

NOTES of the NORTH

In reporting the call of the aeroplane attempting the flight from Rockford, Ill., to Stockholm, Sweden, the Cochrane Post says: "The sight of the plane over the town was a signal for a trek of most of the population to the landing field to greet the fliers. Unfortunately some miscalculation had been made in expecting the arrival to be an hour later, but an endless string of cars arrived from town soon after the arrival of the plane at the field. The Mayor and Council, officials and members of the Board of Trade and the Town Band were on hand for the official welcome and were wholeheartedly supported by the townspeople."

Friends in Timmins and district were delighted on Tuesday at the word reaching here that Andy Taylor, lost in the bush north of The Pas, Man., had been found alive and in good condition after 42 days of an experience such as few men would survive. A wire reached this office from The Pas Herald, The Pas, confirming the story of the finding of Mr. Taylor and saying that he had arrived safely in The Pas.—Porcupine Advance.

Black flies and mosquitoes have placed the first limit which has ever been recorded upon the endurance of the hardy prospectors of Ontario's rugged North. With these pests present in the North Country this year in numbers hitherto unequalled, prospectors were forced to admit themselves beaten, and only recently commenced to venture again into the wilderness. Hence no important discoveries of minerals have been recorded in Ontario so far this summer, a fact which constitutes a record in the history of the province's mining industry.—Timmins Citizen.

Spreading through the Township on Wednesday afternoon like wildfire came the news of a spectacular gold discovery on the Trout Creek Gold Mining claims which are located alongside the Ferguson Highway between Kirkland Lake and Swastika. Old timers in the camp who have had the opportunity of seeing the samples taken from the property state that they are the richest the Township has yet produced.

The honor of the discovery goes to Mr. T. Tennant.—Kirkland Lake Northern News.

We understand that through the efforts of Geo. J. White and J. C. Page, Jack Yohn the winner of last year's marathon race from Haileybury to Liskeard Beach, and who represented Liskeard in the marathon swimming race at the Canadian National Exhibition, has been taken under the wing of Teddy Oke, the well-known Toronto sportsman, and who, by the way, is a former New Liskeard resident. Yohn will be taken into the George Young camp at Toronto.—New Liskeard Speaker.

Twice within as many weeks the people of Cobalt and its immediate vicinity have given active demonstration, not only of their willingness but also of their financial ability to support any movement for the good of the community. Last week the citizens responded to the call of the men of the Anglican Church and enabled them to put across a fair in the skating rink which has netted $500 for the special church purpose in hand. And this was done despite the fact that only the previous week they had assisted the Kiwanians in putting over a carnival which netted approximately $1000 for their social service.

We wonder how those people who persist in fostering the blue ruin cry of "The town is dying," explain these splendidly united efforts.—Northern News.

The Quebec Government announces the construction this year of an automobile road into the Cadillac-Malartic area from Amos. A road is partly in existence now, only about 25 miles needing to be built.

All the leading properties in this new gold field have been connected up to Amos by telephone, which is proving a great time saver to managers and visitors. Amos, however, has no connection with the outside world, and it is hoped that presently the long distance wires will be connected up through Rouyn.—Northern Miner.

Oddfellows Pay Honor to Deceased Brethren

The annual Decoration Services, held on Sunday afternoon by the members of Haileybury and Cobalt Lodges of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, brought out about thirty members of the Order, who assembled in the Temple here and marched to the old Haileybury Cemetery, where the two Lodges maintain a special plot. A great profusion of flowers contributed by the members was used for the decoration of the graves of deceased brethren and there were a number of townspeople who attended for the ceremonies.

On arrival at the cemetery the procession divided and surrounded the plot and the ritualistic ceremonies, prescribed by the Order, were performed by Bro. Geo. Fraser, P.G., of Cobalt Lodge and Bro. Geo. Poppleton, of Haileybury Lodge. Two beautiful wreaths were placed at the foot of the memorial and the brethren visited each separate grave and left a floral tribute in memory of those who have gone. The ceremony included the singing of a number of hymns and a period of silence in memory of those who died overseas, and concluded with a prayer and benediction by Bro. Geo. Poppleton, acting as chaplain.

In the new Mount Pleasant Cemetery there were also a number of graves of deceased Oddfellows and there these were each visited in turn and flowers placed at the base of the stones. There was no ceremony at this cemetery, the brethren dispersing following the decorating.

Each year at about this season the Oddfellows set aside a day to honor the memory of those who are gone. The practice is almost as old as the Order itself, over one hundred years, and each year sees its recurrence in every community where there is a lodge. The Cobalt and Haileybury Lodges are joint owners of the plot in the old Haileybury

Cemetery, where some of the brethren who have passed away far from their own homes are interred. Among the teachings of the great Independent Order of Oddfellows is the command to "visit the sick, comfort the afflicted, bury the dead and educate the orphan", and this is carried out to the best of the ability of the brethren whenever the need arises. The honoring of the memory of departed brothers is also a command and the Decoration Services are conscientiously carried out by all lodges.

Pacific Graveyard Claims Another

The freighter "Asiatic Prince," out of New York for Yokahama, and overdue since April 2, has been given up for lost by maritime experts. So far not a trace has been discovered of the vessel or her crew. She is the latest of a long list of freighters to find a last resting place in the "graveyard of the Pacific."
