"Glass," made when heat from an atom bomb fused sand of the New Mexico desert, in July, 1945, test gives off radioactive waves. This was demonstrated recently at the American Museum of Natural History in New York. In a series of tests, a small key was placed between the atomic glass and an unexposed photographic film in a light-proof box. After 34 hours' exposure, the film was developed and showed a picture of the "glass." taken by its own radioactive rays, with the black shadow of the key in sharp silhouette.

U.S. Price Lid Off

The United States Congress has ossed overboard all price and rent ontrols. The way is open for unbridled inflation, and there are many dire predictions of what will happen with the rein taken off

The first day without price control found most prices holding to their OPA levels. However, livestock prices rose to record highs. Rents rose in some areas as muc as 33 1/3 per cent.

President Truman in a nationwide broadcast made the following three-way appeal: To the voters-to make known to the lawmakers their determination "to retain price controls and so prevent inflation." To congress opprevent intlation. To congress —to speed temporary extension of the powers of OPA and then "pass workable bill." To business—to "exercise self restraint" against skyrocketing of prices until congress acts. The Federal Government of Canada it was authoritively stated in Ottawa, has decided to stand firm in the matter of maintaining its present price ceilings, despite disbanding of price ceiling admintration in the United States.

'FLYING PANCAKE' IS A WHIZ

The United States Navy has announced successful experimental flights of a radically new fighter plane, shaped like a pancake, able to hover at almost standstill speed or whiz along at from 425 to 500 miles per hour. How Great Britain

New figures on the cost of the war to Great Britain have been given out in London.

Hitherto, presumably because
Lend-Lease and Mutual Aid were so lavishly advertised in public discussions, it has been assumed that these formed the major part of Britain's war finance. But, ac of Britain's war finance. But, ac-tually, it now turns out that, apart from the United Kingdom's tre-mendous financial resources, it was the financial power of the British Commonwealth, joined to that of the so-called "sterling area," which provided the British Government with the larger share of the money supplies, and mutual of the money, supplies, and mutual aid it required for the most costly war ever fought, says The Strat-ford Beacon-Herald.

Here are the figures: The total cost of the war to the United Kingdom was, in dollar equivalent, $88,800,000,000. The net United States Lend-Lease, loans and purchases of British securities, less the Reverse British securities, less the Receise Lend-Lease and Mutual Aid transactions, totalled $12,300,000,000.

But the loans, supplies, purchases of British securities and other assistance given by the Do-minions, India and the colonies came to $5,103,000,000, and the balances of the "sterling area" countries left in London brought the total up to $17.356,600,000.

Britain In Race For World Trade

For every five dollars' worth of imported goods, the United King-dom now exports four dollars' worth. The export driv., backed by the high measure of self dis-cipline accepted by the British people, suggests that the volume of goods sent abroad by the end of the year, will reach the figure which the labor government has fixed as imperative for economic recovery, says The Ottawa Citizen. Before the war Great Britain bought more from the rest of the world than any other country. If she is to maintain her position in the post-war world, she must sell overseas.on a far bigger scale than ever before. Consequently, apart from essential foodstuffs much of which is exported to Europe, her main imports to-day are raw materials and equipment for the manufacture of goods to be sold to the rest of the world.

Luxuries must wait until she has stepped up her export trade to almost twice the pre-war level. There is still a shortage of a mil-

Britain Plans To Blow Island Out of the Water

The British, who have long be plagued by Heligoland, have de-cided to take drastic measures against that rock, "pointing like a dagger at England," says The New York Herald Tribune. They simply propose to blow it out of the water—which is less difficult than might appear, since Heligo-land has only been preserved against the inroads of the sea by rather heroic measures.
