Practically all these stories tell of meetings of poultrymen, milk pro-ducers, grain growers and so forth, all unanimously agreed on one thing—no matter how much the proposed subsidy is, it isn't nearly nough.

And I don't blame them a bit. "Ask for twice as much as you expect to get" may not be a strictly moral sentiment, but it seems to be fairly practical, the way this cock-ayed world of ours functions these * * *

Every paper I pick up nowadays | so theoretical. I know that a lo of my readers are interested in the possibilities of commercial sun-flower growing; and although this Government advice was addressed specifically to farmers in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, there's no reason why it shouldn't apply just as well to large sections of Ontario.

> Sunflowers-the bulletin saysnave become an important vege-table oil crop in southern Manitoba during the past few years. There has been a remarkable increase not only in the acreage involved but also in the number of growers and the extent of the territory. Many useful practices to aid in the production of the crop have been developed by research workers and by the growers themselves, says W. A. Russell, Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Man.

Due to a shortage of first generation Advance hybrid seed, a considerable acreage will be sown with If a farmer in Ontario wants to grow more wheat he goes ahead and sows it without asking anyone's permission. After all it is his own farm, machinery and labor that are involved.

But across the border from Ontario, in New York State; in a country which prides itself on being the freest in the world, these matters are handled differently. There in the name of a local committee a Washington appointed bursaucrat decides how much wheat and a great many other things the farmer can grow. Various allotments are issued and if exceeded one finds himself without a market.

One owner of a 200-acre farm thought his allotment of 13 acres An application of fertilizer at tion for his land.

The increase in sunflower acreage has been accompanied by an increase in diseases. Sclerotinia root rot has not caused great losses thus far. In Meeting Held Here

By Wesley Magwood
(Secretary, Grey County Federation of Agriculture)

The Grey County Federation of Agriculture, meeting here recently, spent a busy day listening to reports of the Ontario and Canadian Federation annual meetings, and of the many local meetings being held at this time over the serious marketing situation of farm products, and planning a 1950 program. From reports of government action at this time, it was evident that farmers are going to be compelled to organize the marketing of their produce to a much greater extent than ever, or lose all the ground they have gained through organization. All delegates to meetings, both local, provincial, and Dominion, reported that farmers everywhere are keenly interested at this time.
