Centennial News and Views

Gordon Beaton is busy these days getting the various committees for the Centenary week working. One of the pleasant things about it is the coperative way in which individual citizens are undertaking their tasks. In every way we shall have a successful celebration this August.

Bert Hamilton has a big job on his hands looking after the entertainment for the big event. Bert will be at the head of all entertainment carried on by the Centenary Committee. Having had considerable experience in this work with the Markdale Rotary Club, he should be able to give the homecomers a week of real fun.

Don't forget to send the names of out-of-town folk- you want invited. Nina Hutchinson, secretary for the Toronto "On-to-Markdale", Committee Group, was in town for the week-end and stated that things were bubbling in the big city. Armed with lists of names she received here in Markdale, she has returned to Toronto to notify more ex-Markdaleites of the big event.

Once Upon A Time... In Our Town

(By An Old Timer) Breathes there a Markdale man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said, "Sure, it's only a little one-horse town up in the snowbelt, but, it has achieved superlatives too. The sun shines a little bit brighter there; the snow comes down a little harder there (and more of it too), and though chance or necessity decreed my footsteps should follow paths in alien places, in some peculiar way Markdale still lives in my heart as 'the tops'."

People, almost forgotten in the town will come back to the Centennial to recapture some happy memory, to re-live again an esthetic moment, to re-orient themselves in scenes long past. There are so many different reasons why former members of the community will join in the trek back, one couldn't easily sort them out into just so many groups.

They will find new faces in the old places of business. On the fingers of one hand you can count the busi-ness men of even fifty years ago who ness men or even nuy years ago who are still here. These newcomers are "Markdale" now, and while they are wondering just what you old-timers are like, you, too, will be measuring and weighing to determine what Markdale's fate will be under this new regime.

once grim Death stalked.

Can you picture a dark, dismal, rainy Saturday night in the early Eighties: two men, tipsy and truculent, going out to the stable to get their teams to go home; a word spoken, maybe in jest, maybe not; then the air full of words, taunts and threats; the sound of blows. A veritable syncrasy! A knife drawn, a stab, the sound of something falling and then utter silence. But only One man went away. The other stayed.

Neither one belonged to Markdale,

Neither one belonged to Markdale, but the brawl took place in the town and it left an impression which even the years have not entirely blotted out. But that's all past and over, long ago and far away. Just a bit of ancient history. Nothing's left of that long-ago scene; not even the yard.

ANNESLEY CHURCH TO INSTALL Lucknow Defeats Markdale CHIMES WITH AMPLIFIER In Benefit Game

(By Maurice Wright)

(By Maurice Wright)

The benefit game played here on Saturday night turned out to be a great success. A large crowd turned out to see a hard-hitting contest and support a fund for the injured players of the Lumber Kings. Although nothing was at stake in this game, the teams played all out to win. The Lucknow Sepoys were the opportunists and jumped into a 40 lead in the first period. George Chin led the visitor's attack with his fast rushes and fine play-making. Morley Chin on left wing and. McLelland on right wing helped him out.

Pictures of the early days in Mark-dale should make an interesting study for the present generation as well as former residents of this town and district. Those who have good pictures or other relies of the life in Markdale in past years which would be of interest to have on display, are requested to dig them out, and have them ready. It is likely these will be arranged at the local library where the registration will take place when the Centennial rolls around next August.

And now Bert Hamilton, Farmer, Storekeeper, Councillor and Societyman, holds the fort, and believe you me, Bert can raise more than whoopee. You just ought to see his flock of turkeys 'long about Centenial time. You will sure want to place an order for Christmas delivery. Seriously, they are one of the sights of the town, so drop in and see Bert and his turkeys.

Next door to Hamilton's on the south is the Markdale Garage where Sam Arrowsmith is monarch of all he surveys. And where, too, you will find George Alton tinkering away with his engines. By the way, can you name anyone in Markdale who will have more 'friends and acquaintances drop in for a chat than George?

On the corner North of Hamilton's is the old W. A. Brown - Ed. Trelford; Jeff Artley - Walter Perkins block with a whole host of interesting people occupying its many nooks and cannels.

Send In Those Names

Once again we urgently request everyone from the village and district to send in the names and addresses of all persons who have at one time or another been associated with the life of Markdale and district. Even if you have already informed them of the Centennial by letter, the Committee wants their names and addresses sent in, so they can be kept informed of the plans being made for this home-coming celebration.

One of the highlights of this Homecoming will be the thrill of getting together and talking over those good old days with the folks you use to know way back when'. The work of compiling the names of these former residents is a big job, and it needs the co-operation of everyone. The Committee in charge of filing these names would like all secretaries of church groups, fraternal organizations, legion branches and any other groups to please nal organizations, legion branches and any other groups to please help in securing these names by having all members hand in the names of former members, now living away. They may be left with the assistant-secretary, Mrs. Eunice McLoughry, with Mrs. F. D. Sawyer, or hand them in at The Standard Office.
