Golden Text: - Repent ye: the kingdom of heaven is at hand

-Matt. 3:2.
Before Jesus entered upon his ministry a great and picturesque man prepared his way. John, whose mother was a cousin of Mary, was a few months older than Jesus. He came into the region of the Jordon preaching and baptizing. He was unique. Clothed in camel's hair, property by a leather girdle, his supported by a leather girdle, his food was wild honey and a species of insects similar to grasshopper. He came in the spirit and power o

Great throngs went out from Jerusalem and the surrounding areas to hear him. His preaching was as rugged as his appearance. "Repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is hand," he cried. Nor was he content with a form of repentance. "Bring forth therefore fruits mee for repentance," he demanded of the leading religionists of his day, warning that the axe was standing by the tree in readiness to hew down hat one that bore no fruit. Neit dare they take refuge in the fact that they were Abraham's descendants for, said he, "God is able of these stones to raise up childre unto Abraham." John was a fearless preacher and he had results. Perhaps we of this day are too delicate, too careful not to offend. Imagine us saying "O generation of snakes."

The highlight of John's preaching was the announcement that a greater person was coming; so great that John was not worthy to

By this time, what happened on New Year's Eve is old stuff to you but this is my first opportunity to tell you how we ushered in 1949. You remember it was a very stormy night and we were more than glad to be right by our own fireside. Come to think of it I should sayhot-air, register—but what does it sound like? "Fireside" is much cosier. Of course, staying where it was warm and comfortable did not appeal to some of the young crowd including Bob. He and another fellow were away to Toronto-and the wilder it got the more I wished they were home. I listened to the warnings that were given over the r_dio and was talking it over with a neighbor on the phone when . . . blackout!--and of course, without warning. Away I went hunting for matches, candles and a lamp. As I ounted I wondered if anything could be blacker than a black-out. It wouldn't have been so bad if I could have rememberd where I had put the half-dozen candles that I, bought for just such an emergency. I re-member thinking—"Now I'll just put these where they'll be handy if

Fooling The Bees

Even the bees and the blossoms are being put on a mechanized, assembly-line basis. One new patent is on a device invented by Leo. C. Intles, to make honey bees carry to apple blossoms the kind of pollen he wants them to, not what they may pick up by chance on their foraging trips. There is a sound reason for this.

Some choice apple varieties are self-sterile. That is, they will no form fruit unless the pollen comes from different variety of apple. So Mr. Antles collects a supply of the kind of pollen he wants used and places it in a container through which the bees must pass in leaving the hive. It thus becomes dusted on their hairy bodies, and when they fly to the nearby apple blossoms to gather nectar they insure proper fertilization.

iously ill with pleurisy. HOW -TO FIX-IT

YOU DON'T HAVE TO SUFFER THE DISCOMFORT OF HAVING THE HANDLES OF A HEAVY SHOPPING BAG HURT AND NUMB YOUR FINGERS WHEN YOU GO OUT ON A BUY-ING SPREE. A SHORT LENGTH OF LARGE DOWEL RCD OR BROOMSTICK, SLOTTED NEAR THE ENDS AS SHOWN, MAKES A CONVENIENT GRIP FOR CARRYING LOADED SHOPPING BAGS WITH CUT THE SLOTS AT AN ANGLE TO PRE-VENT THE CORD FROM SLIPPING OUT.

SIDE TINES DOWN, AS SHOWN, WHEN IT
