THE CHILD'S HEALTH

Diphtheria Should be Guarded Against
—Watch For Throat Trouble

The chief thing to remember in dealing with diphtheria is that it is highly contagious. Diphtheria is caused by a specific germ which is propagated in the human body or its excretions. The poison may be communicated directly or indirectly from one person to another.

There are various ways in which it may be transmitted. It may originate in sputum. Air, water, milk, food or clothing may be the medium.

As a rule diphtheria attacks the throat only. It may spread to the mouth and nasal passages.

The earlier symptoms include sore throat, headache, dry hot skin, feverishness, pain, tenderness and swelling at the angle of the jaw. Sometimes, added to this, there are excretions from the nose.

Owing to the fact that it is difficult to distinguish between a mild case of diphtheria and laryngitis, pharyngitis or a severe tonsillitis, it is important to have an early diagnosis and report of the disease. For the same reason it is very wise when your child complains of any of the symptoms mentioned to call in a physician. Early treatment, as well as early recognition of this disease, is all important.

The diphtheria patient should be kept in a room where there is only such furniture as is necessary for his comfort. He should not be allowed to handle books or toys. Those which he handled prior to the time it was determined that he had the disease should be burned.

Only the persons in direct charge of the patient should be permitted in the room. Disinfectants ordered by the physician should be rigidly used.

One final word of warning—the poison of diphtheria may be carried long distances in articles which have been allowed to lay in a room where a patient has been.

STRENGTH OF INSECTS

Prodigious Muscular Development of Tiny Creatures

The insects are provided with muscles of enormous power as compared with men. If a fly be held by the wings it can pick up and carry a match, and this is as if a man were able to pick up a beam 28 feet long by 1 1/2 inches square.

An ordinary little ant can pull eight matches on rollers, which would equal a load of 330 beams the size of a man when its weight is compared with that of a horse.

The flea jumps 200 times its own height, which is about the same as if a man were to jump over the nearly thousand-foot high Eiffel tower.

An oyster opposes being opened by exerting a force of over 30 pounds, and for a man to show the same power he would have to take up 80 large locomotives and bear them Atlas-like upon his shoulders.

From a purely physical point of view man is the weakest of animals. It is only by the use of his mind and the application of the laws of mechanics in the machinery he has invented that he has been able to dominate the world.

Christmas Day Services at St. Paul's

The day commenced with a celebration of Holy Communion at 7 a.m., at which 48 were present. This was followed by another celebration at 8 a.m. at which 52 were present, and another at 11 a.m. when there was a good congregation and the Rector preached from the words "Come unto Me." He said that the influence of Christmas was felt all over the world, in the palaces of Kings and the homes of the humblest labourer that the most callous, the so-called unbeliever, was influenced more or less by the coming of the "Little Babe of Bethlehem." Who could help it? it was this coming, this manifestation of God that brought real love into the world, it is the influence of the event we celebrate today that brings joy even among the existing sadness, that brings peace to the agonized mother or wife as she thought of those who had given their lives for Nation in the war still raging, it is the influence of the Christ that came to Bethlehem that palliates all the suffering on the gory battlefield, Red Cross Ambulance, Nursing Doctors and Ministers of God are there among the suffering ones as an outcome of the Love that came at Christmas. "Peace on earth goodwill among men," was the Angels' song as they announced the Birth of the Saviour and not withstanding all the discord at this moment among the nations, "Peace is present and will come more fully as each one realised more fully what the coming of the Saviour means to the world. "God is calling the world through the present sadness and disorder to a peace which will only come when we as nations and individuals come in deep penitence and humiliation for our many sins to the feet of Him Who became incarnate for our sake."

In the afternoon Evensong was said and there was a good congregation and carols were sung.

The Church was prettily decorated and the Altar a mass of spring flowers. The offertories amounted to $170.00 which amount was handed to the Rector as an evidence of affection and goodwill.

Watch-Night Service

At St. Paul's Church on Friday night at 11.15 there will be a service with short address followed by a celebration of the Holy Communion on the Feast of the Circumcision.

New Year's Day and the Sunday following have by the order of the Bishops of the Church of England to be observed as days of penitence, fasting and prayer. Humiliation for the sins of the nation and individual and prayer for the peace of the world.

On the Sunday after Christmas after the evening service Carols were sung by the Choir. The singing was exceptionally good and the Boys' voices showed evidence of some steady work in preparation. Solo parts were taken by Masters E. Lindey, T. Lindy, A. Lamb, E. Hunton, F. Wherry, R. Armstrong, Dr. J. H. Lowe presided at the Organ.

German prisoners at Fort Henry, near Kingston, refused turkey for Christmas and demanded 400 lbs. of goose,
