HOW CAN I?

By Anna Ashley
Q. How can I convert one pound of butter into two pounds?
A. Measure out one pint of butter; then add gradually one pint of milk and a small quantity of salt, heating it with the egg-whip until smooth. Place it in a mold and set in a cool place.

Q. How can I prevent plaster from setting so quickly, when patching holes and cracks in the walls?
A. This will not happen if vinegar is used, instead of water, when mixing the patching plaster.

Q. How can I cause the scars from pimples to disappear more quickly?
A. These scars will usually disappear very soon if they are bathed with a solution of boracic acid, followed by an application of zinc ointment.

Q. Can lemon seeds be planted successfully?
A. Yes. Lemon seeds can be planted and treated as house plants. They make pretty shrubs, and the leaves may be used for flavoring. Tie a few leaves in a cloth and put into the apple sauce for a few minutes; it gives a delicious flavor.

Q. How can I remove fur from linen?
A. Cover the rust stain with salt, moisten the salt with lemon juice, then place in the sun. Repeat, if necessary, until the stain disappears.

Q. How can I renew and restore the colors to a rug?
A. Sprinkle some ammonia powder over the rug, dampen the rug, and sweep thoroughly. The rug will look almost new.

Q. How can I clean bronze ornaments?
A. These ornaments should not be washed. Dust carefully, follow by wiping with a cloth moistened in paraffin oil. Polish with a chamel.

Q. How can I keep custard from soaking through the crust of the pie?
A. If the white of an egg is beaten lightly, brushed over the custard before baking, and placed in the oven for a few seconds, the egg white will harden the crust.

Brick-making Made Easy—The "first real improvement in five centuries in the method of laying bricks" is demonstrated by cool Kitty McElynn. The device, invented by engineers Paul H. Sommers and John S. Hodgson, is said to speed bricklaying four times the normal pace. Acceptance by the building industry could mean great savings in construction costs—especially in the building of low-cost homes.

ANNE HIRST
Your Family Counselor

"Dear Anne Hirst: If one fault were cleared up, we would be the happiest couple on earth. I'm 17, and married to a fine young man. He has been extraordinarily good to me, and since he learned we are soon to have a baby, he has been very understanding. But—

"He has no sense of responsibility. He hasn't provided a cent toward the baby's coming. All I get is promises! He is the type who will treat his friends to cocktails when he hasn't five dollars to his name."

"I know of his extravagance when I married him, but I thought the baby would bring him to his senses. Perhaps he is too young to realize what it means."

"I have tried everything from angry protests, to careful pleas. Nothing does any good. I love him dearly, and I would hate to break up a happy marriage because of this. If you can help me, please do."

The Hard Way
"At this time there is nothing more you can do to convince your husband of his responsibility. He will have to learn the hard way."

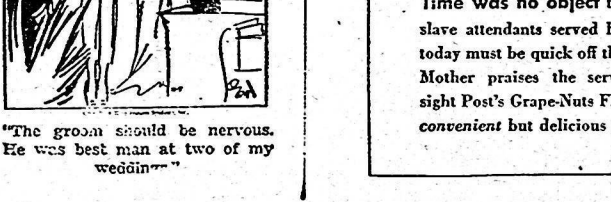

"When the bills come in, they will have to be paid—obviously. That is your husband's business. He will be embarrassed and (I hope) humiliated, but he has not saved his money toward this. He will have to deal himself with the hospital authorities and your physician. He may have to borrow the necessary money, and he will find out how hard it is to live on the reduced income which will result. He will not be able to buy drinks for his friends for quite a while to come, and in other ways he will have to sacrifice the indulgences to which he has accustomed himself. He will not like it, but he has only himself to blame."

"During this trying period he will be hard to live with, and you will have to use all your patience to keep up his spirits. Just when you will need all your energies to care for your baby, this extra burden will be laid upon you. You will take it in your stride, because you love him so."

"Then is the time when he should learn the value of budgeted living. He will see that it is the only way for a family to get along and get ahead—let us both hope. And then your troubles will be over."

"All this anxiety is not good for you. But, as I say, you will take it in your stride."

SALLY'S SALLES
"The grocer should be nervous. He was best man at two of my weddings."

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee
Q. What are the bridegroom's expenses for a wedding?
A. The marriage license, a wedding present for his bride, a personal gift for his best man and each of his wedding, the bride's bouquet, the wedding ring, clergyman's fee, and the expenses of the honeymoon trip. If he desires, the bridegroom may purchase the bouquets for the bridesmaids, but he is not obligated to do so, and these are usually the expense of the bride or her parents.

Q. Is the correct form of introduction, "This is Mr. Smith, Miss Brown," or "Miss Brown, this is Mr. Smith?"
A. The latter form is correct, as the woman's name should always be spoken first.

Q. Does it matter in which direction serving dishes are passed around the dinner table?
A. It is most practical to pass these dishes toward the right, or counter-clockwise.

Upside down to prevent peeking.

FAN TANS are festive!

Recipe
Measure into large bowl, 3/4 c. lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar, stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle slowly with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 min. THEN stir well. Scald 1 c. milk and stir in 1/2 c. granulated sugar, 1/2 c. lukewarm water. Beat in 3 c. once-sifted bread flour, beat well. Beat in 4 tbs. molasses, 1/2 tbs. Work in 3 c. more once-sifted bread flour. Knead until smooth and elastic; place in greased bowl and brush top with melted butter or shortening; set into warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough in bowl, grease top and let rise again until nearly double. Punch down dough and roll out, half at a time, into a rectangle a least 3/4" thick and 18" wide. Cut up in 12" squares and let rest 5 min. Brush with melted butter or shortening; cut into strips 1/4" wide. Pin 7 strips together; cut into 13 1/2" pieces. Place cut-side up in greased muffin pan; separate slices a little at the top. Cover and let rise until frothed in bulk. Bake in hot oven, 400°, 15-20 min.
