Well, you see, it's like this. It's my silver wedding, and me and the missus is going to have a bit of a do."

"Oh, aye," said the employer. "And is this going to happen every twenty-five years?"

Och, Aye

"Weel, Angus," said Donald, "I hear ye've got married?"

"Ay, Donald."

"An whit kind of wife hae ye got? Can she cook?"

"No, I don't think so."

"Can she sew?"

"No."

"Then whit can she do?"

"Man, Donald, she's a grand singer."

"Ach, mon, ye're daft," said Donald in disgust. "Widna a canary hae been cheaper?"

Unkind Reminder

She was fat and over forty, but she was still kittenish. The young man she had corned at the party was thinking hard for some excuse to escape.

At last he murmured, "Do you remember the youngster who used to tickle you under the chin at school?"

"Oh," she exclaimed, gushingly, "to that's who you are!"

"Oh, no," said he, blandly. "That was my father."

"If there were five flies on the chair and I killed one," the teacher asked the class, "how many would there be left?"

"One" answered a voice from the back. "The dead one."

Who's Crooked?

The scene was the interior of a saloon in the far west, and round the tables were gathered as tough a gang as could be found in the whole of California. The game was fast and furious, the stakes were high.

Suddenly the dealer flung his cards on the table and threateningly pulled out his six-gun.

"Boys," he shouted, "the game ain't a straight one! Slippery Sam ain't playing the hand I dealt him!"
