

The Quality Tea "SALADA" TEA

TREASURE OF THE SEA

By George E. Walsh

CHAPTER V
Dick walked slowly forward again, keeping a more watchful eye in the direction of the lugger, and listening for any strange sound.

Four times he made his circuit and met Rose, who reported everything quiet and peaceful on the fifth floor, he was delayed a little by a noise in the water that sounded suspicious.

When he reached their meeting point, she was not in sight. He waited impatiently for her, but when she did not appear he grew anxious. There was a chance that his own delay had caused the trouble. She had not waited for him.

"I missed you," he exclaimed in a whisper, "and I couldn't go back until I was sure."

"You shouldn't have done that," she growled. "Something may have happened forward while you were here."

"I'll hurry back," he replied in relief. "But wait for me on the next trip. I must know you're safe."

She nodded, and Dick hurried to make up for lost time. In his haste he forgot to take the lugger along with more speed than caution. He was still thinking of the sail when a black shadow rose up to confront him. Startled and not sure that it wasn't an optical illusion, he paused instead of raising his gun to fire an alarm.

That momentary hesitation was his misfortune. By the time he was convinced a burly Carib was facing him on the deck of the schooner, two other dark forms had sprung out of the plough back of him. Dick raised his gun to shoot, but a hand knocked it upward, while one of the more powerful hairy arms of Black Burley encircled his neck and crushed the wind out of him.

Dick heard the crash of his own gun in the air, and an echo of it another aft.

He fought with all the ferocity of one imbued by a higher instinct than self-preservation. Biting, kicking and kicking he gave his burly antagonist more than he bargained for. There was an even chance of his wriggling away from the powerful arms when another Carib tripped him, and brought him to the deck with a crash.

In falling his head struck something hard and unyielding. A shower of stars flashed before his eyes, and with a sigh he lapsed into unconsciousness.

When Dick recovered, and his wits returned to him, the Caribs were in full possession of the schooner. He needed no further verification of this than his own helpless condition. Trussed up se-curly, he was lying on his back, with his face turned up to the moonless sky.

A groan escaped his lips—a groan of mental agony. Their enemies had taken the schooner so easily that their defense seemed like a farce.

He groaned again. This time a foot prodded him in the ribs, and a black face was thrust into his. Dick recognized the crafty one of Captain Tezu, leering with triumph. Dick stared at him.

"Where's Captain Bedford's daughter?" he asked. "Did she get hurt?"

Tezu smiled cruelly, realizing he had the more useful weapon of torture in his hands. "She ain't dead neither," he grinned. "We're keepin' her in the cabin—me an' Black Burley."

The intended significance of the words aroused Dick to fury. "If you hurt her, Tezu," he said slowly, "or insult her you'll pay with your life. This is war between you and me. Leave her out of it. I promise?" he asked, smiling warily.

"Anything you ask," Tezu said, "I'll stick to 'bargain, an' I show me where them jewels was dropped overboard."

"Yes," Tezu said, "I'll stick to 'bargain, an' I show me where them jewels was dropped overboard."

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Les

1. Is it proper when writing a four-page social letter, to write on the first page, then the fourth, followed by the second and third?

2. Are the water glasses filled after the guests are seated at the table, or before the meal is announced?

3. Are wedding announcements sent to those who are invited to the wedding?

4. Should one interrupt what is apparently an interesting conversation between two persons in order to introduce a third person?

5. Is it ill-bred to top with the silver or more a glass around on the table during a meal?

6. After returning home from a visit, should one send courtesy letters to anyone besides the hostess?

Answers

1. No. Such irregular sequence is both confusing and silly. Suggesting a publisher would print a book in this manner. Would we read it? Write on the first page, second, third, and fourth in regular order.

2. The glasses should be filled about two-thirds full a few minutes before calling the guests to the table.

3. No. Announcements are sent only to those who are not invited to the wedding. 4. No: one should wait until there is a pause in the conversation. 5. Yes: to any friends of the hostess who have entertained you or shown you special courtesies.

6. Yes. Such irregular sequence is both confusing and silly. Suggesting a publisher would print a book in this manner. Would we read it? Write on the first page, second, third, and fourth in regular order.

2. The glasses should be filled about two-thirds full a few minutes before calling the guests to the table.

3. No. Announcements are sent only to those who are not invited to the wedding. 4. No: one should wait until there is a pause in the conversation. 5. Yes: to any friends of the hostess who have entertained you or shown you special courtesies.

6. Yes. Such irregular sequence is both confusing and silly. Suggesting a publisher would print a book in this manner. Would we read it? Write on the first page, second, third, and fourth in regular order.

2. The glasses should be filled about two-thirds full a few minutes before calling the guests to the table.

3. No. Announcements are sent only to those who are not invited to the wedding. 4. No: one should wait until there is a pause in the conversation. 5. Yes: to any friends of the hostess who have entertained you or shown you special courtesies.

6. Yes. Such irregular sequence is both confusing and silly. Suggesting a publisher would print a book in this manner. Would we read it? Write on the first page, second, third, and fourth in regular order.

2. The glasses should be filled about two-thirds full a few minutes before calling the guests to the table.

3. No. Announcements are sent only to those who are not invited to the wedding. 4. No: one should wait until there is a pause in the conversation. 5. Yes: to any friends of the hostess who have entertained you or shown you special courtesies.

6. Yes. Such irregular sequence is both confusing and silly. Suggesting a publisher would print a book in this manner. Would we read it? Write on the first page, second, third, and fourth in regular order.

2. The glasses should be filled about two-thirds full a few minutes before calling the guests to the table.

3. No. Announcements are sent only to those who are not invited to the wedding. 4. No: one should wait until there is a pause in the conversation. 5. Yes: to any friends of the hostess who have entertained you or shown you special courtesies.

6. Yes. Such irregular sequence is both confusing and silly. Suggesting a publisher would print a book in this manner. Would we read it? Write on the first page, second, third, and fourth in regular order.

DEFINITELY NOT THE TYPE

Mrs. G. M. Jewell laughs as her prize-winning Great Dane, Ace of Ladymade, tries to emulate lap dogs at the West Country Dog Club Show, Bristol, England. Ace proved to be just too much dog.

Sunday School Lesson

Paul Begins His Ministry

Acts 9: 19-22; 11: 25-28; Galatians 1: 11-24

Golden Text—Straightway in the synagogues he proclaimed Jesus, that He is the Son of God.—Acts 9: 20.

Profession of Faith
Profession of Saint's new-found faith immediately followed his baptism. During his stay in Damascus he preached in the synagogues declaring that Jesus of Nazareth is the Son of God.

For a whole year Barnabas and Paul wrought with such manifest power and success that the disciples in their loyalty to Christ now first received the designation of Christians.

Paul then went into the solitude of Arabia where, alone with God, his whole past was adjusted to his new faith and purpose. Then he returned to Damascus to preach until driven out by persecution.

Paul Proclaims the Gospel
It was three years after his conversion that Paul went up to Jerusalem. As a storm of persecution was gathering there against him he left for his native country where he preached until called to assist Barnabas in the great revival at Antioch. He declared that he was "unknown by face." But that did not stop Paul. With his fiery zeal they soon knew that the former enemy of the Gospel was now its firm proclaimer.

Persecution Follows
Persecution followed Paul's return to Damascus. He preached so effectively that he raised the ire of the Jews who would not accept his doctrine but could not answer his argument. Information, however, reached Paul in time for him to escape martyrdom through the aid of his fellow disciples.

Proclamation of the gospel throughout Cilicia and in all that region followed Paul's settlement for four or five years in his native city of Tarsus.

Coming And Going
It's almost as difficult to live within an income today as it was to live without one in the early '30's.

ISSUE 42-1946

Milk Will Still Be Cheap Food

By Anne Ashby

Q. How can I temporarily stop a leak in the wash tub?
A. Press firmly some ordinary soap into the crack from the outside. This will prove satisfactory until a permanent repair can be made.

Q. How can I prevent waste when melting chocolate?
A. Much of the chocolate is wasted because it sticks to the sides and bottom of the container. This can be prevented by greasing pans thoroughly before putting in the chocolate.

Q. How can I cork glue so that the cork will not stick and break when the glue is to be used again?
A. Rub vasoline or cold cream on the cork before inserting into the bottle.

J. How can I clean black felt?
A. By using a half cup of cold tea mixed with a teaspoonful of ammonia.

Q. How can I iron over buttons?
A. Fold a Turkish towel into several thicknesses and lay the garment with the buttons face down. Iron the garment on the wrong side. The buttons will sink into the towel and the work will be smoothly finished.

Q. How can I remove dirty stains from glass?
A. Rub vigorously with a cloth dipped in strong hot vinegar.

Q. How can I lighten handkerchiefs that have become yellow?
A. By soaking them overnight in a solution of pipeclay and warm water. Then wash and boil.

Go The Limit
"How do you spell 'graphic'?" asked the young man. "With one 't' or two?"
The older man sighed. "Well," he said at last, "if you are going to use any, you might as well go the limit."

The Dilatance
"So, your son is in college? How is he making it?"
"He isn't making it, I'm making it and he's spending it."

Broken Mirror
Lovebirds are supposed to be so devoted to one another that if one dies the other dies of a broken heart. A woman, who owned a very cute pair, had a fire in the house, and one of the lovebirds was suffocated. Right away the other bird began to pine.

The woman wondered if there wasn't some way to keep it alive, so she put a mirror in the cage. The lovebird let out a coo and cuddled up against the mirror and lived for two years.

Enough
"And what is your reason for wishing to marry my daughter?" asked the father.
Puzzled, the young man scratched his head, pondered a second, then answered: "I have no reason. I'm in love."

How Can I?

By Anne Ashby

Q. How can I temporarily stop a leak in the wash tub?
A. Press firmly some ordinary soap into the crack from the outside. This will prove satisfactory until a permanent repair can be made.

Q. How can I prevent waste when melting chocolate?
A. Much of the chocolate is wasted because it sticks to the sides and bottom of the container. This can be prevented by greasing pans thoroughly before putting in the chocolate.

Q. How can I cork glue so that the cork will not stick and break when the glue is to be used again?
A. Rub vasoline or cold cream on the cork before inserting into the bottle.

J. How can I clean black felt?
A. By using a half cup of cold tea mixed with a teaspoonful of ammonia.

Q. How can I iron over buttons?
A. Fold a Turkish towel into several thicknesses and lay the garment with the buttons face down. Iron the garment on the wrong side. The buttons will sink into the towel and the work will be smoothly finished.

Q. How can I remove dirty stains from glass?
A. Rub vigorously with a cloth dipped in strong hot vinegar.

Q. How can I lighten handkerchiefs that have become yellow?
A. By soaking them overnight in a solution of pipeclay and warm water. Then wash and boil.

Go The Limit
"How do you spell 'graphic'?" asked the young man. "With one 't' or two?"
The older man sighed. "Well," he said at last, "if you are going to use any, you might as well go the limit."

The Dilatance
"So, your son is in college? How is he making it?"
"He isn't making it, I'm making it and he's spending it."

Broken Mirror
Lovebirds are supposed to be so devoted to one another that if one dies the other dies of a broken heart. A woman, who owned a very cute pair, had a fire in the house, and one of the lovebirds was suffocated. Right away the other bird began to pine.

The woman wondered if there wasn't some way to keep it alive, so she put a mirror in the cage. The lovebird let out a coo and cuddled up against the mirror and lived for two years.

Enough
"And what is your reason for wishing to marry my daughter?" asked the father.
Puzzled, the young man scratched his head, pondered a second, then answered: "I have no reason. I'm in love."

Price of Old Age
A lady of 56, living in Chicago, attributes her longevity to the fact that she has never been "bothered by a man." That's quite a price to pay, if we may say so.
—Peterborough Examiner.

It's Wonderful
The only countries I haven't any industrial troubles are those that haven't any industries. True enough, and those that have industrial troubles because they have industries will shortly have no industries and consequently no Arthur's industrial troubles. Peace, ain't it wonderful?
—Ottawa Citizen.

Motor Trail of Death
There is a recklessness on the highways of Ontario this year beyond anything of the kind ever experienced before. A greater increase in the number of motorists appears to have gone "speed-crazy" overnight. The motor car is leaving a trail of death and disaster in Ontario in 1946 that is appalling.
—Guelph Mercury.

U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use, as they only tell you where you're going, not where you are.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

No Trade-in Value
Prof. George A. Pound, University of Minnesota, figures a farmer's wife is worth $60,000 to him—if she's a good one. However, he says nothing about trade-in values.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Bad Crossing Record
This province tops the list for Canada with fatalities at level crossings during the past three years.—Guelph Mercury.

Impossible
Science cracked the atom, but nobody could do anything about those army biscuits we remember.—St. Catharines Standard.

Look Pleasant, Please
Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.
—Peterborough Examiner.

Progress?
Scientists are always taking all the fun out of everything. They are processing a seedless watermelon.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Of No Value
U.S. War Assets are offering for sale surplus compasses for which it has no present use,