Psalm 119:33-38; Matt. 5:43-48 Golden Text - "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: therefore, love is the fulfilling of the law."—

The humble seeker, moved by faith in God, trusts that He will teach him, studies God's Word prayerfully, and willingly learns. What God teaches us we are to put into action.

standing. Not only will he con-cern himself with the letter of the law, but with its spirit. He will his heart's tendency to perverse-ness. He is willing to accept the discipline of the Lord.

The vanities of the world will pervert those who are not estab-lished in God's Word. It is the acceptance of the authority of God's Word that begets in us a whole-some fear. It is a reverential awe in our attitude foward God by neans of which we fear to displease, grieve or offend Him.

The Law of the Kingdom Love should go out to all, friend and enemy alike. By loving our enemies we shall ourselves be sons of God, for the son is like the father, and this is the way the Heavenly Father acts — He re-turns blessing for cursing kinturns blessing for cursing, kir i-ness for hate. To love them who love us is no indication of grace even the publicans do the same. The Perfection of God

The perfection of God is held up as our standard. The immediate reference is to perfection in love; loving enemies as well as friends, bad as well as good. But it is clearly implied that in all things God's character is our standard.

The final exhort shall be like God. If God can bestow on the worst of men-His providence and grace, who are we to withhold charity to others. It is the longsuffering of God which at last wins many to repentance. If we only stop to think of the tender mercies of our God we shall be immediately moved to scorn our own pettiness and censorious attitudes toward others. Only thus can we be perfect as our Father in Heaven is perfect.
