Delicious

TEA BAGS

Convenient

borrowed pinto that gave promise of being as fleet as El Caballero Rojo's gallant blue roan.

At last he tensed, his head cocked to one side, his heart pounding

He heard the sound of a grazing animal. He located a mount, sad dled, bridled and ground-hitched.

The saddle-skirts were decorated

"That Burr Aldman told Mr.

Bartle about a visit he'd had from a Mexican peon!" Weber mused.

Must be the same-but why is he prowling so close to the Aldman

He dismounted, led his horse be hind a shaft of rock and began to inch toward the house. Fear inspired him to move with such super-caution that it seemed hours before he reached the house and looked through a window into a dark room. The door to the adjoin ing room was open-and framed the rectangle of light stood El

Clark Weber crouched spellbound. Then both his hands sag-ged to the cold butts of his Colts and he began to lift the heavy wea-pons. As suddenly he let them drop, as a spasm of terror sped along his tingling nerves.

Behind him sounded the soft pad

The strange Mexican! Panic clutched Weber's throat. Was this

Mexican by any chance in cahoots

The Mexican's footsteps were moving closer and closer. Chills did a hornpipe down Weber's spine.

He did not even dare fire toward those creeping footsteps, for he was recalling, only too well, how El

Caballero Rojo could move like pronged lightning and shoot

In the next split second Clark Weber decided where his one chance to sidestep his grave lay.

He tried to run silently, but broke into reckles flight when he heard an angry sound behind him.

Panting, he reached his horse and the inky night, if he could hold out another mile! To a spot he had

And he did. There he flung himself from saddle. Even as he rolled in dust and stones he dragged out both Colts, then climed up the side of a rock where centuries of storm and erosion had carved many toe-holds. He heard the beat of his own horse's hoois as it ran on,

"If I can get him here," Weber panted "I can get El Caballero Rojo in a spot where I can pick him off as I would a blind crow."

Clark Weber did not have long to crouch on the rock where the trail was narrow. Juanita came, wildly chasing the riderless horse.

And the moment she was oppo-site him, Weber leaped as a mountain lion leaps on the back of a dropped her in a senseless heap. Gasping for breath, Weber worked frantically to bind his prison-er's wrists and ankles. The girl in the boy's clothing stirred, struggled to rise, but relaxed in the

"Why do you do this to me?" she demanded angrily.

"I think maybe you can guess,"

Think maybe you can guess, Weber drawled, and laughed tri umphantly. "I'm going to use you to bait a trap for your friend, El Caballero Rojo. His pelt is worth

(To Be Continued)

face of a gun.

real money."

The shock sent both of them to the ground in a tangled mass of arms and legs, Juanita fighting with surprised fury until solid blows with a gun butt set off the shooting stars before her eyes and fat calf.

and flung himself into saddle. With his slight lead, fast horse, noticed when on patrol!

straighter than a warrior's arrow.

with -1 Caballero Rojo?

house again, and afoot?"

Old Mexico.

Caballero Rojo!

of cautious feet.

metal studs that suggested

CHAPTER XXXIII: Clark Weber asks Battle how mucl. money he would give for the capture of Val-dez. Bartle tells him he will forget the balance of the mortgage on his property for the capture of the sup-

CHAPTER XXXIV

"If you're lying, hombre," the sheriff growled, "plenty of skin will be missing from your hide shortly after I get back here."

Clark Weber was left alone with his thoughts when the sheriff stalked out, and it was long after daylight before the disgruntled lawman returned. He had not found El Caballero Rojo – he had not much expected he would — and there seemed no advantage in longer keeping his prisoner in the Silently Sheriff Lande turned Clark Weber loose, and as wordlessly the man made all haste in getting away from the fail. But he all not leave the cow town. All day he stalked it, making every acquaintance he could until he was certain he had tapped every source of information there-true or fancied -regarding El Caballero Rojo.

Shortly before dusk he ended his quest with a visit to Russ Bartle. When that was over. Weber was convinced of two things . that the banker-tobacco farmer was a firm believer in law, order and justice; and that he was a most generous man.

For Bartle had cursed the scarlet sashed, scarlet masked rider heartily, and had promised Weber he succeeded in capturing El Caballero Rojo, the balance due on the Maxon-Weber tract of land in the north end of the valley would be wiped out.

Dusk found Weber patrolling between Don Attero's Cross and the Aldman tobacco farm. He rode a .. lake Pattern 4950 your first project this term! Check it in cotton for crispy school -and-date dress. And in white, it's a graduation beauty! FULL-circle skirt that goes Pattern 4950 in teenage sizes 10, 12, 14, 16. Size 12 takes 4 yards 35-inch labric.

Send TWENTY-FIVE CENTS (25c) in coins (stamps cannot be a ce ted) for this pattern, to Room 421, 73 Adelaide St. West, Toronto. Print plainly SIZE, NAME, AD-DRESS, STYLE NUMBER.

ISSUE 14 - 1948

Your Handwriting and You Alex S. Armon

Suggestions for Choice of Vocation

Dear Mr. Arnott: Your first analysis of my script is most satisfactory. Now I would like a complete analysis of my handwriting. Please let me know what your vocational findings are; this part of your work is most interesting.

You have an emotional nature. quick to respond to sympathy and affection and especially to appeals that strike the heart. The emotional dipth of your writing indicates these feelings are not a permanent part of your personality and this is evidence of a nature that does not '.ld a grudge or a hate for any length of time; they are short lived and in time forgotten.

"Dignity" writers are people who take great pride in personal things, especially conduct. This character-istic makes you a lover of convention and customs and you will not jeopardize your character by taking short cuts that are not strictly according to rules of accepted stand-

Y. wish to be frank with others and wish them to be the same with you. You do not attempt to hide your feelings but show a marked tendency to be frank in all that you do. The means that you are a conversationalist and lover of not "ty of speech.

You show signs of have a practical nature, giving you the power to plan for the future and, although it may not be apparent to you, you do this subconsciously and without effort. You like to work toward a distant goal and are prepared to make sacrifices to accomplish this. Ability to be successful as an organizer is also indicated.

Regarding your vocational tend-encies, you have the desire and natural ility to be constructive. to gather information in logical order, to draw your conclusions de-l'erately, not spasmodically, and to present your findings in a sim-plii. I for, for the benefit of others. Since your writing shows a love for children and a sense of responsibility it is my conclusion that teaching would be an excellent choice of vocation. Other suggestions in choosing a vocation are nursing and child psychology. These would appeal to you due to your willingness to accept responsibility and also because of the emotional tendencies shown in your script.

Our readers may receive an interesting and instructive personal analysis of their handwriting by sending an example of writing with 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Box B, room 421, 73 Adelaide St. Il'est. Toronto.

Here are happy hours of colorful easy embroidery! Towels, scarfs, pillow cases or cloth all are lovely. Embroider this charming design for your hope chest. Pattern 738; transfer of 10 motifs 11/4 x 21/4 to 434 x 13 in. Send TWENTY-FIVE CENTS in coins (stamps cannot be accepts ed) for this pattern to the Needlecraft Dept., Room 421, 73 Adelaide St. West. Toronto. Print plainly PATTERN NUMBER, your NAME and ADDRESS.

Hedy's Youngest Makes Bow-Hedy Lamarr's youngest child makes his camera bow on his first birthday. Anthony John visited his famous mother on the movie set, where her acting chores confined her. The glamorous Hedy has two older children, Jamesie 9, and Denise, almost 3.

ANNE HIRST Your Family Counseloc

Do You Fret About Your Children?

What parent doesn't lie awake in the night's darkness wondering about the children. You compare their present behavior now with that of a year ago, and you are ed. John :s growing away from you, taking the bit in his teeth. Louise just will not study, her mind is on the boys. As for Dorothy, she is developing an attitude little short of insolent: any opposition is resented quickly

Where have you failed?
Other parents have complained, too. Read this: "The children now love luxury: they have bad man-ners, contempt for authority, show disrespect for elders, and love chatter in place of exercise. Children now are tyrants, not the servants of their households. They no longer rise when elders enter the They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up dainties at the table, cross their legs, and tyrannize over their teachers."

Early Discovery Of Cancer Can Mean Recovery

The Canadian Cancer Society opens its dollar-or-more drive for members April 1st, as announced by R. F. Bruce Taylor, provincial presi-

"Aim of this membership campaign is to enlist 150,000 members in Ontario," Mr. Taylor pointed out. Last year, the Canadian Cancer Society provided more than 100,000 free ca :er dressings to those in need as well as arranging transportation of patients to treatment clinics and hospitals," the presi-

"Some 200,000 pieces of literature were distributed during 1947 urgpeople to consult a doctor immediately when cancer is suspected and pointing out that treatment during the early stages of cancer can curb the disease before it becomes incurable."

cancer last year, according to the Pominion Bureau of Statistics. Up to helf of these deaths could have been prevented by early diagnosis and treatment of the disease, medical authorities point out.

That is why the people in 20 Ontario centres have formed an active unit of the Canadian Cancer Society. Objective of the Society is to educate everybody to the fact that early discovery of cancer, can mean recovery. It also provides free dressings and other services to cancer sufferers unable to finance a long illness.

Many suspect they have cancer. and are airaid to have their fears confirmed by medical diagnosis because they do not believe that cancer can be controlled, according to Cancer Society findings.

Endorsed by the Canadian Media cal Associations, the Cancer Society believes that every citizen can perform a real public service by helping to bring about a greater con sciousness of cancer and the advantage of ea.ly treatment.

Those who want to join the Cancer Society to aid the control of cancer are asked to mail their dollar-or-more subscription fee to Ontario campaign headquarters, P.O. Box: 459, Toronto 1, or direct to the nearest Cancer unit in their region.

HISTORY REPEATS

Socrates, the Greek philosopher, wrote those words over 2,000 years ago.

How true they seem to you today! You can even smile in sympathy.

Ask your mother some day soon how often she grew discouraged about you and your brothers and sisters. Ask your grandmother about her children. if you are lucky enough to have her near. They will smile, and shake their heads, and admit sleepless nights that extended over the years. And they will try to comfort you: "Oh, my dear, how foolish I was! Look at all of you now. You turned out all * right!"

So will your children.

HAVE FAITH IN THEM As they grow and develop, you find that no rule works with them all through these years.
John must feel that you trust him: let him alone as much as you can. He is feeling his oats. and pretty confident. Louise will have her come-uppance when the term is over and her credits aren't what they should be; she has to learn the hard way. Little Dorothy doesn't mean to hurt you; you'll have to overlook her impudence now and then, and guide that strong will of hers with a light rein.

Have faith in these children.

 Praise them when you can, and try not to feel that each annoying incident is a crisis that must be dealt with then and there. Let them know you trust them. Train yourself to laugh with them, to be more their friend than their monitor. Remember how you felt at their ages, and show them you remember.

 Then you will gain their confidence, and that is what matters, isn't it? TO "FRANTIC MOTHER OF THREE": Relax. Your children have good stuff in them, and as they mature it will stand them in good stead. You are doing the best you can, so why worry so stead. You are doing the you can, so why worry so You cannot conceal your fears from them, and the knowledge of them only robs them of security every youngster needs feel. They'll turn out all right.

You did, you know.

A mother who continually frets about her children unfits herself for her job. If one of yours is getting difficult, ask Anne Hirst's counsel. Address her at Box A, Room 421, 73 Adelaide St. West, Toronto.

Sunday School Lesson

By Rev. R. Barclay Warren

A Prophet Among The Exiles Ezekiel 1: 1-3; 3:11, 17:21; 4:1-3.

Golden Text:- Son of man, 1 have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore hear the word at my month, and give them warning from me. - Ezekiel,

The theme of the lessons for the second quarter is "The Captivity and Return of the Jews". It begins with Exel el's ministry to the captives and terminates with Malachi's vision of the coming Mes-siah. Such - tudy is of particular interest 'this time, because in some important respects, history is repeating itself. The Jews are again returning to Palestine. Even as there was fierce opposition then, so there is now. But nevertheless they are gaining entry.

Ezekiel, a young priest, was one of the captives d away to Baby-lon. While in captivity God called him to be a prophet to his people.
(1) The heavens were opened. (2) he saw visions of God. (3) the word of the Lord came expressly unto him and (4) the hand of the Lord was upon him: an open heaven, a present God, a distinct revelation and then ability to perform. Ezekiel was m de to sense his heavy re-sponsibility as a watchman of Israel. If he failed to warn the wicked their blood would be required at his hand. 'Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his ickedne nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul." To save his own soul he must I ewise warn the righteous man who turns from his righteousness and commits iniquity. If the hitherto righteous man does not heed the warning. "he shall die in his sin.

Simple

and his rigiteousness which he hath done shall not be remembered."

1st Businessman: "Since I have my new car, I don't have to walk to the ank to make my deposits."

2nd Businessman: "Now you drive over, ch?"

1st Businessman: "No. I just don't make any."

Ezeki."s methods were unique. l'e li y on a 1 and graphically and objectively depicted the size of Jerse salem. Thus the lessons were impressed upon be exiles by the eye gate as well as by the ear gate. Prophets have ofter been uncoarentional John Wesley preached from his father's tombstone and at daybreak at the pit heads of the coal mines. Whitefield preached in the fields and Ceneral Booth went into the slums of London heralded by a drum. Missionaries use many novel methods. The all-important thing is that the message be de-livered to the people.

too this Cases waster o

The St. Regis Hotel

- 1080570 Erery Esca. With Int Hath

Every Even Will have been.
Shower and Felrobare
Sintit, $5.50 and apDouble, $150 ap
Lead Feed Dining and Dunclas
Nightly
Sherbourne at Carling
Fel KA 4135

ROOMS BEAUTIFULLY FURNISHED $1.50 up

HOTEL METROPOLE

MAGABA FALLS OPP. - C.N.R. STATION

ge period peculiar to women (38-5) loes this make you suffer from hot i cel so servous, high-strung, tired; ot try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetabl cound to relieve such symptoms! Pind compound also has what Doctors tomachie tonic effect.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S COMPOUND

Outstanding Quality

CANADA CORN

Quality desserts, pie fillings, gravies and sauces call for quality ingredients most important of which is Canada Com Starch.

a product of outstanding quality

Dependable — its popularity with Canadian housewives over the years is the best recommendation as to its outstanding quality.

Also Manufacturers of Crown Brand Corn Syrup

THE CANADA STARCH CO. LIMITED

Montreal

COMING:

Your radio high spot! Every Tuesday night!

"CANADIAN CAVALCADE" Presents

. Top Singing Stars & Musicians

· Mart Kenney & his band

. Songs by Norma Locke & Roy Roberts

· Personalities in the headlines

The same of the same of Bordenis

30 Minutes of real entertainment.

"CANADIAN CAVALCADE

Trans-Canada Network of CBC. See your daily newspaper for station and time.

.... . 1 41. 4

COUNTRY IS TO SEE THE THE PRESENCE OF