Keen Competition In Beef Classes At Rocklyn

Rocklyn—While threatening weather throughout the afternoon undoubtedly kept a few of the more timid souls at home, there was a good crowd for the annual Rocklyn Fall Fair here on Thursday. Only a few drops of rain fell during the afternoon, not enough to put a damper on the proceedings.

The officials of the fair, including the president, Elvin Sewell, and the secretary, Ed. Lanktree, were well satisfied with the results.

There was an excellent display of livestock in the majority of the classes. Some fine heavy horses were on display, with C. J. Halliday of Chesley and Beatty Bros. of Stayner the chief exhibitors. Outstanding light horses were exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. Lou Thibaudau of Markdale and Clunas McKean of Ravenna.

There were no dairy cattle entries to speak of, but there was keen competition in the beef cattle classes, with Stewart Falls and B. R. Lee Farm of Meaford the chief exhibitors.

The new building was put into use for the first time. The general quality and quantity of the fruit and vegetable exhibits were well up to previous standards. A kitten show aroused considerable interest, as did a display of amateur photography.

The harness races aroused plenty of interest among the spectators and provided one of the main attractions of the afternoon. Guy B. Patch, owned by Carman Brown of Meaford, won all three heats.

P.C. Harold Black Speaks To Local Rotarians

The accident problem could be quickly solved, Provincial Constable Harold C. Black of Flesheron told the Markdale Rotary Club at its weekly dinner meeting in the army on Tuesday evening, if motorists would keep their cars in safe operating condition, observe the traffic regulations and the rules of safe practice in driving, and support all efforts to reduce needless waste of life, health, and property on the streets and highways.

P.C. Black was introduced by Arkie Dunlop, who said he went to Flesheron in 1939 and that his territory comprises South Grey, including Markdale.

Deaths from accidents are 50 per cent. greater so far this year than they were for the corresponding period in 1948, P.C. Black said. He remarked that the motorist's responsibility is greater than that of the pedestrian. He also said that motorists should realize that liquor and gasoline do not mix. He told the Rotarians the numerous infractions of which a motorist can be deprived of his license.

Gordon Beaton thanked the speaker for his address, also for "all you are doing in our community."

Frank Sawyer, the newly-elected vice-president, received the congratulations of the club. He presided in the absence of President Bill Fisher. Rotarian Beaton accompanied and led the singing of songs, and Alan MacMicking, sergeant-at-arms, collected several fines. Secretarial duties were attended to by Norm Roblin, and Merv. Gould, the treasurer, received payments of dues.

The selection of a director from the club to the permanent board of the Centre Grey General Hospital was left to Lorne Dennison, the community service chairman.

Rotarians Beaton and Dunlop spoke about the new ski tow to be built on the farm of Frank Davis. Both explained that it will mean much to this community, making it one of the greatest winter playgrounds in Ontario. Special trains for ski enthusiasts are being arranged for. "It presents tremendous possibilities," Rotarian Beaton said.

The danger of angle parking on Main street was referred to by Rotarian Beaton.

Vice-President Sawyer announced that the district governor will visit the club on October 25th.

Under the auspices of St. Joseph's Church, Markdale, and St. John's Church, Glenelg Centre, the 20th annual Thanksgiving fowl supper in the parish hall of St. John's Church, Glenelg Centre, on Monday evening was a splendid success. More than 650 delicious chicken dinners were served.

The hall was prettily decorated with autumn-shaded leaves, and the tables were centred with vases of late garden flowers. The ladies of both churches, under the cozenship of E. Quinn of Markdale and Mrs. L. McKeown of Glenelg, arranged and served the supper.

Following the supper, Norm Hartley and his orchestra played for dancing. Lucky numbers for the draw, which was a feature of the evening, were drawn by Master Patrick Ryan. Fire Prevention Urged By Fire Chief Alton

Drawing attention to Fire Prevention Week, which is being observed this week, from October 9th to 15th, Fire Chief C. J. Alton has distributed posters to the business places to be displayed in their windows, urging all to assist in the prevention of fires.

Mr. Alton says householders and business people should have their chimneys cleaned, and a safe place arranged for keeping of ashes, before the heating systems are put into use for the cold weather.

Regarding the fire extinguishers owned by the town, which are located in different business places, Mr. Alton requests that these be taken to the Markdale Garage, where Frank Noble will refill them with fresh fluid.

Successful Fall Fair Held At Chatsworth

Chatsworth—Although threatening weather in the morning may have reduced attendance figures slightly, the second and final day of the Holland Agricultural Society Annual Fall Exhibition on Friday was one of the most successful on record.

As had been anticipated, there was much interest in the special class for bacon hogs, and 15 pens of four select hogs each were entered. Auctioned off after the sale, the entire 60 were purchased by Ivan Atheson on behalf of Canada Packers, Ltd. The sale price was $31 per hundredweight. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of grading results at the Toronto stockyards.

In the fowl classes, the biggest winner was S. R. Wiley of Allenford. The judge was J. C. Mercer of Owen Sound.

Boys' and girls' calf club entries were judged by Neil McDonald of Sullivan, the first prize in the Angus senior calf division going to John Farrow. Warren Davidson of Williamsford led the 14 entries in the Shorthorn calf class.

The ladies' nail-driving contest, sponsored by the Sunny Valley Women's Institute, was won by Mrs. John Martin. Mrs. Howard Lundy and Mrs. Lorne McMillan placed second and third.

Considerable interest was attracted by a special display of baskets made by residents of the Grey County Home at Markdale.

Art and handicraft work by school children featured the opening day. The first day was largely devoted to the judging of inside displays in the Chatsworth rink. They surpassed those of all previous years in quality.

Attendance was high, and the visitors were highly impressed with the school children's work. There were entries representing 11 district schools. Judges Sinclair and J. C. Wray of Owen Sound placed Williamsford School first on the prize list. There was much interest in a special display of arts and crafts by the children of a school area comprising Holland, Sullivan, North and South Sydney, St. Vincent's and Derby Townships.

Fancy-work classes, judged by Mrs. Champ of Flesheron, set a high standard in hooked and braided rugs, bedspreads, woollen articles, Christmas present boxes and useful articles made from flour sacks. A new class this year was for hope chest articles. Baking classes were judged by Mrs. S. Buchanan of Owen Sound, who said that the uniformly high standard of the entries made judging difficult.

There were 34 varieties of home-prepared foodstuffs represented in the canned fruit, vegetable and sausage classes, which were judged by Mrs. Howard McAuley of Flesheron. Adult arts and crafts were judged by A. E. Parrott of Owen Sound. Items entered included work in clay, shell, woods and amateur photography.

There were seven group entries by district women's institutes, which placed as follows: 1. Keward, 2. Massie; 3. Arnott; 4. Golden Valley; 5. Dornoch; 6. Williamsford; 7. Sunny Valley.

Entries in the seed classes were described by the judge, Fred Brown of Owen Sound, as "of average quantity but extra good quality." A feature of special interest to farmers was a display showing the results of a seed drill survey in Ontario.

The major winners in the women's classes were: Baking and dairy products, Mrs. H. E. Brock, Sullivan; fancy work, Mrs. Lola Smith, Owen Sound; arts and crafts, Mrs. S. H. Breese, Chatsworth.

Officials of the Holland Agricultural Society for this year's fair were: James Howey, president; Hugh Mitchell, first vice-president; Frank Gamble, second vice-president; Mrs. C. S. Weeden, secretary-treasurer.

The Old Neighborly Spirit Is Much Alive

(Contributed)

I have heard it said many times that times and people just aren't what they used to be. Nobody cares for anyone but themselves. They say the old spirit of neighborliness is gone with the horse and buggy days. However, anyone who is acquainted with the facts of the incident I am going to mention will know differently.

On the night of August 12, the fine frame barn on the farm owned by Mrs. Joseph Woyce and operated by her son-in-law, Earl Semple, was burned. Things looked pretty bad—all the feed gone and no place for anything. However, the neighbors took them to buy another barn and they would all help to put it up. It took two barns to replace the one burned, as it was a large barn with an adjoining straw shed.

Well, they bought two barns and this is what happened. Their neighbors and friends bismantled these barns, hauled them home with horses and wagons, put them in order for the raising, and on September 9th, just four weeks from the day it was burned, the new barn was raised and a lot of the sides boarded in.

The next week they finished boarding in the sides. They sheathed the roof and put the steel on. They even put the barn doors on!

Now, folks, it looks as if the old spirit still lives and our friends and neighbors are just what we make them.

LAZY DAYS
