Isaiah Teaches Trust in God Isaiah 12:2; 26:1-7; 30:1-2; 15-17 not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song; He also is become my salvation." Isaiah was victorious over her enemies. But when she leaned on Egypt or But when she leaned on Egypt or Assyria for help, she was defeated. There is a saying, "God helps those who help themselves." But a more important truth is, "God helps those who trust in Him." One of the classic statements in Isaiah is, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee; because he trusteth in Thee." It is true for the nation; it is true

Canada is not yet at war; yet how little real peace we possess. Paul wrote, "Don't worry about anything: but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanks-giving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace standing, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."

Fhil. 4:6,7. Soul peace and rest is found only in Jesus Christ. Until we possess it, fears and worries be-set us. The effect is noticeable in our home life, our business life, yes, all of our life. We are fitful and uneasy. John Wesley said, "If you are worrying, you are not trusting." We all need to accept the precious invitation, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I wil give you rest. Take My yoke upon you, and learn of Me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For My yoke is easy, and My burden is light." Matt. 11:28-30. The prophecy of Isaiah is sometimes called the "fifth gospel." Though he lived before Christ, he wonderfully set forth the spirit of Christ. With Christ as our peace, we ought to be able to say with greater re-alization than Isaiah, "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord eJhovah

Lightning Struck Once—Jeweler B. E. Walzel sincerely hopes the old adage that lightning never strikes twice in the same place is true. Because, the place where lightning struck once was Walzel's head. The bolt passed through his body, stripped a watch from his wrist—the shattered parts of which Walzel examines above—and came out his heel. The only injury was a slight burn on the heel.

And, when you come to think it over, there's few questions of more vital importance to our nation. How many young farmers, for example, in your neighborhood are operating the very same farms their fathers did a few years ago? And of these, just how many have stayed on the land-except for time at school or in the armed services-since boyhood days? . . .

During the previous week, the people of the U.S.A. had just become aware that Mr. Stalin and his boys were possessed of the atom bomb-possibly the most devastat-ing bit of news to break in half century or more. Also, there distant a horizon at that—the steel and coal strikes, threatening to tie up the affairs of the entire conwas ever tied.

So here, according to The New York Times, was what occupied the minds of the citizenry at such a brought similar results.

"New England. The attention of New Englanders was occupied this week with television and radio broadcasts of the American League pennant race to the virtual exclusion of all other topics. People appeared almost unanimous in their opinion that if Russia had the atom bomb, there was nothing that they, individually, could do about it. A more immediate, pressing concern was whether Ted Williams, of the Boston Red Sox, would hit any more home runs against the New York Yankees." "The Deep South. One of the most interesting places in the world is Cuzco, the ancient capital of the Empire of the Incas. In the days of the Spanish Conquest of Peru it was the largest city in America. On a hill back of k is a very 'old fortress, a place of refuge for centuries. The northern wall of that fortress is perhaps the most extraordinary structure built by ancient man in the Western Hemisphere. In fact, as an achievement of engineering, it stands without parallel in American antiquity. The smaller blocks in the wall weight ten or twenty tons. Larger blocks are estimated to weigh two hundred tons. A few of the largest weigh three hundred tons! And yet they are fitted accurately together. There are no clamps. There was no cement used in constructing the wall. The gigantic polygonal blocks cling so closely together that it is imposible to insert the point of a knife between them. And they were brought from quarries more than a mile away where they were fashioned by people using stone tools. They he most extraordinary structure

Announcement of New Post Office Welcomed

The citizens of Markdale are pleased with the announcement from Ottawa that a new post office is to be built here. The town needs a modern post office, both to serve the public and for the work of the postmaster, his assistants, and the rural mail carriers.

Shortage in the coming months. But it does seem popular to have a cold these days, and like so many others, we're trying to shake one off. The most practical advice we have had, and the remedy we like the best, is that we go to bed for a while. It's even fun, despite the cold, to think of lying in bed, with nothing to do but bed and listen to the radio, and with meals delivered, perhaps, to the bed-side. Some day we may try it, but not for a cold.

The local post office serves a large Make up your shopping list from area. It has seven rural routes going out from it, as well as handling the town mail. The building in use now has served as a post office for a long time, and as the business increased more space was rented from the owner. T. H. Reburn. A new and modern building for the post office will improve the appearance of the town, and it will add to its growth. W. E. Harris, M.P., who is the parliamentary assistant to the Prime Minister, states that the town officials will be consulted about the construction of the building. With Mr. Harris keeping an eye on the erection of a suitable building for his home town, we can be assured that Postmaster W. J. Plewes will be giving us our mail not too long hence in a commodious new post office.

While the plans for the new building are still in the talked about stage, be prevailed upon to provide a second story which could be used for com-munity gatherings. The government some day may want a second story for a Department of National Revenue office and other purposes. The post office could be built with that thought in mind, and the second-story space used by the community until it is re
