

Delicious
"SALATA"
TEA BAGS
Convenient

CHAPTER V
Before he had entered Paisano Valley El Calabero Rojo had made preparations for the place to which he would return as a sort of headquarters. This he always did when arriving in any hitherto unexplored section of the country. Always it was necessary for him to find a hideout which it would be difficult for others to find, and to which it would be equally as difficult to trail him. He had found such a place in the rough country that lay on that part of the line dividing Paisano Valley from the foothills, shortly before he had entered the valley itself.

As innocently as a child Juanita was letting herself relax, for she felt as safe now as with El Calabero Rojo to whom she had so naively sworn allegiance. So she leaned back against his shoulder, with her arms around his neck in order to hold El Cielo's reins. With an uncomfortable feeling he could not understand, Michael Valdez set her upright, as if to settle himself more comfortably in his saddle. He felt her quiver a little as though she feared that in some way she could not understand she had displeased him. Then she sat before him straight and stiff. It was only a passage for a fleeting moment, but it either of them could have realized its significance, they had not.

Michael Valdez was about that Juanita was seeing the land over which they rode, while it was veiled in moonlight. Moonlight changed everything—El Calabero Rojo had seen this land into which Juanita was so confidently heading when she had left him in the day. He had seen it beneath the searching heat of the busy mid-day sun. Valdez was silent, only muttering in a low voice now and then, but as El Cielo looked bit way dimly between the catlike and canine, Juanita talked. She had many things to say, but this night she made no mention of her tragedy. Instead, regaled him with stories of Paisano Valley.

Michael Valdez was about that Juanita was seeing the land over which they rode, while it was veiled in moonlight. Moonlight changed everything—El Calabero Rojo had seen this land into which Juanita was so confidently heading when she had left him in the day. He had seen it beneath the searching heat of the busy mid-day sun. Valdez was silent, only muttering in a low voice now and then, but as El Cielo looked bit way dimly between the catlike and canine, Juanita talked. She had many things to say, but this night she made no mention of her tragedy. Instead, regaled him with stories of Paisano Valley.

Make your First-Date Dress a BIG success! Make Pattern 4501—this dainty two-piece with the gay scallops and flirty peplum, now at back and swirl skirt! It's super!

Pattern 4501 comes in teenage sizes 10, 12, 14, 16. Size 12 takes 2 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric.

Send TWENTY-FIVE CENTS (25c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern to room 421, 73 Adelaide St. West, Toronto. Print plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE, NUMBER.

Your Handwriting and You
By Alex S. Arnold

One Person Thrifty, The Other Generous

Dear Mr. Arnold: I have enclosed two examples of handwriting of young men with whom I am acquainted. Would you please analyze their writing and tell me how their characters compare?

Answer: Notice how broad and generous the first example of writing is compared to the second one. This indicates the writer's character to be similar in nature, broad minded in his views and very generous with material possessions. This writer is very extravagant and nothing but the best will do to satisfy his needs. He considers petty things as a nuisance and will avoid detail work or anything that is trifling and requires concentration and attention to detail. However, he has the ability to organize the work of others and to get things done in an executive capacity. There is no doubt that he is, by nature, very easy going and is likely to take matters too seriously.

Now compare the second example of writing for size and you have an entirely different person. Great powers of concentration are shown here. Notice how small and closely packed the writing is. This power of concentration makes him argumentative and he will go to great lengths to debate and to prove a point whether the subject is important or not. This also reveals that he has analytical and literary ability. He is interested in precision and accuracy, or any quality which requires a high degree of patience and skill. The consistency of the writing indicates the writer to be thrifty, not approving of waste of any kind.

In the analysis of these handwritings, it is evident that these two young men are opposites in character and have entirely different points of view on personality and personal interests.

addressed in for analysis of this specimen in analysis my handwriting

Anyone wishing a more complete analysis please send self-addressed stamped envelope to Box 0, room 421, 73 Adelaide St. West, Toronto. There is no charge for this service.

How Can I? By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I get rid of crickets?
A. Put cucumber peeling, cut into thin stripes, on the floor at night near their haunts.

Q. How can I save sugar when sweetening acid fruits?
A. When sweetening acid fruits, such as gooseberries, use one-half teaspoon of soda to a quart of fruit, and stir before sweetening. Less sugar will be required.

Q. How can I clean gilt frames?
A. Gilt frames can be cleaned by dipping a soft cloth in milk and rubbing it gently over the soiled spots. Repeat several times, if necessary.

Q. How can I easily clean windows and mirrors?
A. Use a cloth dipped in two tablespoons of household ammonia and two quarts of water. This will also give the glass a polish.

Q. How can I lose the way, now that they were near it. With an exclamation of satisfaction he turned off the sandy ground over which they had been travelling, and for a short distance further they climbed up the side of a rugged hill that towered against the moonlight.

El Cielo picked his dainty way upward, and where there was a sort of bench formation, Valdez again turned off. There he dismounted and led his horse with Juanita clinging to El Cielo's mane, into a cave from which he showed back a tangled growth of mesquite.

Juanita's eyes lighted with interest as he struck a match and set it to a candle placed on a jutting shell-like rock. She saw food that he had carried in an extra saddle-bag, canned stuff, bacon, and jerky, as well as flour, coffee, and a few sundries, and crude camping equipment which he had stashed in one of the corners. Valdez had even taken the time to make for himself a cot of pine boughs which stood against the cave wall.

"Nice," Juanita said. "Very nice. You have made yourself most comfortable in these badlands that they say are no good for living." Then something seemed to be on her mind, and she turned to ask Michael Valdez: "But Señor Calabero, you say little white eggs that there is something you have for Juanita to do for you. You tell me what it is?"

RODNEY — Mrs. Dan MacPherson of Dutton was a popular contestant in the "Old Time Fiddlers' Contest" at the Rodney Fair. Mrs. MacPherson has been playing since the age of 12 and is now 83 years old.

ANNE HIRST
Your Family Counselor

Decor Weaves
Targit Pattern

IF I WERE ASKED to give one rule for young girls to follow, it would be—Be Honest. In some characters, honesty is instinctive; the girl would no more think of deceiving her family than she would steal a pin that did not belong to her. In others, the habit of being dishonest starts young, with trivial acts which are not found out. Soon the practice becomes a part of her thinking and her one desire is to get away with it.

It is not honest to tell your mother you were kept after school when you went to a movie instead. It is not honest to say you're with your girl friend, when you know you met a boy. It is not honest to devote in the slightest form to write whole truth. Your word must be your bond, your promise inviolate.

The business of the world is conducted on this premise. Isn't it good enough for you?

● TROUBLE AHEAD!

Two young girls write me that they "could be popular if they could go out," but they live with an "old maid aunt who thinks it disgraceful to be seen with a boy." So they slip out without her knowing and secretly add, "This is causing us to get a bad reputation, though we never do anything wrong."

What do you girls think these boys say about you? Oh, I know at first you think you're smart, you're intrigued with your friend's nature of your meetings. You are selfish together and you get a kick out of it. But what really is happening to you? The word gets around, other boys know you're easy and before you realize you're being swayed the nice girls whom you and you have

Q. Should a business woman make a practice of shaking hands?
A. This is entirely optional with her. However, if she is really sincere about making a certain acquaintance, she should always offer her hand.

Q. Is it permissible to acknowledge a formal invitation in the first person?
A. No; as formal invitations are always written in the third person, the acknowledgment should be in the same.

Q. Isn't it preferable to state the reason for declining an invitation, when the reason is good?
A. Yes. It is preferable, though not obligatory.

Q. Is it permissible to break crackers or bread into soup?
A. Never. Neither do we blow on the soup to cool it, or tip the dish to get the last drop.

Q. Should a business woman make a practice of shaking hands?
A. This is entirely optional with her. However, if she is really sincere about making a certain acquaintance, she should always offer her hand.

Q. Is it permissible to acknowledge a formal invitation in the first person?
A. No; as formal invitations are always written in the third person, the acknowledgment should be in the same.

Q. Isn't it preferable to state the reason for declining an invitation, when the reason is good?
A. Yes. It is preferable, though not obligatory.

Q. Is it permissible to break crackers or bread into soup?
A. Never. Neither do we blow on the soup to cool it, or tip the dish to get the last drop.

Q. Should a business woman make a practice of shaking hands?
A. This is entirely optional with her. However, if she is really sincere about making a certain acquaintance, she should always offer her hand.

Q. Is it permissible to acknowledge a formal invitation in the first person?
A. No; as formal invitations are always written in the third person, the acknowledgment should be in the same.

Q. Isn't it preferable to state the reason for declining an invitation, when the reason is good?
A. Yes. It is preferable, though not obligatory.

Q. Is it permissible to break crackers or bread into soup?
A. Never. Neither do we blow on the soup to cool it, or tip the dish to get the last drop.

Sunday School Lesson
Christ the Minister
Hebrews 4:14-16; 7:26-27; 9:24-28; 10:11-14.

GOLDEN TEXT: — He is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him.—Hebrews 7:25.

The topic of this lesson for young people and adults is "The Sufficient Christ"; and that phrase accurately characterizes both the letter and spirit of the Epistle to the Hebrews.

The writer of the Epistle has a deep sense of the spiritual heritage of Israel. "God," he writes, "at sundry times and in divers manners spoke in times past unto the fathers by the prophets"; and in the 11th chapter he records the story of the men and women of faith in a way that only a lover of Israel and of Israel's religion could have done.

But his faith and outlook as an earnest Israelite is dominated by the supreme conviction that God, who spoke formerly through the prophet, has spoken "in these last days" through His Son, Jesus Christ, "the brightness of His glory," and "express image of His person."

With all the greatness of the past religion of Israel, it is the writer's contention that there was a growing unfulfilled. Saints and prophets "obtained a good report through faith, but received not the promise; God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect" (Hebrews 11:29-40).

But what of priestliness and sacrifice in the Jewish religion?

Christmas Cards from Your Own Negatives 20 for $1.00

From 1 Negative with Envelopes for mailing the most distinctive Christmas cards you can give. Each card is a negative of your own photograph. You can give 20 for $1.00. The cards are 3 1/2 x 5 1/2 inches. They are printed on a matching envelope. On 2-color paper with 12 lines. If you order 100, $10.00. They are ready to be developed and printed, 30c.

STAR SNAPSHOT SERVICE
Box 129 Post Office A, Toronto

BRIGHTEN UP YOUR HOME THE EASY, QUICK WAY WITH All-fabric Tintex ONE DYE ONLY—FOR ALL PURPOSES. 15¢ A PACKAGE. Use WATER for mixing. GUARANTEED!

"Look! Light as a Feather—That's Calumet's Double Action!"
IT'S TRUE! Women everywhere are discovering that Calumet's double action assures greater baking success. Muffins, fine-textured as cake... fluffy, melt-in-your-mouth biscuits... feather-light cakes—Calumet's double action protects their lightness, all the way. First—in the mixing bowl, myriads of tiny, even-sized bubbles are formed when liquid is added. Then—in the oven, new even-sized bubbles continue to raise the mixture, holding it high, light and even. Try Calumet! Follow directions on the tin for any recipe.

So tender, so flavorful, these SPICY RAISIN MUFFINS

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup well beaten egg
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup melted butter or other shortening

• Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar, salt, cinnamon; sift again. Add raisins. Combine egg, milk, shortening. Add to flour. Beat only enough to dampen flour. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (375°) about 25 minutes. Makes 12 medium, delicious muffins—serve them hot.

Twice Your Money Back
If you are not satisfied with Calumet Baking Powder, you can get your money back. Just return the tin to the dealer who sold it to you. No questions asked. You will receive your money back.

CALUMET DOUBLE-ACTING BAKING POWDER
A Product of General Foods

Dr. CHASE'S Paradol

RELIEVES MISERIES OF Baby's Cold As He Sleeps

Penetrates the chest and back deep into the lungs, loosening phlegm, stimulating expectoration.

Warming, soothing relief—grand relief—comes when you rub good old Vicks VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime. Its penetrating-stimulating action keeps you working for hours. Invites restful sleep. And often by morning most misery of the cold is gone. No wonder most mothers use VapoRub. Try it tonight!

STAR SNAPSHOT SERVICE
Box 129 Post Office A, Toronto

FALL FAIRTIME IN ONTARIO

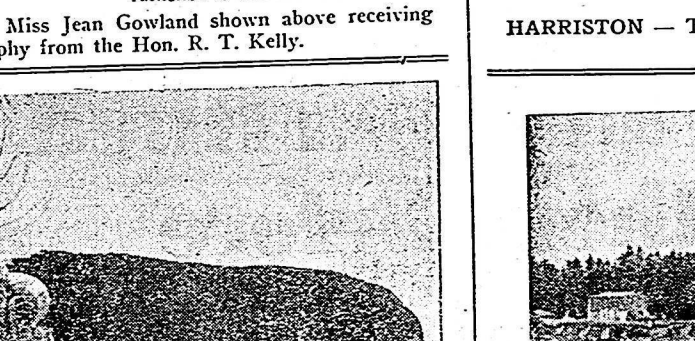

HARRISTON — Five-year-old Donald Noble, son of Cecil Noble of Harriston, shown with his call.

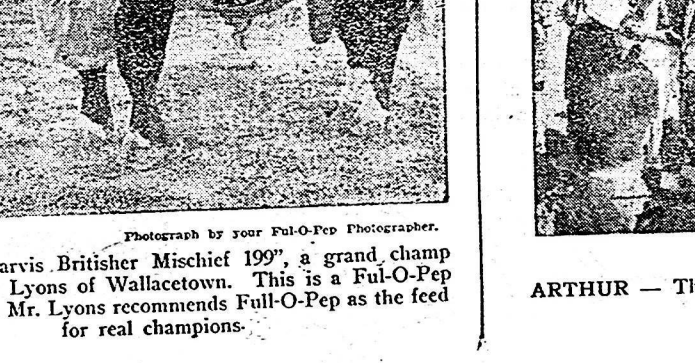

ARTHUR — Members of the High School Bugle Corps sporting their smart new uniforms.

ANCASTER — Miss Jean Gowland shown above receiving trophy from the Hon. R. T. Kelly.

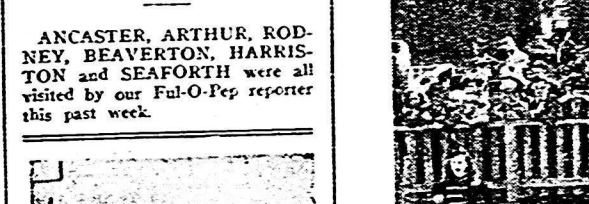

HARRISTON — The jumping class was one of the big drawing cards. Miss Jean Gowland is shown in the foreground.

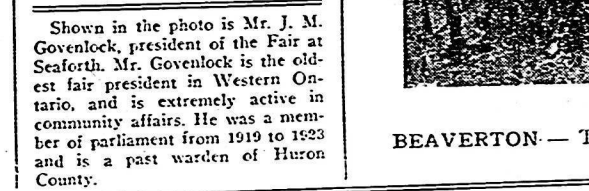

RODNEY — Mrs. Jovyn Britisher Mischief 199, a grand champ owned by Mr. Lyons of Wallacetown. This is a Ful-O-Pep fed animal, and Mr. Lyons recommends Ful-O-Pep as the feed for real champions.

Fairtime Highlights
By Your Ful-O-Pep Feed Reporter

ANCASTER, ARTHUR, RODNEY, BEAVERTON, HARRISTON and SEAFORTH were all visited by our Ful-O-Pep reporter this past week.

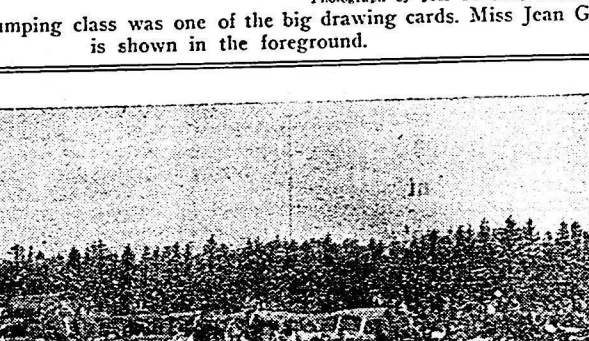

BEAVERTON — The Georgetown Girls' Pipe Band and Beaverton school children shown at opening ceremony.

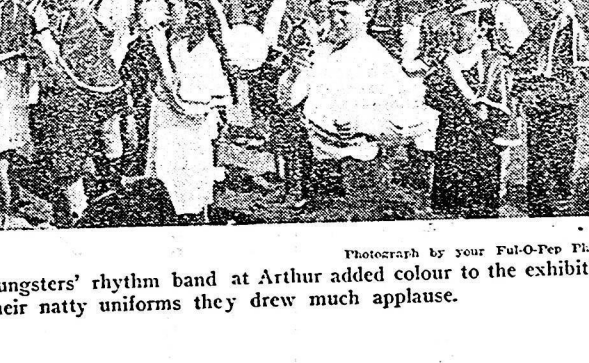

HARRISTON — Contestants in the three-legged race are shown above. At extreme left is the winning team — Miss Blanch Tarr and Miss Eleanor Sanderson.

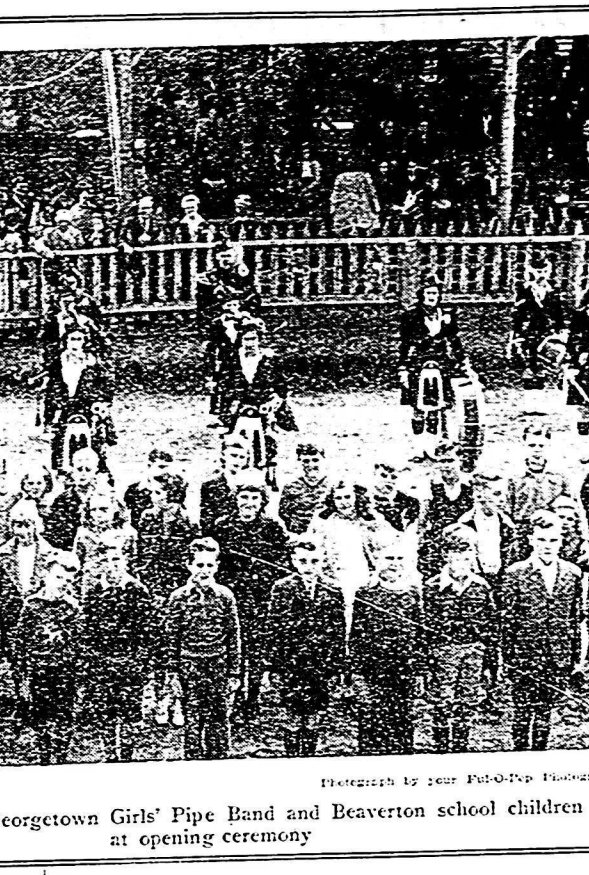

RODNEY — Shown above is young Winnie Kelly of Kincairdine on the Merry-Go-Round.

ANCASTER — Miss Jean Gowland shown above receiving trophy from the Hon. R. T. Kelly.

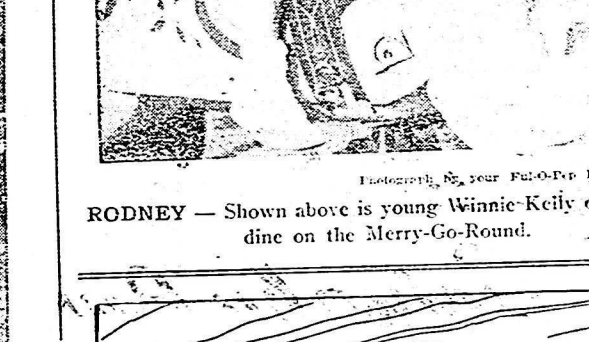

ARTHUR — The youngsters' rhythm band at Arthur added color to the exhibition. With their natty uniforms they drew much applause.

BEAVERTON — The Georgetown Girls' Pipe Band and Beaverton school children shown at opening ceremony.

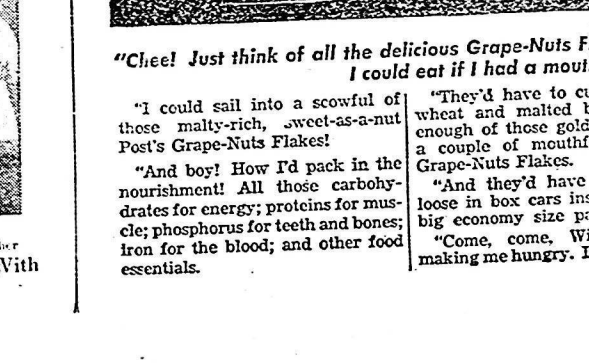

RODNEY — Shown above is young Winnie Kelly of Kincairdine on the Merry-Go-Round.

ANCASTER — Miss Jean Gowland shown above receiving trophy from the Hon. R. T. Kelly.

HARRISTON — The jumping class was one of the big drawing cards. Miss Jean Gowland is shown in the foreground.

ARTHUR — The youngsters' rhythm band at Arthur added color to the exhibition. With their natty uniforms they drew much applause.

"Cheer! Just think of all the delicious Grape-Nuts Flakes I could eat if I had a mouth like that!"

"I could sail into a scowful of wheat and malted barley to get enough of those golden grains for a couple of mouthfuls of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes."

"And boy! How I'd pack in the goodness! All those carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; and other food essentials."

"They'd have to cut an acre of wheat and malted barley to get enough of those golden grains for a couple of mouthfuls of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes."

"And they'd have to pack 'em loose in box cars instead of those big economy size packages."

"Come, come, Wilbur. You're making me hungry. Let's go home!"