Thanks!

The offlicers and members of the Markdale Rotary Club wish to express their appreciation for the splendid support given their recent Street Frolic, and to express sincere thanks to all those who generously helped out in the booths and in other capacities which added to the success of the affair.

Reunion at Meaford, is one from a generous 'old boy' who states he has $20,000 in Canadian Government bonds, which he will take back (when he attends the Reunion) to be used to build a medical clinic and hospital. The bonds will be deposited in a Meaford bank, to the order of the committee, "provided the town and district and other subscribers can raise sufficient money to complete a modern institution." The letter from one who wishes no publicity in the matter states that he was deeply impressed with the invitation to be at the reunion in Meaford August 3rd-8th.

LADY KILLS RATTLESNAKE

Miss Dora Munro, while working in the garden at her home on Gould St. Monday morning, had cause for alarm when a good sized rattlesnake appearance of the comment of the scene only to meet a bitter end. Miss Munro refused to back up from the reptile and pinned it to the ground with a well-aimed poke of astick. ## Dangerous Corner at Ba head Needs Improving

Now that motor traffic is showing a steady increase, it would seem well to direct some caution to all dangerous crossings, narrow roads and bridges and sharp turns and corners, that are bound to be the scene of accidents in the days ahead. As it is the duty of Provincial Highway patrol men to keep scad signs and railings in repair, it seems just as important locally that all greats in the totarshing should be seems just as important total that all roads in the townships should be carefully looked after and the danger at certain corners lessened.

Driving west from town we get the first reminder at Barhead corner. This is a much travelled road, and yet for years it has been the scene of narrow years it has been the scene of narrow and several collisions that years it has been the seers to instruc-escapes, and several collisions that have fortunately not been fatal. This prempts the suggestion that NOW would be the best time to improve the visibility here and carry out any means of prevention which would at least reduce the accidents to a minimum, a may even save a life.

For many years this curve on one side and a steep incline on the other has been a 'headache' to all who travel there, and an accident reported this Wednesday morning is a fresh remind-

In Ontario, orchards have recovered considerably from the severe damage caused by frost and scab in the 1945 season. The 1946 crop is expected to be about average, while an above-average peach crop is looked for. The prospects for the plum and prune crop are still in doubt but pears and cherries will not be as good as the bloom indicated because of late frost damage. Strawberry production will be heavier than last season, the increase ranging from 5 to 10 per cent in Western Ontario to 20 per cent in Eastern Ontario. Raspberries are about the same as last

"Contour" Farming Grows In Favour

Progressive farmers are getting excellent results from contour farming. They have found that this reduces soil washing and the flooding of fertile bottom lands; conserves soil, water, seed, fertilizer; and saves tractor

Your agricultural college or experimental station offers advice in a programme of contour farming. And this valuable service, which helps you get more from your land, is yours for the asking.

The Bank of Toronto also offers an important service to farmers-the service of money. Now, as during the past 91 years, this Bank's friendly, experienced branch managers are ready to aid responsible farmers with loans and timely financial advice.

Cliff. Oliver, Proprietor WE DELIVE A bathroom, they say, is like a horse's tee'h—it's a dead giveaway on age. It's a dead giveaway on your interior decorating ability, too, unless it can present a charmingly gay appearance within the close confinement of its none-too-large space. Guests may take the color scheme of the rest of your home in stride without giving it much thought; but they are almost bound to be impressed, one way or another, with the bathroom coloring. For that matter, so are you. The color scheme of your bathroom has a great deal to do with your morning mood, your humor for the whole day as a matter of fact. Dull tones, inharmoniously combined, have a depressing effect on you whether you are conscious of the fact or not. By the same token, the gay and sprightly bathroom is a morale builder for the whole family.
