TRAVERTON

November has its ugly moods—clashing rain, showers, slithering snow storms, howling winds, and yet it has its compensations; stove and coal grates gleam brighter, cattle and horses being more quickly and comfortably in their stalls, even the cats and dogs doze more cozily under the stove or beside it. The howling winds and gusts of rain and snow make homes more cosy and hearts of people more thankful for the blessings enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson and son, Kenneth, of Holstein were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. James Peart.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hodgins and Ronald of Berrie were visitors at the Edwards homes on Friday of last week. She was a former very popular and successful teacher in No. 5 and made and retains many warm friendships. They took home a truck load of potatoes from the big cellar full of Bobbie and Billy Edwards'.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lawrence, Keith and Stewart, of Egremont, and Mr. and Mrs. Rob. Ellison of Glenroaden were Sunday visitors with Miss Jennie Davis and her brother, Basil.

Mr. Sandy Baker and son, Billy, of Toronto visited with his mother and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Carman Baker of the 10th concession over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. James Peart, Dorothy, and Marilyn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson were Saturday evening guests with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McDonald.

'Twas a real pleasant surprise on Saturday p.m. to have a week-end visit from Mr. Keith Edwards and daughter, Kay, of Detroit who spent part of the evening with us; then the night of Mr. and Mrs. S. Saunders, Chatsworth, and family across the road, and back to our abode for dinner, leaving soon after for the long run back to the "city of the straits". We won't be surprised to see them buy an up-to-date farm in old Ontario again and we will be highly pleased if they do.

Zion's young people put on their play at Maxwell on Friday night. It poured rain all the way there, and all the way back, but they met with very appreciative audience there, made new acquaintances and friends and added to their treasury at Zion. That ends their season's list. Too much credit cannot be given to Miss Clara Jack and Miss Essel Hastie, who have been the manager and trainer of the group who have been quite successful in their outings. A fine training for young country folks.
