to produce growth and eggs. Secondly, there's a limit to the amount of feed a bird can eat and digest in 24 hours. If the ration is stale or poor, your birds cannot eat enough to keep healthy and produce eggs. The result is that either egg production drops or health is impaired. So choose your feed carefully—a hen needs less of a high quality feed. That's why you should always insist on a feed made with NATIONAL quality mix concentrate.
