The Town Band on Parade

Spring—and the regular throbbing beat of the drums, the clear melody of the cornets, a rolling march, the tramp, tramp of marching feet and we all, from the ragged urchin to the most sedate citizen feel our spirits rise and our feet tingle, while some inner voice urges us to "follow the band."

The small boy who hates to practise his music lesson particularly loves the band. He runs along beside it all over the town and thrills at the mere thought of carrying the big bass drum.

The "tired business man" looks out of his office window when he hears the music, invents an excuse to go to the post office, so that he, too, may follow the band.

His wife at home, hustling, hating everything and wishing she had "kept that good job," runs to the window, watches and listens while the parade passes, and goes back to her work with a smile on her face.

Yes, we all instinctively long to follow the band, and it makes us all forget our troubles and grievances.

"Music the fiercest grief can charm
 And Fate's severest rage disarm."

What is a town without a band? Why be without the greatest refining influence and entertainment known?

Where—is our band? Why haven't we a band which would bring the whole community together at its open-air concerts, put us all in a good mood, make us forget our petty daily cares, let us meet our neighbors and become more interested in their welfare.

Assuredly a band is the best possible method of building a true community spirit.

Tributes in Court to Memory of Mr. Slaght

At the sittings of the Supreme Court here on Monday, the Honorable Mr. Justice Mowat, Mr. W. A. Gordon and Crown Attorney Smiley all paid tribute to the memory of Mr. H. L. Slaght in terms of highest praise. His Lordship spoke as follows:

"Before the business of the court proceeds I think it only proper that I should allude to the passing of a young gentleman of this town who was one of the leaders of the Junior Bar of the Province of Ontario, Mr. Hugh LeRoy Slaght, whom I have known for some years, and who held a high place in the estimation of the Judges, and I speak principally in that regard. You know, of course, and I know, that he had a high place in the community. I do not refer to that so much as to his eminent position at the Bar. I know also of the courage with which he met the different continuing phases of his malady. It was with great regret to me last night when leaving the Union Station at Toronto to come here that I heard of his death. I would like to extend to his relatives, especially the widow, respectful condolences in this sad event. She can look back with feelings that her husband fought a good fight and was highly respected by both the Bar and the Bench.

Mr. Gordon: "As President of the Temiskaming Bar Association, with your permission, I would like to add to what you have said, a few words with respect to the death of Mr. Slaght. He, for many years, in fact since the earliest days of the Cobalt mining camp, has been a resident here, and at all times, in spite of the unfortunate physical condition from which he suffered, took a very keen interest not only in his professional activities but in almost every public effort in this town and in this district. I am sure I reflect the views of the Bar of Temiskaming when I say he was respected not only for himself as a man, but on account of his keen legal intellect and his vigorous and refreshing methods in the conduct of his legal work. On behalf of the Bar I add to what you have said, condolences to his relatives and his immediate family.

Mr. Smiley: "With your Lordship's permission I would like to add a word or two to what has been expressed by your Lordship and by Mr. Gordon, as President of the Bar Association here. I have had the pleasure of an acquaintance with Mr. Slaght for many years as a member of the Bar, and having been associated with him, both in civil cases and in the prosecution of the criminal cases in which I had the honor to act on behalf of the Crown. I desire to add to what has been expressed by your Lordship and Mr. Gordon as to the manner in which the late Mr. Slaght conducted so ably the cases he was engaged in. He was a man of outstanding ability and his industry, and integrity placed him, as your Lordship has stated, in the forefront of the junior members of the Bar for the whole Province of Ontario, and he was in the forefront of the Bar in the District of Temiskaming. He did not confine his abilities to the practice of law alone, but as the president of the Bar Association has stated, he took part in the activities of the municipality in which he resided. As a member of the Public School Board and other public bodies, he gave to them the same conscientious effort as he did to the practice of his profession, and although a man of such eminence, he was also a man of unassuming modesty and devoted to his home. I wish on behalf of the Bar to add my condolences and sympathies to his sorrowing relatives.

Last Housing Loan Has Been Approved

At a meeting of the local Housing Commission held this week, a loan was approved for a new house, which has completely used up the amount voted by the Provincial Government following the fire in 1922. The original amount was $300,000, which was provided to be lent to those who wished to rebuild their homes, and in some cases to newcomers, and has been expended with the best judgment of the local commission. The loans in individual cases have run from $1,000 up to $3,000 and in some cases slightly above that amount, so it will be seen that well over one hundred new houses have been built on this plan.

The loans are spread over a period of 20 years at 5 per cent. interest, thus providing money at reasonable rates for those who were not in a position to build and furnish a new home from their own funds. That the scheme has proved a great help in the rebuilding of Haileybury goes without saying, as in the great majority of cases, loans could not have been secured without paying a great deal higher rate of interest, and in some cases not at all.

It was thought at one time that, when the amount allotted

TAKE NOTICE

That the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board have appointed 11 a.m., June 24th, 1926, at the Court House, Haileybury, Ont., as the hour, day and place of meeting to deal with the application of the Township of Bucke for the annexation of the unorganized Townships of Lorrain and South Lorrain to the organized Municipality of the Township of Bucke, under Section 18, sub-section 1, of the Consolidated Municipal Act of Ontario.

All parties, including Lorrain, South Lorrain, Coleman, and Bucke Townships are required to send and have duly appointed representatives thereat.

was expended, it might be possible to secure from the government an additional loan in order that the work of building might be further encouraged. It has been found impossible to do this, so that the activities of the Housing Commission in Haileybury are at an end so far as the building is concerned. The people who have taken advantage of the loans will go on making their monthly payments until the entire amount is repaid, unless circumstances arise in some cases when the loans may be paid off sooner. This is provided for in the agreements and may be taken advantage of at any time.

It may be just as much to the advantage of Haileybury that the housing loans are exhausted. There appears to be almost as many houses now as there are tenants for, and while there are practically no houses vacant, the majority of people are fairly well provided for. In any event, the facilities afforded by the scheme have proved of great value in the rebuilding.

Town Mourns Passing of Late H. L. Slaght

 The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from the family home on Brewster Street, and was under the auspices of the Haileybury Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of which the deceased was a member. Funeral services were conducted in St. Paul's Church, by Rev. Canon Hincks and interment was made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Over sixty members of the Masonic Lodge met in the Temple and marched to the home and from there to the church. At the graveside the Masonic burial service was read by R. W. Bro. N. J. McAulay, and all the brethren paid their last tribute to the departed brother. The parade was in charge of R. W. Bro. C. W. Haentschel. Flags were flown at half-mast.

during Sunday and Monday, the classes were suspended in the public school during the afternoon of the funeral and all possible respect shown for the death of one of the leading citizens of the town. A great gathering of townspeople attended the funeral services in the church and many were present at the cemetery as well. A great profusion of floral tributes testified to the general esteem and respect that was always held for Mr. Slaght during his long residence here.

FREDERICK ELLIOT, Solicitor

A Community Asset

The need for the home town band, far from diminishing with the advent and rapid popularization of the victrola and the radio, is greater today than ever before, and is increasing with every generation.

More and more forcibly are we being brought to realize that nothing can take the place of the band at community gatherings of every kind.

The strains of the Band's lively marches are heard throughout the town and all the citizens are drawn, more or less instinctively, to the centre of activity. The bright, lively music pleases and holds the audience, however large it may be, and does much to make the event a success.

No well-informed person will deny the drawing power of good band music. Have you not seen crowds of people gathered on a Saturday evening in the main section of a town, listening to the local band concert?

And business men know how profitable such concerts are! They know by the material increase in their business. For instead of going in their cars to a nearby city, the citizens gather to listen to the band, their spirits are pleasurable aroused, they spend their money in their own town and go home thinking that it isn't "such a bad place after all."

The town band has an almost universal appeal for everyone, everywhere, regardless of age, sex, wealth, time or place. Whether it be summer or winter, day or night, indoors or outdoors, when listening to the band one's spirits are quickened and civic pride, so necessary to the town's well-being and progress, is fostered.

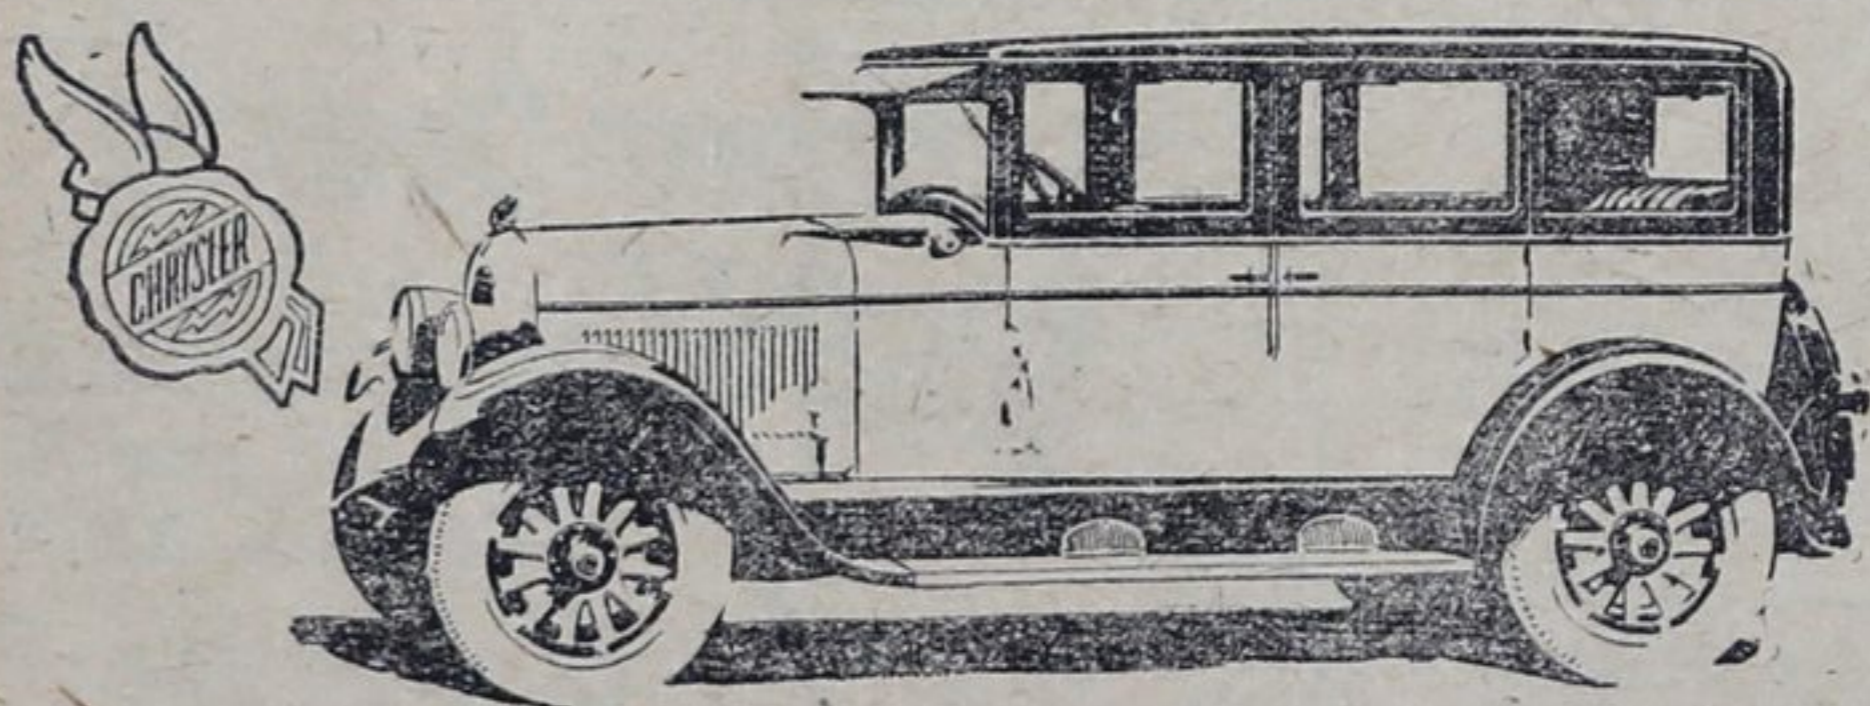

Why not boost for this great community asset and build it as a permanent institution of the town?
